Ike Stands Pat On Directive

D. C. Moves May Set Course For School Segregation End

President To Be Kept Informed Of Steps Taken

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked for progress reports on coming moves to end public school segregation in the District of Columbia. Officials said the capital's school system may be made a sort of pilot model to help guide the states in the historic switchover.

Many Southern leaders are up in arms against the Supreme Court's ruling that it is unconstitutional to educate white and Negro children in separate public schools. Some have come close to open defiance of the decision.

Eisenhower talked at the White House with the Board of Commissioners for the District of Columbia. Afterward Samuel Spencer, president of the board, reported the President asked to be kept in touch with the progress made toward an integrated system here, where Negro pupils outnumber the white in public schools.

Ruling Is Challenged

Presidential aides noted that Eisenhower is on record as favoring an end to segregation in Washington. He feels, they say, that if successful plans are made for an integrated system in the District it might serve to smooth the way for the changeover elsewhere.

Farther south, in Georgia particularly, the court's ruling was repeatedly challenged.

Georgia's attorney general, Eugene Cook, charged the court with usurping legislative power and said he would refuse to participate in this fall's hearings on how the anti-segregation policy will be applied.

The Supreme Court still has to decide on the mechanics for making its decision effective and has called for arguments on the question. This legal debate may last for months.

M. D. Collins, superintendent of Georgia's public schools, predicted it will be half a century before segregation is ended in his state—"if then".

Talmadge Calls Huddle

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia denounced the ruling and called a meeting of a State Commission for May 25 to devise legal means of sidestepping it.

In a speech to the House, Rep. Forrester (D-Ga) asserted the court made a "completely political" decision which "wiped out every vestige of state rights."

It means "The old fashioned Yankee and the old fashioned Southerner, whose ancestors won this country . . . are completely without rights," he said.

Forrester also contended the decision means that laws against mixed marriages can now be annuled. He said the ruling points to "nothing less than mongrelizing of the races".

Appeals Court Upsets Jelke Vice Conviction

WROTE DECISION — Justice Earle Bastow (above) said yesterday that he wrote the New York Court of Appeals decision ordering a new trial and reversing the conviction of Minor F. Jelke on a compulsory prostitution charge. (AP Wirephoto)

Decision Bulwark For Newspapers

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke's vice conviction was upset today in one of New York's most far-reaching decisions of the century bearing on freedom of the press. A new trial was ordered.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court in a 3-2 decision flatly rebuked trial Judge Francis L. Valente for barring press and public during the state's case against the 24-year-old oleomargarine heir. His action was termed "unorthodox . . . unwarranted."

Jelke Denied "Fair Trial"

"We conceive it to be no part of the work of the judiciary," the appeals court said, "upon the facts here presented to decide what a newspaper prints or to what portion of the people it caters to sell its papers."

The court added that Valente's ban denied Jelke a "fair and impartial trial." It did not rule directly on the issue of press freedom. But its decision was a strong, new bulwark for the state's newspapers.

The majority opinion said, in effect, that the jury justly convicted Jelke of cafe society pandering but that Valente bungled the case. The ruling was on a question of law, rather than fact.

Jelke was sentenced March 27, 1953, to three to six years in prison as a cafe society procurer of young women who peddled their charms for as much as $500 a night.

Trial Was Sensational

He had been convicted one month earlier on a charge of compulsory prostitution after one of the most sensational trials New York had seen in years.

He also was sentenced to eight months in the city's workhouse on charges of illegal possession of guns. He was freed last Oct. 6.

He has been free on bail pending his appeal of the vice case.

Valente, 49-year-old General Sessions Court judge since 1944 and a nephew of a State Supreme Court justice, said of the appeals court decision:

"I have no comment. I haven't read it. I even doubt that after I read it I'll have anything to say. The stand I took speaks for itself."

18 More French Wounded Flown From Fortress

HANOI, Indochina, May 18 (AP)—A French high command spokesman said tonight a lone helicopter had shuttled 18 more seriously wounded French soldiers from Dien Bien Phu to Luang Prabang, Laos' royal capital. Earlier French planes resumed their heavy bombing of key routes from the fallen fortress.

Reds Say Prisoners Killed

(In Geneva, Hoang Van Hoan, Vietminh ambassador to Red China, said French bombers had killed 15 French prisoners in strikes last night along provincial Route 41, main route east from Dien Bien Phu. Hoang blamed the French for breakdown of plans to evacuate the wounded.)

There was no indication whether removal of the 18 casualties signaled a resumption of the earlier plan agreed to by Vietminh for release of 450 wounded from Dien Bien Phu. Only 29 have been removed thus far including the 18. The number of French Union wounded at the fortress has been estimated at between 1,300 and 2,000.

Red Truck Convoys Smashed

As the French resumed their air strikes the high command spokesman said Vietminh units moving east from Dien Bien Phu were only about 50 miles from the southwestern rim of the Red River delta's defenses.

The spokesman said the planes had bombed, strafed, and destroyed rebel truck convoys around Mocchau, on Provincial Route 41 about 65 miles southeast of Son La and 50 miles west of Hoa Binh.

Indochina Peace Negotiators Fail To End Deadlock

GENEVA, May 18 (AP)—East and West wrangled in secret for another three hours today but failed to break the deadlock in their negotiations for peace in Indochina.

An official screen of secrecy covered the talks, but a conference source said no progress on the major issues separating Western and Communist viewpoints had been made.

The dispute inside the conference room spread outside where French and Vietminh spokesmen, in separate news conferences, voiced recriminations about the breakdown of the arrangement for evacuating wounded from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Agree To Meet Again

The nine delegations engaged in the difficult negotiations — the Big Four, Red China, the three Associated States of Indochina and the Vietminh — agreed to meet again tomorrow in secret. But the protracted bargaining gave little promise tonight of peace in Indochina.

One reliable source with access to the viewpoints of all delegations said not the slightest progress had been made in reaching a settlement. Another Western informant close to the negotiations said the West was faced with "complete intransigence" on the part of the Communists.

French Proposal Debated

The delegates have before them armistice proposals of the Vietminh, Vietnam and France. Most of today's debate centered on the French proposal that Vietminh forces in Laos and Cambodia withdraw from the two states as a condition of any cease-fire agreement.

The Communists insist that the Vietminh troops were invited to Laos and Cambodia by "resistance governments" in these countries to "help in the struggle against imperialism."

House Committee Backs Extended Social Security

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee decided tentatively today to extend social security coverage to more than half a million domestic workers, ministers and federal employes who are now excluded.

This was the first congressional action on President Eisenhower's far-reaching proposals to expand coverage and boost social security benefits and taxes.

The committee, taking up the bill by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) section-by-section, is expected to approve the program pretty much as urged by Eisenhower, although many features are controversial.

The committee deferred action on the President's plan to extend coverage to about 3,600,000 farm operators and 2,200,000 farm laborers. A spokesman said the administration was to supply more information.

The committee didn't reach sections which would bring social security tax and benefit coverage also to about half a million doctors, lawyers and other professional people, and 3½ million state and local government employees — although it is generally expected to approve them, too.

Crazed Ex-Soldier Shoots Three, Self

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—A crazed former soldier, gunning for fancied enemies, shot three men in London's East End today, one fatally. Then he killed himself as police closed in on a taxicab in which he tried to make a getaway.

One victim, William Gibbons, a workman, died in a hospital several hours after the shootings.

The gun wielder, a former Irish guardsman identified as Nathan Goldberg, 27, plunged into the taxi in a crowded theater district in an attempt to escape from a trained dog loosed by pursuing police.

The police commandeered another cab. When they closed in, Goldberg shot himself through the head.

Giant Plastic Balloon Sets Altitude Record Of 22 Miles

MINNEAPOLIS, May 18 (AP)—A giant plastic balloon, nearly as tall as an 18-story office building, soared more than 22 miles into the sky today—higher than ever before for a balloon of its type.

The "super skyhook," which stretched to about the length of a football field before its inflation, bore a cargo of scientific instruments to study mysteries of the upper atmosphere.

The balloon was made for the Office of Naval Research by General Mills, Inc., and was the largest of some 1,200 plastic balloons which have been launched since 1947.

The "super skyhook" was made of transparent polyethylene film, about half the thickness of a human hair. Stretched flat, it would have covered three acres. Fully inflated it was 200 feet in diameter.

The previous altitude record for a plastic balloon was 111,000 feet, a little more than 21 miles, set two years ago by a smaller balloon, officials said. Shortly before 2 p.m. the balloon was at 117,000 feet over Kenyon, Minn.

The big bag of helium was set free at 4:51 a.m. (CST) from the University of Minnesota Airport and remained within a radius of about 80 miles of Minneapolis. At about 3 p.m.., several hours earlier than had been previously announced, an automatic device released the 50-pound "pay load" of instruments and ripped the balloon to drift to earth near Faribault, Minn.

The balloon reached a final altitude of between 117,000 and 122,000 feet. The exact height will not be known until the instruments are studied. Radio signals which varied with the changing atmosphere gave ground observers altitude information.

The instruments were attached to a 30-foot, green parachute. Observers in a truck and a small airplane, at low altitude, followed the balloon to pick up its cargo.

Russia Returns Eight Small U. S. Naval Craft

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 18 (AP)—Eight small U. S. naval craft lendleased to the Soviet Union in World War II were returned to American authorities in the Marmara Sea today.

The United States demanded in 1951 that 186 naval craft be returned by Russia. Arrangements were made for 38 to be returned here in groups during this month and June. They include 12 motor torpedo boats and 26 sub chasers.

The eight craft turned over to a naval group headed by Adm. Francis M. Hughes were in the vanguard of the 38 dispatched from the Black Sea to the Bosporus Strait for transfer.

Fire Roars Through Oil Refinery

Army Secretary Hears Ike Voice Faith In Military

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower today reaffirmed his faith in the nation's armed forces with the declaration that "we are still confident" in them "from their secretaries and their high commanders on down to the last private in the ranks."

With Secretary of the Army Stevens seated behind him, the President made no reference to the Army - McCarthy hearings in a brief, informal address to a police-estimated crowd of 30,000 in Charlotte's Freedom Park. But the reference to the civilian chiefs in Stevens' presence seemed to indicate the President's continued faith in his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Declaration Anniversary

Eisenhower, accompanied by Stevens on his flight from Washington, came here to help Mecklenburg (Charlotte) County commemorate the 179th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

Referring to the Mecklenburg Declaration, the President said that if "the story book record of that particular moment in history 179 years ago has been disputed by some . . . I believe that is not important. The important thing is that here, this great segment of America wants to be known as originators of our historical documents of freedom.

"True Value" Of Meeting

He declared that if such a meeting as Charlotte's Freedom Day rally "should occur in the Soviet countries, it would be there to hear a doctrine propounded by the rulers. It would come there by orders sent out by the dictator; it would cheer when told to cheer and leave when told to leave, and go exactly to where its members were told to go. Here we do not do that. And so we have the true value of a meeting, fully expressed, because people are here because they want to be."

$500,000 Refinery Fire Under Control

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Calif., May 18 (AP)—A $500,000 fire at the Rothschild Oil Co. refinery was brought under control today after firemen fought the stubborn blaze more than three hours.

Fred Buell, a refinery employe, suffered flash burns from one of a series of explosions. Fire Capt. Tom Showers was injured by hot oil. At nearby Metropolitan State Hospital officials said six persons were treated for minor burns.

Thousands of barrels of 95 octane gasoline were consumed, eight or nine 1,000-barrel tanks were destroyed, and a testing laboratory, refinery office and pumping station were wrecked.

Red Plane Over Seoul

SEOUL, Wednesday, May 19 (AP)—A Communist plane flew over Seoul yesterday while Defense Secretary Wilson 65 miles away was listening to President Syngman Rhee call for more U.S. air aid for South Korea.

The plane, which may have timed its visit with that of Wilson's, flew high and out of sight. Fifth Air Force jets scrambled into the air but were unable to intercept it.

$100 Greenbacks Sold For Nickel

SEATTLE, May 18 (AP)—One-hundred dollar bills sold for a nickel apiece on Seattle's "skidroad" yesterday.

Nels Olson, who found the greenbacks, and cigar store owner JJulius Scotch, who bought five of them for a quarter, didn't know they were the real thing. A bank and federal agents quickly set them straight, however, after another purchaser checked up on his bargain.

Olson told authorities he found the bills, 11 of them, in a suitcase in a garbage can. Olson thought they were "stage money" and so did Scotch, who finally was persuaded to buy five of them. The other six went for prices ranging up to 10 cents.

Flash Flood Hits New Mexico City

ROSWELL, N. M., May 18 (AP)—Damage estimated at more than a million dollars resulted today from a flash flood which turned normally dry arroyos into raging streams and damaged 200 homes in this southeastern New Mexico city.

A Red Cross emergency committee, meeting with city and National Guard officials, said 400 persons were evacuated from their homes. Rising waters forced some persons to take refuge on roofs.

Earlier, officials said from 750 to 1,000 had fled from their homes as flood waters rose.

Some houses were severely damaged and one was washed away, burning as it floated. Two homes collapsed. No one was injured. Four cars were washed downstream.

The flooded area covered a four-mile square section of the city with two to three feet of water.

Party-Backed Candidates Take Lead In Pa. Primary

PHILADELPHIA, May 18 (AP)—Organization-backed candidates rolled to an early lead in Pennsylvania's primary election tonight with the Republican slate showing a comfortable margin and the Democratic party choice running into some difficulty.

A strong fight developed in the struggle for the GOP Internal Affairs Cabinet post nomination. In that battle, Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon, organization picked candidate, was a 4-3 leader over incumbent William S. Livengood Jr., of Somerset who decided to run again without party backing.

In the gubernatorial nomination race on the GOP side of the picture Lloyd H. Wood, present lieutenant governor from Montgomery County, showed a near run away vote of 16,877-2,796 for Thomas E. Stephenson and 1,228 for Gordon F. Chamberlin with 3,809 of the state's 8,589 precincts reported.

In the Democratic gubernatorial nomination race, the party candidate, State Sen. William S. Leader, was being given competition by William D. McClelland of Pittsburgh, 7,123-4,472 with 4,956 precincts reported.

Charles J. Schmitt, of Erie, was a poor third in the Democratic gubernatorial race with 92 votes.

In the GOP voting for secretary of internal affairs, Mrs. Dixon had 4,411 votes to 3,298 for Livengood from 2,251 precincts.

Frank F. Truscott of Philadelphia, GOP slatemakers' choice for lieutenant governor showed 6,525 votes to 1,588 for William R. McMillen of Indiana, with 2,251 precincts in.

In the race for three state Superior Court posts, the GOP slate was running well ahead. With 3,586 precincts reported Ralph T. Bell, of Pittsburgh, had a total of 16,749, with Robert E. Woodside a close second at 15,488 and their ticket mate—George W. Griffith, of Ebensburg, standing at 14,360.

Woodside, a Superior Court incumbent, also was listed on the Democratic primary ballots, along with F. Clair Ross, Harrisburg, and Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg.

Sea-Air Battle Continues

TAIPEH, Formosa, Wednesday, May 19 (AP)—Nationalists and Chinese Reds slugged it out south of Shanghai yesterday by sea and air for the third straight day. Air force headquarters claimed one-Red 1,500 ton warship was sunk and one of 800 tons probably sunk.

Public Housing Program Backed By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee voted today to rescue the public housing program which the House sought to kill.

The committee's action, if approved by the Senate and the House, would more than meet President Eisenhower's request for authority to build 35,000 units of low-cost housing each year for the next four years. The number to be built each year would be left to the President. The House had rejected the request.

Profit Curbs Sought

The committee, starting work on a general housing bill, decided also to try to rule out "windfall profits" for builders of projects financed with FHA-insured loans. Disclosure that such profits had been made in the immediate post-war years rocked the Federal Housing Administration and brought on a two-pronged congressional investigation last month.

Efforts to eliminate another "scandal loophole" were put off until tomorrow. That involves the alleged fleecing of home owners under the FHA home repair program.

Votes To Revive Program

The committee voted 12-3 to revive the 810,000-unit public housing program which Congress decided in 1949 should be built over a period of years. Although that law has never been changed, its operation has been restricted by language written into appropriations bills in 1952 and 1953. Under them, the program will automatically come to a halt within another year.

The Senate committee action would have the effect of wiping out the later restrictions and restoring the program to its original form.

Chances Slim Probe Order Will Be Eased

Mundt Sticks To His Statement Hearings Not Necessarily Over

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The White House stood pat for the time being today on a presidential order that left the McCarthy-Army hearings dangling somewhere between temporary and permanent eclipse.

The order instructed high administration officials not to talk to Senate investigators about their discussions of the blazing controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top men in the Army.

The White House made it rather clear there are slim chances, if any, that President Eisenhower will alter the instructions.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that "The President issued his letter yesterday—period."

That seemed to be another way of saying that Eisenhower wasn't retreating an inch from his contention that any senatorial inquiry into conferences within the administration on the big controversy goes against the fundamental constitutional principle of separation of powers.

Conference Put Off

Under instructions from the Senate Investigations subcommittee, Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) set up a conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell to explore the possibility of getting the presidential order modified. But this was put off for a while. Mundt said Brownell wanted more time to study hearing transcripts.

Mundt did huddle with members of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Nothing definite came of that, although the senator said he is sticking by a statement that the hearings, now in recess until Monday, are not necessarily at an end.

What the subcommittee is trying to find out is who lied and who told the truth in an exchange of conflicting charges between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and some of their lieutenants.

"Roadblock," McCarthy Says

The Army charge is that McCarthy and two of the subcommittee staff, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, turned on improper pressure to try to win special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine. Schine was an unpaid consultant to the subcommittee before he was drafted last fall. McCarthy normally is chairman of the subcommittee but turned the gavel over to Mundt during the course of the hearings.

The charge from the other side is that Stevens and Army Counselor John Adams used Schine as a hostage and tried to blackmail McCarthy into halting a hunt for alleged Communists and Communist coddlers in the Army.

Garsson Petition Asks 18½ Million

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Henry and Murray Garsson, munitions makers who went to prison for bribery in a World War II contract scandal, are now asking the government for more than 18½ million dollars.

They say, in a petition filed with the U.S. Court of Claims, they should be paid "the reasonable value" of what they contend was the government's use of methods and processes they developed for war materials.

The Garsson brothers, of New York, along with Rep. Andrew Jackson May (D-Ky), were sentenced in 1949 to 8 to 24 months in prison. The brothers were convicted of giving May $53,634 in bribes to use his influence as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee to help them get war contracts. May was released in 1950 and the Garssons in 1951.

The petition filed with the Court of Claims said the government, through use Garsson developments saved more than 500 million dollars between 1942 and 1952. Their petition was filed April 16 and the government has been given until July 15 to reply to the petition or file motions in connection with it.

Big Steel Studies Union's Demands

PITTSBURGH, May 18 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers spelled out 1954 contract demands today for U.S. Steel Corp. in a brief meeting marking the opening of negotiations with the basic steel industry.

Vice President John A. Stephens, who is heading the corporation's negotiating team, said his firm will study the demands before a second meeting with the union tomorrow at 10 a.m.

David J. McDonald, president of the union which is seeking new contracts for 600,000 workers in the basic steel industry, said:

"We have met with the company and presented the issues. I have nothing more to say at this time."

Neither the union nor the company would comment on the demands presented except to say they are the same as those approved by the union's powerful 170-member Wage Policy Committee.

The committee approved a four point program which included demands for higher wages, a guaranteed annual wage, improvements in the pension and hospitalization program and other changes. The contracts expire June 30.

The "super skyhook" was made of transparent polyethylene film, about half the thickness of a human hair. Stretched flat, it would have covered three acres. Fully inflated it was 200 feet in diameter.

The previous altitude record for a plastic balloon was 111,000 feet, a little more than 21 miles, set two years ago by a smaller balloon, officials said. Shortly before 2 p.m. the balloon was at 117,000 feet over Kenyon, Minn.

The big bag of helium was set free at 4:51 a.m. (CST) from the University of Minnesota Airport and remained within a radius of about 80 miles of Minneapolis. At about 3 p.m.., several hours earlier than had been previously announced, an automatic device released the 50-pound "pay load" of instruments and ripped the balloon to drift to earth near Faribault, Minn.

The balloon reached a final altitude of between 117,000 and 122,000 feet. The exact height will not be known until the instruments are studied. Radio signals which varied with the changing atmosphere gave ground observers altitude information.

The instruments were attached to a 30-foot, green parachute. Observers in a truck and a small airplane, at low altitude, followed the balloon to pick up its cargo.

Crazed Ex-Soldier Shoots Three, Self

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—A crazed former soldier, gunning for fancied enemies, shot three men in London's East End today, one fatally. Then he killed himself as police closed in on a taxicab in which he tried to make a getaway.

One victim, William Gibbons, a workman, died in a hospital several hours after the shootings.

The gun wielder, a former Irish guardsman identified as Nathan Goldberg, 27, plunged into the taxi in a crowded theater district in an attempt to escape from a trained dog loosed by pursuing police.

The police commandeered another cab. When they closed in, Goldberg shot himself through the head.

Indochina Peace Negotiators Fail To End Deadlock

GENEVA, May 18 (AP)—East and West wrangled in secret for another three hours today but failed to break the deadlock in their negotiations for peace in Indochina.

An official screen of secrecy covered the talks, but a conference source said no progress on the major issues separating Western and Communist viewpoints had been made.

The dispute inside the conference room spread outside where French and Vietminh spokesmen, in separate news conferences, voiced recriminations about the breakdown of the arrangement for evacuating wounded from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Agree To Meet Again

The nine delegations engaged in the difficult negotiations — the Big Four, Red China, the three Associated States of Indochina and the Vietminh — agreed to meet again tomorrow in secret. But the protracted bargaining gave little promise tonight of peace in Indochina.

One reliable source with access to the viewpoints of all delegations said not the slightest progress had been made in reaching a settlement. Another Western informant close to the negotiations said the West was faced with "complete intransigence" on the part of the Communists.

French Proposal Debated

The delegates have before them armistice proposals of the Vietminh, Vietnam and France. Most of today's debate centered on the French proposal that Vietminh forces in Laos and Cambodia withdraw from the two states as a condition of any cease-fire agreement.

The Communists insist that the Vietminh troops were invited to Laos and Cambodia by "resistance governments" in these countries to "help in the struggle against imperialism."

House Committee Backs Extended Social Security

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee decided tentatively today to extend social security coverage to more than half a million domestic workers, ministers and federal employes who are now excluded.

This was the first congressional action on President Eisenhower's far-reaching proposals to expand coverage and boost social security benefits and taxes.

The committee, taking up the bill by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) section-by-section, is expected to approve the program pretty much as urged by Eisenhower, although many features are controversial.

The committee deferred action on the President's plan to extend coverage to about 3,600,000 farm operators and 2,200,000 farm laborers. A spokesman said the administration was to supply more information.

The committee didn't reach sections which would bring social security tax and benefit coverage also to about half a million doctors, lawyers and other professional people, and 3½ million state and local government employees — although it is generally expected to approve them, too.

Russia Returns Eight Small U. S. Naval Craft

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 18 (AP)—Eight small U. S. naval craft lendleased to the Soviet Union in World War II were returned to American authorities in the Marmara Sea today.

The United States demanded in 1951 that 186 naval craft be returned by Russia. Arrangements were made for 38 to be returned here in groups during this month and June. They include 12 motor torpedo boats and 26 sub chasers.

The eight craft turned over to a naval group headed by Adm. Francis M. Hughes were in the vanguard of the 38 dispatched from the Black Sea to the Bosporus Strait for transfer.

Fire Roars Through Oil Refinery

Army Secretary Hears Ike Voice Faith In Military

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower today reaffirmed his faith in the nation's armed forces with the declaration that "we are still confident" in them "from their secretaries and their high commanders on down to the last private in the ranks."

With Secretary of the Army Stevens seated behind him, the President made no reference to the Army - McCarthy hearings in a brief, informal address to a police-estimated crowd of 30,000 in Charlotte's Freedom Park. But the reference to the civilian chiefs in Stevens' presence seemed to indicate the President's continued faith in his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Declaration Anniversary

Eisenhower, accompanied by Stevens on his flight from Washington, came here to help Mecklenburg (Charlotte) County commemorate the 179th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

Referring to the Mecklenburg Declaration, the President said that if "the story book record of that particular moment in history 179 years ago has been disputed by some . . . I believe that is not important. The important thing is that here, this great segment of America wants to be known as originators of our historical documents of freedom.

"True Value" Of Meeting

He declared that if such a meeting as Charlotte's Freedom Day rally "should occur in the Soviet countries, it would be there to hear a doctrine propounded by the rulers. It would come there by orders sent out by the dictator; it would cheer when told to cheer and leave when told to leave, and go exactly to where its members were told to go. Here we do not do that. And so we have the true value of a meeting, fully expressed, because people are here because they want to be."

$500,000 Refinery Fire Under Control

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Calif., May 18 (AP)—A $500,000 fire at the Rothschild Oil Co. refinery was brought under control today after firemen fought the stubborn blaze more than three hours.

Fred Buell, a refinery employe, suffered flash burns from one of a series of explosions. Fire Capt. Tom Showers was injured by hot oil. At nearby Metropolitan State Hospital officials said six persons were treated for minor burns.

Thousands of barrels of 95 octane gasoline were consumed, eight or nine 1,000-barrel tanks were destroyed, and a testing laboratory, refinery office and pumping station were wrecked.

Red Plane Over Seoul

SEOUL, Wednesday, May 19 (AP)—A Communist plane flew over Seoul yesterday while Defense Secretary Wilson 65 miles away was listening to President Syngman Rhee call for more U.S. air aid for South Korea.

The plane, which may have timed its visit with that of Wilson's, flew high and out of sight. Fifth Air Force jets scrambled into the air but were unable to intercept it.

$100 Greenbacks Sold For Nickel

SEATTLE, May 18 (AP)—One-hundred dollar bills sold for a nickel apiece on Seattle's "skidroad" yesterday.

Nels Olson, who found the greenbacks, and cigar store owner JJulius Scotch, who bought five of them for a quarter, didn't know they were the real thing. A bank and federal agents quickly set them straight, however, after another purchaser checked up on his bargain.

Olson told authorities he found the bills, 11 of them, in a suitcase in a garbage can. Olson thought they were "stage money" and so did Scotch, who finally was persuaded to buy five of them. The other six went for prices ranging up to 10 cents.

Flash Flood Hits New Mexico City

ROSWELL, N. M., May 18 (AP)—Damage estimated at more than a million dollars resulted today from a flash flood which turned normally dry arroyos into raging streams and damaged 200 homes in this southeastern New Mexico city.

A Red Cross emergency committee, meeting with city and National Guard officials, said 400 persons were evacuated from their homes. Rising waters forced some persons to take refuge on roofs.

Earlier, officials said from 750 to 1,000 had fled from their homes as flood waters rose.

Some houses were severely damaged and one was washed away, burning as it floated. Two homes collapsed. No one was injured. Four cars were washed downstream.

The flooded area covered a four-mile square section of the city with two to three feet of water.

Party-Backed Candidates Take Lead In Pa. Primary

PHILADELPHIA, May 18 (AP)—Organization-backed candidates rolled to an early lead in Pennsylvania's primary election tonight with the Republican slate showing a comfortable margin and the Democratic party choice running into some difficulty.

A strong fight developed in the struggle for the GOP Internal Affairs Cabinet post nomination. In that battle, Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon, organization picked candidate, was a 4-3 leader over incumbent William S. Livengood Jr., of Somerset who decided to run again without party backing.

In the gubernatorial nomination race on the GOP side of the picture Lloyd H. Wood, present lieutenant governor from Montgomery County, showed a near run away vote of 16,877-2,796 for Thomas E. Stephenson and 1,228 for Gordon F. Chamberlin with 3,809 of the state's 8,589 precincts reported.

In the Democratic gubernatorial nomination race, the party candidate, State Sen. William S. Leader, was being given competition by William D. McClelland of Pittsburgh, 7,123-4,472 with 4,956 precincts reported.

Charles J. Schmitt, of Erie, was a poor third in the Democratic gubernatorial race with 92 votes.

In the GOP voting for secretary of internal affairs, Mrs. Dixon had 4,411 votes to 3,298 for Livengood from 2,251 precincts.

Frank F. Truscott of Philadelphia, GOP slatemakers' choice for lieutenant governor showed 6,525 votes to 1,588 for William R. McMillen of Indiana, with 2,251 precincts in.

In the race for three state Superior Court posts, the GOP slate was running well ahead. With 3,586 precincts reported Ralph T. Bell, of Pittsburgh, had a total of 16,749, with Robert E. Woodside a close second at 15,488 and their ticket mate—George W. Griffith, of Ebensburg, standing at 14,360.

Woodside, a Superior Court incumbent, also was listed on the Democratic primary ballots, along with F. Clair Ross, Harrisburg, and Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg.

Sea-Air Battle Continues

TAIPEH, Formosa, Wednesday, May 19 (AP)—Nationalists and Chinese Reds slugged it out south of Shanghai yesterday by sea and air for the third straight day. Air force headquarters claimed one-Red 1,500 ton warship was sunk and one of 800 tons probably sunk.

Public Housing Program Backed By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee voted today to rescue the public housing program which the House sought to kill.

The committee's action, if approved by the Senate and the House, would more than meet President Eisenhower's request for authority to build 35,000 units of low-cost housing each year for the next four years. The number to be built each year would be left to the President. The House had rejected the request.

Profit Curbs Sought

The committee, starting work on a general housing bill, decided also to try to rule out "windfall profits" for builders of projects financed with FHA-insured loans. Disclosure that such profits had been made in the immediate post-war years rocked the Federal Housing Administration and brought on a two-pronged congressional investigation last month.

Efforts to eliminate another "scandal loophole" were put off until tomorrow. That involves the alleged fleecing of home owners under the FHA home repair program.

Votes To Revive Program

The committee voted 12-3 to revive the 810,000-unit public housing program which Congress decided in 1949 should be built over a period of years. Although that law has never been changed, its operation has been restricted by language written into appropriations bills in 1952 and 1953. Under them, the program will automatically come to a halt within another year.

The Senate committee action would have the effect of wiping out the later restrictions and restoring the program to its original form.

Chances Slim Probe Order Will Be Eased

Mundt Sticks To His Statement Hearings Not Necessarily Over

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The White House stood pat for the time being today on a presidential order that left the McCarthy-Army hearings dangling somewhere between temporary and permanent eclipse.

The order instructed high administration officials not to talk to Senate investigators about their discussions of the blazing controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top men in the Army.

The White House made it rather clear there are slim chances, if any, that President Eisenhower will alter the instructions.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that "The President issued his letter yesterday—period."

That seemed to be another way of saying that Eisenhower wasn't retreating an inch from his contention that any senatorial inquiry into conferences within the administration on the big controversy goes against the fundamental constitutional principle of separation of powers.

Conference Put Off

Under instructions from the Senate Investigations subcommittee, Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) set up a conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell to explore the possibility of getting the presidential order modified. But this was put off for a while. Mundt said Brownell wanted more time to study hearing transcripts.

Mundt did huddle with members of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Nothing definite came of that, although the senator said he is sticking by a statement that the hearings, now in recess until Monday, are not necessarily at an end.

What the subcommittee is trying to find out is who lied and who told the truth in an exchange of conflicting charges between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and some of their lieutenants.

"Roadblock," McCarthy Says

The Army charge is that McCarthy and two of the subcommittee staff, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, turned on improper pressure to try to win special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine. Schine was an unpaid consultant to the subcommittee before he was drafted last fall. McCarthy normally is chairman of the subcommittee but turned the gavel over to Mundt during the course of the hearings.

The charge from the other side is that Stevens and Army Counselor John Adams used Schine as a hostage and tried to blackmail McCarthy into halting a hunt for alleged Communists and Communist coddlers in the Army.

Garsson Petition Asks 18½ Million

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Henry and Murray Garsson, munitions makers who went to prison for bribery in a World War II contract scandal, are now asking the government for more than 18½ million dollars.

They say, in a petition filed with the U.S. Court of Claims, they should be paid "the reasonable value" of what they contend was the government's use of methods and processes they developed for war materials.

The Garsson brothers, of New York, along with Rep. Andrew Jackson May (D-Ky), were sentenced in 1949 to 8 to 24 months in prison. The brothers were convicted of giving May $53,634 in bribes to use his influence as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee to help them get war contracts. May was released in 1950 and the Garssons in 1951.

The petition filed with the Court of Claims said the government, through use Garsson developments saved more than 500 million dollars between 1942 and 1952. Their petition was filed April 16 and the government has been given until July 15 to reply to the petition or file motions in connection with it.

Wiley Says Red Arms Shipments Basis For Hemispheric Parleys

Senator Declares News "Alarming"

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) tonight urged Western Hemisphere nations to go into consultation about the shipment to Guatemala of arms from Communist-dominated Poland.

Such consultation, under inter-American agreements, could be the prelude to concerted action by the nations of the hemisphere.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a frequent administration spokesman on foreign affairs, spoke at a dinner honoring Latin American diplomats.

Earlier, the State Department officially notified Latin American embassies here of the shipment, which it had announced last night, but gave no indication whether it would promote any efforts to halt this or possible later shipments.

Wiley said news of the shipment was "alarming" and "of the utmost gravity," but he told the diplomats in his prepared remarks that the situation is not one for United States concern alone.

"It is a hemispheric concern," he said. "It is a basis for hemispheric consultation."

The State Department announcement, which gave no details of the size or nature of the shipment, said it was made from the port of Stettin in Communist Poland, and the arms are now being unloaded in Guatemala.

Guatemala's military chief, Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz, refused today to confirm or deny the U.S. announcement, saying he was forbidden under the constitution to reveal any military information.

In Stockholm, owners of the freighter, the Alfhem, denied that it carried arms or munitions to Guatemala. They said it had only "mixed freight."

Wiley said the shipment is "part of the Communist global pattern of force and violence" and is "totally disproportionate to any legitimate needs of that country. It is a shipment contrary to the best interests of all that for which the Organization of American States stands."

In the House, Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) said the arms delivery by "Soviet sources is undoubtedly aimed at the Panama Canal," and called for "bold action" by the United States.

"The Reds apparently wish to gain a foothold in Central America," he said, "so they can sabotage the Panama Canal if United States intervention should become necessary in Southeast Asia."

The State Department orally informed the Latin American embassies of the shipment as a "matter of concern," and awaited their reactions.

Canadian Air Chills Eastern Part Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

Canadian air chilled much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation Tuesday. The mercury dipped to freezing 32 degrees at Fargo, N.D.

The leading edge of the cool air extended from extreme western Texas eastward through northern Alabama to the North Carolina coast. The cooler air touched off scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Tuberculosis, Low Income "Not Intrinsically Related"

ATLANTIC CITY, May 18 (AP)—Tuberculosis is "not intrinsically related to such simple factors" as crowded living quarters, low income and poor housing although such things can play an indirect role, the National Tuberculosis Assn., was told today.

Where you live in a city—regardless of whether your quarters are crowded or not—and the degree to which you may have been previously dislocated by social occupational and other factors, may have a much more important bearing on whether you contract the disease, psychiatric researcher Norman G. Hawkins of the University of Washington said in a report to the NTA's 50th anniversary meeting.

Describing an analysis of TB attack rates for the city of Seattle in 1952, Hawkins in a joint report with Dr. Thomas H. Holmes, said the rates were much higher in the center of town than in the fringe areas—except for the non-white population among whom the reverse was true.

Crowded quarters were of questionable importance, he declared, "particularly since a large number of persons lived alone and shunned crowds prior to onset of the disease.

"The findings are compatible with the view that tuberculosis thrives on industrialism and social and interpersonal dislocation and is not intrinsically related to such simple factors as low income, poor housing, or age difference."

But he declared the Seattle finding "does not mean that crowding and movement are of no consequence in relation to TB—"on the contrary, they are of fundamental importance."

Indochina Cease-Fire Plea Voiced By Nehru

NEW DELHI, India, May 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru called today for quick agreement at Geneva on a cease-fire in Indochina without waiting for a "political decision."

Nehru made his plea during a parliamentary debate on foreign policy. Both houses of Parliament endorsed his views by voice votes. He shuttled between the two houses to state his policies. After today's session the upper house adjourned until August.

The Prime Minister noted signs of progress at the Geneva conference but said the primary business there is to achieve an Indochinese cease-fire.

Spy Report False

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., May 18 (AP)—State police said a report that someone has been spying on Camp Claybanks, the Army's anti-aircraft firing range in western (Oceana County) Michigan is false.

A farmer in the area had built a crude lean-to to protect a sick cow he was nursing back to health, not to spy on the camp, police said.

McKeldin Would End Censorship But Rivals For It

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, disagreeing with two other candidates for governor and a representative of a third, said today he is opposed to censorship and thinks the State Board of Motion Picture Censors "can be eliminated."

McKeldin's views and the opinions of the other candidates on censorship and a half dozen other subjects were aired before some 300 guests at a "Know-Your-Candidates" luncheon sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Expressing their views were the governor, H. C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination; James Gum, candidate for the Republican nomination, and George Sellmayer, spokesman for George P. Mahoney, also seeking the Democratic nomination.

Each candidate spoke for 10 minutes, then the ladies asked politically barbed questions, submitted in writing and read by Mrs. Philip W. Woods, president of the Maryland League of Women Voters.

On censorship, Byrd, Gum and Sellmayer—alphabetically next because he was speaking for Mahoney, all called for strengthening the censorship board.

But McKeldin, last to answer each time, said he was opposed to censorship.

In view of the Supreme Court decision, what about segregation, the ladies asked:

Byrd—"There is no alternative but to follow the edict of the Supreme Court and to take no action until the Supreme Court gives the ways this edict can best be filled."

Gum—"I don't know the answer and I don't want to make some reckless statement for political gain. I want to study the decision first, give it my thorough consideration and then I promise to have plenty to say later on."

Sellmayer for Mahoney—Segregation "will take cooperation and understanding on the part of the people, but the American people always have been able to meet any problem which has arisen and I am sure the people of Maryland will be able to meet this one."

McKeldin—Citing his establishment of an interracial commission, appointment of a Negro judge, and opening of the Lyric to Marian Anderson, said, "We in Maryland will have no difficulty in arranging our affairs according to the decision of the Supreme Court."

Asked how they would finance the huge public school program, Dr. Byrd and Gum frankly admitted they didn't know and said they would welcome any suggestions.

Mahoney's spokesman said it would require careful consideration, and the governor promised soon to give results.

Pittsburgh Strike Violence Flares; Dozen Men Seized

PITTSBURGH, May 18 (AP)—Police armed with night sticks broke up a fight today on a busy downtown street after a group of messengers from one of five strike-bound department stores was attacked.

Patrolman Thomas O'Connor estimated that between 100 and 150 men rushed 15 messengers from Horne's department store as they returned from carrying parcel post packages to the post office.

One man was shoved through a $600 plate glass window at Sitterley's men's store. O'Connor said he understood the unidentified man was injured but was unable to confirm the report.

Police arrested 11 men on charges of inciting to riot and another on charges of disorderly conduct.

Horne's is one of five stores which has halted deliver service, because of a strike by 12 AFL unions. The labor dispute centers around wages and the one union's demand that it have the right to decide when parcel post is to be used instead of truck delivery.

Police said the 12 men arrested have been identified as members of AFL General Teamsters Local 2'9, the key union in the strike which began last November. It is the teamsters which is striking over the parcel post issue.

Nebraska has a larger percentage of its land in farms than any other state in the Union.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, May 18 (AP)—Prince Bernhard's chauffeur-driven car was forced off the road by a truck it tried to pass today and overturned. The prince, husband of Queen Juliana, escaped uninjured as did the chauffeur, but the car was badly damaged.

McKeldin Would End Censorship But Rivals For It

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, disagreeing with two other candidates for governor and a representative of a third, said today he is opposed to censorship and thinks the State Board of Motion Picture Censors "can be eliminated."

McKeldin's views and the opinions of the other candidates on censorship and a half dozen other subjects were aired before some 300 guests at a "Know-Your-Candidates" luncheon sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Expressing their views were the governor, H. C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination; James Gum, candidate for the Republican nomination, and George Sellmayer, spokesman for George P. Mahoney, also seeking the Democratic nomination.

Each candidate spoke for 10 minutes, then the ladies asked politically barbed questions, submitted in writing and read by Mrs. Philip W. Woods, president of the Maryland League of Women Voters.

On censorship, Byrd, Gum and Sellmayer—alphabetically next because he was speaking for Mahoney, all called for strengthening the censorship board.

But McKeldin, last to answer each time, said he was opposed to censorship.

In view of the Supreme Court decision, what about segregation, the ladies asked:

Byrd—"There is no alternative but to follow the edict of the Supreme Court and to take no action until the Supreme Court gives the ways this edict can best be filled."

Gum—"I don't know the answer and I don't want to make some reckless statement for political gain. I want to study the decision first, give it my thorough consideration and then I promise to have plenty to say later on."

Sellmayer for Mahoney—Segregation "will take cooperation and understanding on the part of the people, but the American people always have been able to meet any problem which has arisen and I am sure the people of Maryland will be able to meet this one."

McKeldin—Citing his establishment of an interracial commission, appointment of a Negro judge, and opening of the Lyric to Marian Anderson, said, "We in Maryland will have no difficulty in arranging our affairs according to the decision of the Supreme Court."

Asked how they would finance the huge public school program, Dr. Byrd and Gum frankly admitted they didn't know and said they would welcome any suggestions.

Mahoney's spokesman said it would require careful consideration, and the governor promised soon to give results.

Pittsburgh Strike Violence Flares; Dozen Men Seized

PITTSBURGH, May 18 (AP)—Police armed with night sticks broke up a fight today on a busy downtown street after a group of messengers from one of five strike-bound department stores was attacked.

Patrolman Thomas O'Connor estimated that between 100 and 150 men rushed 15 messengers from Horne's department store as they returned from carrying parcel post packages to the post office.

One man was shoved through a $600 plate glass window at Sitterley's men's store. O'Connor said he understood the unidentified man was injured but was unable to confirm the report.

Police arrested 11 men on charges of inciting to riot and another on charges of disorderly conduct.

Horne's is one of five stores which has halted deliver service, because of a strike by 12 AFL unions. The labor dispute centers around wages and the one union's demand that it have the right to decide when parcel post is to be used instead of truck delivery.

Police said the 12 men arrested have been identified as members of AFL General Teamsters Local 2'9, the key union in the strike which began last November. It is the teamsters which is striking over the parcel post issue.

Nebraska has a larger percentage of its land in farms than any other state in the Union.

Girl In Morals Case Identifies Mayor's Son At Perjury Trial

SALISBURY, May 18 (AP)—A 12-year-old Baltimore girl today in court pointed to Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 21-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor, as one of four youths who placed her and her cousin in an apartment where they said they were subjected to sex offenses last July.

It was the first time either of the girls had definitely identified young D'Alesandro, who was acquitted of raping the witness' 13-year-old cousin. He is now being tried on a perjury charge for saying he was not with the girls and had never seen them before his rape trial.

The girl was the fifth witness to take the stand in the crowded Wicomico County Circuit Court where D'Alesandro's trial continued in its second day.

Asked if a man she recalled as "Rudy" was in court, the girl pointed a finger at young D'Alesandro who, dressed in a dark blue suit and blue polka dot tie, sat a few steps away beside his mother, Mrs. Nancy D'Alesandro.

"Right there," she said, "sitting to the woman in the dark hat." Mrs. D'Alesandro was dressed in a black suit and black straw hat.

Chief defense attorney, former Judge Joseph Sherbow of Baltimore, in cross-examining the witness, pointed out she had not identified the defendant at his Baltimore rape trial last November.

At that trial, young D'Alesandro had sat flanked by two of his five brothers, dressed identically in blue-serge suits. The State had not asked her to identify him then.

The defendant's brothers were not present in the court room today.

The girl testified D'Alesandro and three other boys secured a room for her and her cousin. She said the "other boys called D'Alesandro 'Roosey', but I called him Rudy."

Also testifying today were Michael Sudano, George Baccala and Philip Sudano, a cousin of Michael, all of whom are now serving reformatory sentences for sex offenses they were convicted of committing against the girls.

The girl identified the three youths as being with D'Alesandro the night the girls were put in the apartment. She said (D'Alesandro) went into a room with her cousin and later Baccala went in.

The youths had testified they all left after securing the apartment.

Earlier, Baccala testified at length about his association with young D'Alesandro, another point in the State's contention that D'Alesandro lied five times in his rape trial, when he said he had never seen the girls before, when he said he did not know anyone named "Bobo," Michael Sudano's nickname, when he said he did not know Philip Sudano's nickname was "Bob Steele", and when he said he did not go out with Baccala.

Colorado is known as the Centennial State because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, just 100 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

U. S. Lines Will Pay Four Million More For New Super-Liner

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The government today announced that United States Lines Steamship Co. has agreed to pay an additional four million dollars for the superliner United States, the world's fastest passenger ship.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, who made the announcement, said this settles the cross-suits which the company and the government have made in the U.S. Court of Claims since early 1953.

Under the settlement, the steamship firm will pay $32,900,000, instead of the $28,900,000 called for under the original contract made in 1949.

The ship was built at a cost of $76,800,000, with the government subsidizing the construction. The government paid much of the cost in order to incorporate into it certain national defense features which would be of value to the military in event it became necessary to take the vessel over for armed services use in time of war or national emergency.

Dogs and turkeys were the only domesticated animals in North America at the time Columbus discovered the New World.

Fireworks Control Bill Clears Senate

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—A bill to restrict shipments of fireworks with the aim of reducing casualties passed the Senate today, 73-3.

It would forbid shipments into states which ban fireworks and in instances in which manufacturers know the fireworks would be used illegally.

The bill was sent to a Senate-House Conference Committee to work out minor differences. The House passed the bill last July in a somewhat different form.

By voice vote, the Senate wrote into the measure an amendment to put the restrictions into effect July 1 — a date by which most fireworks for next July 4 probably will have been shipped.

Supporters of the bill said 36 states have laws prohibiting or regulating use of fireworks, 10 have local option laws, and two—Tennessee and Nevada—have no laws on the subject.

Kremlin Jams Brakes On Red Drive To Collectivize East Europe Farms

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
AP Foreign Staff

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — The post-Stalin rulers of the Soviet sphere have jammed the brakes on the vast Communist drive to collectivize East Europe's stagnating breadbasket, according to a survey by more than 50 American and exile specialists on Red affairs.

A cease-fire has been ordered in the war to wipe out the kulaks—the independent, land-owning peasants; the Stalin program to squeeze from all farmers low cost food for factory workers is ended for the time being, the group reports.

"Satellite Agriculture in Crisis" is the title of the survey just published by the American anti-Communist organization Free Europe Committee, privately backed parent body of Radio Free Europe.

The survey concludes the Soviet world's "new course" toward raising more food and taking better care of the material needs of peasant and urban worker alike is a maneuver to mend political fences rather than to solve an economic crisis. The economic crisis has existed for a long time, it claims, and nothing was done about it until now.

The survey outlines the history of collectivization in the Soviet Union following the 1917 revolution and through World War II. It tells of the rapid success in sweeping some 60 per cent of Russia's arable lands into the collectives by use of the most brutal means, including mass starvations and mass deportations to Siberian work camps.

These were part of a program outlined by Stalin in his drive to turn Russia into an industrial empire. The emphasis on heavy industry mushroomed at the expense of agriculture.

Despite Communist efforts to bring all farmers under state control, in order to collect food for the all-important city workers cheaply, agricultural production dwindled, the report says.

Even so, at the end of World War II, when new Communist satellite governments were taking over in Eastern Europe they slavishly copied the Stalin plan, pouring the major part of their budgets into heavy industry with nothing left for agriculture but a drive to bring balky peasants into collectives.

The new course was instituted after Stalin's death by the Soviet Union's new collective leadership under Premier Georgi Malenkov.

This new course got its biggest boost in a report by Soviet Communist party boss, Deputy Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Sept. 8, in which he revealed officially for the first time the dismal state of Soviet agriculture and announced something had to be done about it.

1. More of the national resources are being released to agriculture.

2. Exploitation of the peasant by heavy state collections has stopped and material incentives in the form of free-market profits and more consumer goods to buy with such earnings have been instituted.

3. Collectivization — "still officially considered the highest form of agrarian organization"—is halted.

4. The call now is for "limitation" of the kulak rather than "elimination."

5. Farm technicians, who have held plush jobs in the urban bureaucracy, are being sent to the farms to work—and to new areas in the remotest reaches of the Soviet empire to open up new farms.

6. Collective farms which have shown the least social stability and economic worth are being allowed to disintegrate back into private hands. Hungary has shown the most marked move in this direction with 41 per cent of the peasant membership deserting the collectives.

But the new course doesn't "by any stretch of the imagination" represent a repudiation of Stalin's original plans toward Socialist agricultural organization. That could not be done, the survey says, without the "most thoroughgoing reorientation of the whole (Soviet sphere economy."

GIGANTIC TRAINLOADS OF SILVER DOLLARS

If paid in silver dollars, the $459,000,000 in benefits received by Woodmen of the World members and beneficiaries since the Society was founded in 1890 would weigh 13,770 tons* and fill 257 box cars.

These millions, of course, were paid by check in these past 64 years to settle Woodmen life insurance claims and pay refunds.

The $559,000,000 of safe, sound, legal reserve protection some 438,000 Woodmen now enjoy would weigh 16,770 tons* . . . a load for 435 box cars.

Though not measured in money, Woodmen also enjoy many other benefits and much pleasure from Woodcraft's fraternal and social activities.

Kremlin Jams Brakes On Red Drive To Collectivize East Europe Farms

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
AP Foreign Staff

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — The post-Stalin rulers of the Soviet sphere have jammed the brakes on the vast Communist drive to collectivize East Europe's stagnating breadbasket, according to a survey by more than 50 American and exile specialists on Red affairs.

A cease-fire has been ordered in the war to wipe out the kulaks—the independent, land-owning peasants; the Stalin program to squeeze from all farmers low cost food for the time being, the group reports.

"Satellite Agriculture in Crisis" is the title of the survey just published by the American anti-Communist organization Free Europe Committee, privately backed parent body of Radio Free Europe.

The survey concludes the Soviet world's "new course" toward raising more food and taking better care of the material needs of peasant and urban worker alike is a maneuver to mend political fences rather than to solve an economic crisis. The economic crisis has existed for a long time, it claims, and nothing was done about it until now.

The survey outlines the history of collectivization in the Soviet Union following the 1917 revolution and through World War II. It tells of the rapid success in sweeping some 60 per cent of Russia's arable lands into the collectives by use of the most brutal means, including mass starvations and mass deportations to Siberian work camps.

These were part of a program outlined by Stalin in his drive to turn Russia into an industrial empire. The emphasis on heavy industry mushroomed at the expense of agriculture.

Despite Communist efforts to bring all farmers under state control, in order to collect food for the all-important city workers cheaply, agricultural production dwindled, the report says.

Even so, at the end of World War II, when new Communist satellite governments were taking over in Eastern Europe they slavishly copied the Stalin plan, pouring the major part of their budgets into heavy industry with nothing left for agriculture but a drive to bring balky peasants into collectives.

The new course was instituted after Stalin's death by the Soviet Union's new collective leadership under Premier Georgi Malenkov.

This new course got its biggest boost in a report by Soviet Communist party boss, Deputy Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Sept. 8, in which he revealed officially for the first time the dismal state of Soviet agriculture and announced something had to be done about it.

The survey reports the new course now shows the following basic features:

1. More of the national resources are being released to agriculture.

2. Exploitation of the peasant by heavy state collections has stopped and material incentives in the form of free-market profits and more consumer goods to buy with such earnings have been instituted.

3. Collectivization — "still officially considered the highest form of agrarian organization"—is halted.

4. The call now is for "limitation" of the kulak rather than "elimination."

5. Farm technicians, who have held plush jobs in the urban bureaucracy, are being sent to the farms to work—and to new areas in the remotest reaches of the Soviet empire to open up new farms.

6. Collective farms which have shown the least social stability and economic worth are being allowed to disintegrate back into private hands. Hungary has shown the most marked move in this direction with 41 per cent of the peasant membership deserting the collectives.

But the new course doesn't "by any stretch of the imagination" represent a repudiation of Stalin's original plans toward Socialist agricultural organization. That could not be done, the survey says, without the "most thoroughgoing reorientation of the whole (Soviet sphere economy."

GIGANTIC TRAINLOADS OF SILVER DOLLARS

If paid in silver dollars, the $459,000,000 in benefits received by Woodmen of the World members and beneficiaries since the Society was founded in 1890 would weigh 13,770 tons* and fill 257 box cars.

These millions, of course, were paid by check in these past 64 years to settle Woodmen life insurance claims and pay refunds.

The $559,000,000 of safe, sound, legal reserve protection some 438,000 Woodmen now enjoy would weigh 16,770 tons* . . . a load for 435 box cars.

Though not measured in money, Woodmen also enjoy many other benefits and much pleasure from Woodcraft's fraternal and social activities.

Ask a Woodmen representative how you can share in this safe, sound, legal reserve Woodmen life insurance protection and fraternal benefits. Let him help you select the type of certificate that best meets your needs.

* The U. S. Mint says 1,000 silver dollars weigh 60 lbs.

Soviet Delegation Ignores Lenin "Homes" In Geneva

GENEVA, May 18 (AP) — Two of the great landmarks of communism —the places where Lenin lived in Geneva — are drawing no tourist trade from the big Soviet delegation to the conference.

"Not a single pilgrimage," said a Swiss grocer whose shop is across the Rue des Maraichers from one of the places where the man from the Volga resided.

"Of course, they could have come in the night, but I don't think so."

He pointed to the place where Lenin lived.

"On the fourth floor," he said, "and there were times when Russians used to come here and just stare at it."

"What sort of Russians?"

"Well, Maxim Litvinoff in the dear gay days of the old League of Nations, why, he often used to make pilgrimages down here."

The late Maxim Litvinoff, like the very much alive V. M. Molotov, was foreign minister of the Soviet Union.

The Swiss grocer shook his head.

"Here is something I don't think Litvinoff and the other Russians who used to make pilgrimages down here knew," he said. "Lenin not only lived on the fourth floor of that house, but Mussolini did too."

The grocer fingered a bag of dry beans.

"Both of them," he said with the air of a man who knows about such things first hand, "left a few unpaid bills around the neighborhood."

The other place where one of the makers of the Soviet revolution called home in Geneva was on the Rue de Deux-Ponts. This place, however, has been sacrilegiously pulled down to make room for a capitalistic apartment house.

"Lenin?" gasped the surprised superintendent of the structure, "Nobody by that name living here. Who is he, anyway?"

He was told that Lenin was a Russian and that he once lived on the spot where he was now working.

"Well, he's not here now," said the superintendent, "and there are no other Russians living here, and if I have my way there won't be any living here."

The Tuskegee president said until there is an attorney general ruling on how the Supreme Court decision applies in Alabama, nothing will be done toward admitting white students at Tuskegee.

Yes, Dry Skin Actually Stopped

Really stopped by just one Lanolin Plus penetrating "Home Facial"—and recurrence of dry skin prevented by regular application.

Read below how to give yourself this new "Home Facial" that does such wonders for your skin.

The horrible thing about dry skin is the cruel fact that it can cause premature crow's feet, and tiny lines, thereby making you look older than you are. But now, thanks to Lanolin Plus LIQUID and this "Home Facial" method of application, you can do something for your skin at once. FIRST, apply a hot, wet washcloth to your face and neck to open the pores. SECOND, after warming your bottle of Lanolin Plus LIQUID under the hot water faucet, massage a small amount of this golden liquid into your skin, where it will leave a new supply of softening cholesterols and esters. Do this tonight and find dryness gone in the morning. Lanolin Plus LIQUID is $1 plus tax at all cosmetics counters.

"Handbook" That Guides Chinese "Volunteers" In Indochina Bared

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — A federal agency has made public a top-secret Chinese Communist government "handbook" which guides the activities of some of the thousands of "volunteers" who are helping Indochinese Reds fight French Union forces.

The agency said the 3,000-word "handbook" was included among instructions issued by a Red Chinese organization known as "The Chinese People's Volunteers to Help Viet Nam."

The agency, which stipulated that it not be named, did not disclose how it obtained a copy of the document, dated Dec. 15, 1952, but presumably it was smuggled from the mainland by intelligence agents.

"In this context," said the agency's report, "use of term 'volunteer' recalls the massive Chinese Communist intervention in the Korean War and the arrogant persistence of the Chinese Communist regime in referring to their organized armies and air units participating in that aggression as 'volunteers'."

A translation of the "Handbook for Political Workers Going to Viet Nam" shows these agents are instructed to "precede the troops in facing risks for the purpose of using every means to increase the fighting spirit" of Indochinese Reds.

The Chinese agents are instructed to turn over all prisoners captured to Chinese Communist headquarters for questioning first and later to the Vietminh Communist headquarters.

The agency's report on the Chinese "penetration of Indochina" also mentions Soviet personnel helping the Indochinese rebels.

Tooth Decay Cut By Pipe Smoking, Dentists Declare

DURHAM, N. C., May 18 (AP) — Pipe smoking apparently reduces tooth decay, seven Durham dentists declare.

Dr. Norman F. Ross, associate professor of dentistry at Duke University and head dentist at Duke Hospital here, expressed this opinion in an interview. Six other dentists, who declined use of their names, agreed that in their practice they have found the number of active cavities and the rate of decay less among pipe smokers than among other patients.

"Heavy smokers get a tar on their teeth and they seem to have a greater resistance to decay," Ross said. The heavier, coarser tobaccos used in pipes cause more and heavier tar than that from cigarettes, he added, and the resistance is more apparent.

Air Linked To Cancer

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (AP)—Researchers are looking for a chemical in polluted air which may aid another smog compound in producing cancer, the California Medical Assn. was told recently.

Dr. Paul Kotin of Los Angeles said a substance known to cause cancer in animals, has been found in smog here and elsewhere.

This chemical comes from automobile exhaust gases and other combustion products. It is present in coal smoke and in the burning of other common substances.

However, the cancer agent always is attached to a particle of soot. To do its damage, Dr. Kotin said, the chemical must be separated from the soot particle.

An oil from the human skin called sebun can separate this cancer agent from the soot particle and turn it loose to cause malignancy, Dr. Kotin reported.

Number Of American Catholics Rises 4%

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The number of American Catholics has risen to about 31½ million, a gain of more than 4 per cent in the last year, official statistics said recently.

In the previous year, the tempo of increase was just over 3 per cent.

The 1954 official Catholic Directory said the nation's Catholics now total 31,658,424, a rise of 1,223,409 over the previous year's count of 30,425,015.

The figures put the Catholic proportion of the country's overall population at about 21 per cent.

Of the new members of the church, 116,690 were listed as converts from other faiths in the last year, the eighth successive year in which Catholic converts reportedly have exceeded 100,000.

"Handbook" That Guides Chinese "Volunteers" In Indochina Bared

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — A federal agency has made public a top-secret Chinese Communist government "handbook" which guides the activities of some of the thousands of "volunteers" who are helping Indochinese Reds fight French Union forces.

The agency said the 3,000-word "handbook" was included among instructions issued by a Red Chinese organization known as "The Chinese People's Volunteers to Help Viet Nam."

The agency, which stipulated that it not be named, did not disclose how it obtained a copy of the document, dated Dec. 15, 1952, but presumably it was smuggled from the mainland by intelligence agents.

"In this context," said the agency's report, "use of term 'volunteer' recalls the massive Chinese Communist intervention in the Korean War and the arrogant persistence of the Chinese Communist regime in referring to their organized armies and air units participating in that aggression as 'volunteers'."

A translation of the "Handbook" for Political Workers Going to Viet Nam" shows these agents are instructed to "precede the troops in facing risks for the purpose of using every means to increase the fighting spirit" of Indochinese Reds.

The Chinese agents are instructed to turn over all prisoners captured to Chinese Communist headquarters for questioning first and later to the Vietminh Communist headquarters.

The agency's report on the Chinese "penetration of Indochina" also mentions Soviet personnel helping the Indochinese rebels.

Tooth Decay Cut By Pipe Smoking, Dentists Declare

DURHAM, N. C., May 18 (AP) — Pipe smoking apparently reduces tooth decay, seven Durham dentists declare.

Dr. Norman F. Ross, associate professor of dentistry at Duke University and head dentist at Duke Hospital here, expressed this opinion in an interview. Six other dentists, who declined use of their names, agreed that in their practice they have found the number of active cavities and the rate of decay less among pipe smokers than among other patients.

"Heavy smokers get a tar on their teeth and they seem to have a greater resistance to decay," Ross said. The heavier, coarser tobaccos used in pipes cause more and heavier tar than that from cigarettes, he added, and the resistance is more apparent.

Air Linked To Cancer

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (AP)—Researchers are looking for a chemical in polluted air which may aid another smog compound in producing cancer, the California Medical Assn. was told recently.

Dr. Paul Kotin of Los Angeles said a substance known to cause cancer in animals, has been found in smog here and elsewhere.

This chemical comes from automobile exhaust gases and other combustion products. It is present in coal smoke and in the burning of other common substances.

However, the cancer agent always is attached to a particle of soot. To do its damage, Dr. Kotin said, the chemical must be separated from the soot particle.

An oil from the human skin called sebun can separate this cancer agent from the soot particle and turn it loose to cause malignancy, Dr. Kotin reported.

Number Of American Catholics Rises 4%

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The number of American Catholics has risen to about 31½ million, a gain of more than 4 per cent in the last year, official statistics said recently.

In the previous year, the tempo of increase was just over 3 per cent.

The 1954 official Catholic Directory said the nation's Catholics now total 31,658,424, a rise of 1,223,409 over the previous year's count of 30,425,015.

The figures put the Catholic proportion of the country's overall population at about 21 per cent.

Of the new members of the church, 116,690 were listed as converts from other faiths in the last year, the eighth successive year in which Catholic converts reportedly have exceeded 100,000.

Communist Underground

FBI Raid In 1952 Forced Reds To Reconstruct Part Of "Mollie" And Reevaluate Their Security Measures

In this fourth of a series on the Communist underground, excerpts from secret Red documents are used to show how party leaders react with suspicion and bitter resignation to the arrest of their comrades.

By JOHN F. ALLEN
Copyright 1954
By the San Francisco Examiner

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 (INS)—Late in 1952 Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested 18 of the top Washington State Communist Party leadership.

Last October five of them were sentenced to prison for advocating violent overthrow of the government.

This FBI raid was just one in a series of attacks on the party and part of the government's evident scheme to keep the Reds constantly off balance as they attempt to disappear underground.

Of particular interest is the effect that raid had on the top leadership of Mollie, the Red underground operation which had—and probably still has—its headquarters in California.

To these Mollie leaders, like Robert Thompson, Sidney Steinberg, Sam Coleman and the rest, it meant rebuilding a whole segment of the party underground, a weeding out of suspected "stool pigeons," re-evaluation of security measures and a hundred other problems.

For instance, take this secret letter, apparently a report from what was left of the Washington party to Steinberg (the "HH" referred to is Henry Huff, Washington party chairman and one of those convicted):

"HH was here and I got a report from him on what happened. The govt. at his bail hearing introduced an affidavit that had his aliases and addresses for the past year or more. . . . HH states that in the early stages he observed maximum security until it became evident that a crisis was developing. . . . He therefore felt it necessary to give operative leadership and travel about a good deal.

"As to whether his arrest was due to careless security measures or a 'leak' in the outfit, he is of the opinion that it was due to a 'leak,' and reports would point to the person who was exec. secy. of the PP (Progressive Party) in his state . . . who was, supposed to have been seen with govt. agents . . . and who met with HH just before the arrest.

"In the case of Barbara Hartle (another of those arrested and convicted), she was probably traced thru her social security number. She had become demoralized and refused to carry out decisions on security, and was working at a job, refusing to move. It appears to be a case of fear and cowardice, which will require disciplinary steps.

"Paul Bowen, Negro worker (another of the convicted five), was also probably traced through his social security number, and the fact he got in touch with his folks in Chicago. Carelessness and inexperience, with probably not enuf help to solve his problems.

"These were the only ones who weren't around. The others arrested were all public figures and readily available."

Another letter in the secret files obtained by the San Francisco Examiner is written by an unidentified Washington party leader who escaped the fate of the others. Here Huff is referred to simply as "H" and Barbara Hartle as "the woman." Some excerpts:

"I hope and trust that your congratulations will prove to be merited by performance. Otherwise my 'escape' will be of little note.

"As to why the arrests were made, my (and other) opinion is that the timing was basically geared to the elections and designed as the other basic answer of the administration to McCarthy, as well as an answer to rising protest against the Smith Act.

"As to the woman, for about a month a problem existed. She missed several appointments . . . she stated she had a health test which showed TB. She was advised to take a rest . . . contacted her sister, who informed her she had been visited by agents who stated they had reports she was working as waitress.

"Later she missed an appointment . . . H reported she admitted she did not have TB . . . She said she feared a nervous breakdown . . . Denied personal involvement. . .'. H was sceptical and raised the possibility of complete deterioration . . . He reported that he organized a new contact for that weekend where she was to be asked for a complete accounting . . . If not satisfactory she was to be left flat . . . Further reports raise question as to her mental condition on top of political degeneration.

"The courier. He was some time ago contacted by a person from Seattle while that person was not clear. Subsequently the courier's landlady was visited by agents . . . And his assignment was suspended.

". . . The person in Idaho was very loose in talking and one of ours was very loose in contacting his family and as of last report is disgruntled and is blaming us for his trouble.

"Contact methods: In the last two months we have used some places rather too often."

There follows a long, breast-beating self-critique in which the author of the letter, in true Communist style, takes himself violently to task for everything from "political defeatism" to "sloppy security."

The letter closes with a reference to a strangely mundane and homey problem: What is to be done about the education of children whose parents are members of the Communist underground?

"Also one other problem in regard to the-two are families with small children. Children grow up. Already school looms on the horizon. Admission to kindergarden and school is strict these days. Soon we will have to decide how to meet such requirements or replace those families in II. They are among our best and key people."

That "the-two" reference is to a basic Communist plan of dividing the American party into two parts: Those in "I" remain above ground; those in "II" are underground.

Despite an aura of suspicion and self-recrimination following the body blow struck by the FBI arrests, the leadership went back to the mending of secret fences and preparations for the trial. Wrote Carl Ross to Henry Huff a month after the raid:

"We were very glad to learn from the contacts made by you and Van with California that you feel there is a healthy morale and fighting spirit in the party and that all activities are being stepped up.

"I regret, of course, that the arrests among other things disrupted the contact that we had established. We hope . . . . it will soon be possible to establish direct contact between us and the new leadership that you will build there . . . . We will get to you information as to a contact place for someone to come when it is mutually agreed that direct connection between your number 2 center and us be established.

"Enclosed you will find the following:

"1) Memos on defense and the trial preparation.

"2) A memo on party leadership and set-up.

"3) Notes regarding policy and perspective, and an analysis of the 52 election.

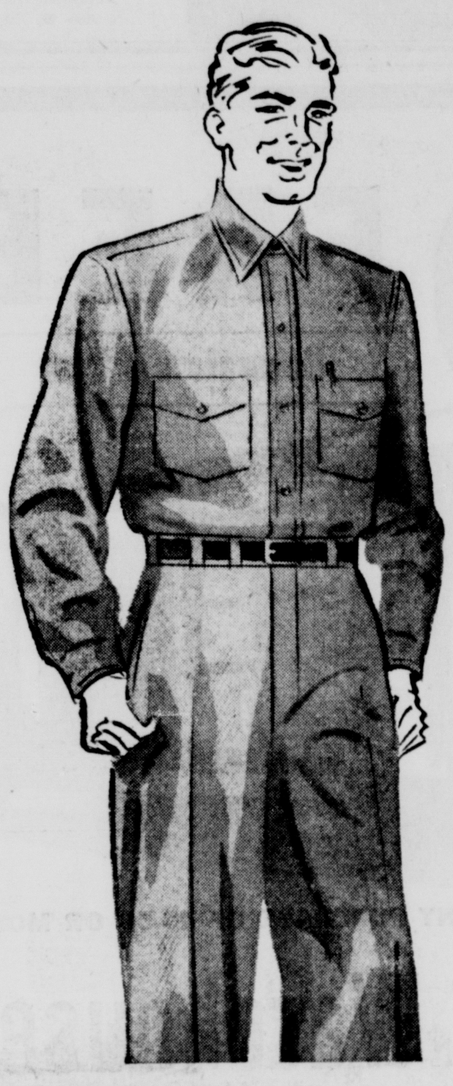

"4) Memo on Oregon situation and some questions.

"5) A national memo on ideological work.

Missing Girl Is Found In Washington

Police reported yesterday that Barbara Jean Barrett, 13, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Conis, 311 South Cedar Street, who was reported missing last week, has been located in Washington where she resides. A reward of $100 had been offered.

Monday, authorities were asked to find Edward George, 16, Williams Road. Missing since April 27, the youth is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and has brown hair. He was wearing blue shirt and trousers and brown shoes.

The opossum's habit of "playing dead" is a nervous reaction over which the animal himself has no control, the heartbeat being slowed sharply.

Just put in the soiled clothes, set the Duomatic dials and the sensational new Bendix Duomatic does ALL the rest . . . while you do your other housework . . . while you play . . . even while you sleep!

It fits almost anywhere—only 36 inches wide. Can be easily installed in recreation room, kitchen, bathroom—wherever you want it. Lint and moisture are flushed down the drain—room stays cool, dry and comfortable! Clothes come out cleaner, fluffier softer—they look better, last longer.

Administration Cites Precedents To Support Stand

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration yesterday cited 26 actions by presidents to support its refusal to let the McCarthy-Army hearing committee explore a secret conference within the executive branch of the government or receive confidential FBI documents.

The memorandum submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell and approved by President Eisenhower went deeply into American history on separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

It offered precedents from previous administrations as follows:

George Washington, two; Franklin D. Roosevelt, five; Harry S. Truman, ten; and one each from Andrew Jackson, John Tyler, James Buchanan, U. S. Grant, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

The earliest was Washington's refusal to let the House of Representatives see all the papers it wanted to in 1792 in investigating a disastrous military campaign by Maj. Gen. Arthur St. Clair.

The latest was the April 3, 1952 order by Truman to the secretary of state not to let a Senate Appropriations subcommittee see federal loyalty-security files.

One of the more emphatic stands was taken by Thedore Roosevelt. The memorandum sets out how the Senate in 1909 summoned Herbert K. Smith, a government official, and ordered him to deliver certain papers to show whether the government had brought legal proceedings against the U.S. Steel Corp. and if not, why not.

Smith reported the request to Roosevelt, who ordered him to give the papers to the President. T.R. then informed the Senate Judiciary Committee "what had been done, that he had the papers and the only way the Senate could get them was through his impeachment."

The precedents cited gave a variety of reasons why the Presidents would not let congress have confidential information it wanted.

Generally, they said no branch of the government could encroach on the power of another. More specifically they said: The executive should have discretion in deciding what would be harmful to the public interest: it would be wrong to release information obtained in confidence; preliminaries to treaty-making had to be kept secret, and in many cases the information involved would be misleading if spread on the record.

Jefferson put it this way in 1807 in refusing to release evidence on the Aaron Burr conspiracy:

"It is chiefly in the form of letters, often containing such a mixture of rumors, conjectures and suspicions as renders it difficult to sift out the real facts and unadvisable to hazard more than general outlines, strengthened by concurrent information or the particular credibility of the realtor. In this state of the evidence, delivered sometimes, too, under the restriction of private confidence, neither safety nor justice will permit the exposing (of) names, except that of the principal actor, whose guilt is placed beyond question."

'ENERGY IN ACTION' SHOW — This Westinghouse technician is shown demonstrating the frequency spectrum, one of several interesting displays which will be part of tonight's "Energy In Action" program at Allegany High School auditorium, at 8 p. m. The show, sponsored jointly by the Engineers Club of Cumberland and the Western Maryland Section, American Chemical Society, is free and open to the public.

X-rays were taken Monday to determine the extent of injuries. The child is semi-conscious.

Rocky Must Pay Or Go To Jail

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Former middleweight boxing champion Rocky Graziano was ordered to spend 10 days in jail today or pay a $250 fine for ignoring five parking summonses.

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh gave Graziano until Monday to pay the fine, after his attorney said the ex-boxer, now a television actor, didn't have the money with him.

Administration Cites Precedents To Support Stand

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration yesterday cited 26 actions by presidents to support its refusal to let the McCarthy-Army hearing committee explore a secret conference within the executive branch of the government or receive confidential FBI documents.

The memorandum submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell and approved by President Eisenhower went deeply into American history on separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

It offered precedents from previous administrations as follows:

George Washington, two; Franklin D. Roosevelt, five; Harry S. Truman, ten; and one each from Andrew Jackson, John Tyler, James Buchanan, U. S. Grant, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

The earliest was Washington's refusal to let the House of Representatives see all the papers it wanted to in 1792 in investigating a disastrous military campaign by Maj. Gen. Arthur St. Clair.

The latest was the April 3, 1952 order by Truman to the secretary of state not to let a Senate Appropriations subcommittee see federal loyalty-security files.

One of the more emphatic stands was taken by Thedore Roosevelt, The memorandum sets out how the Senate in 1909 summoned Herbert K. Smith, a government official, and ordered him to deliver certain papers to show whether the government had brought legal proceedings against the U.S. Steel Corp. and if not, why not.

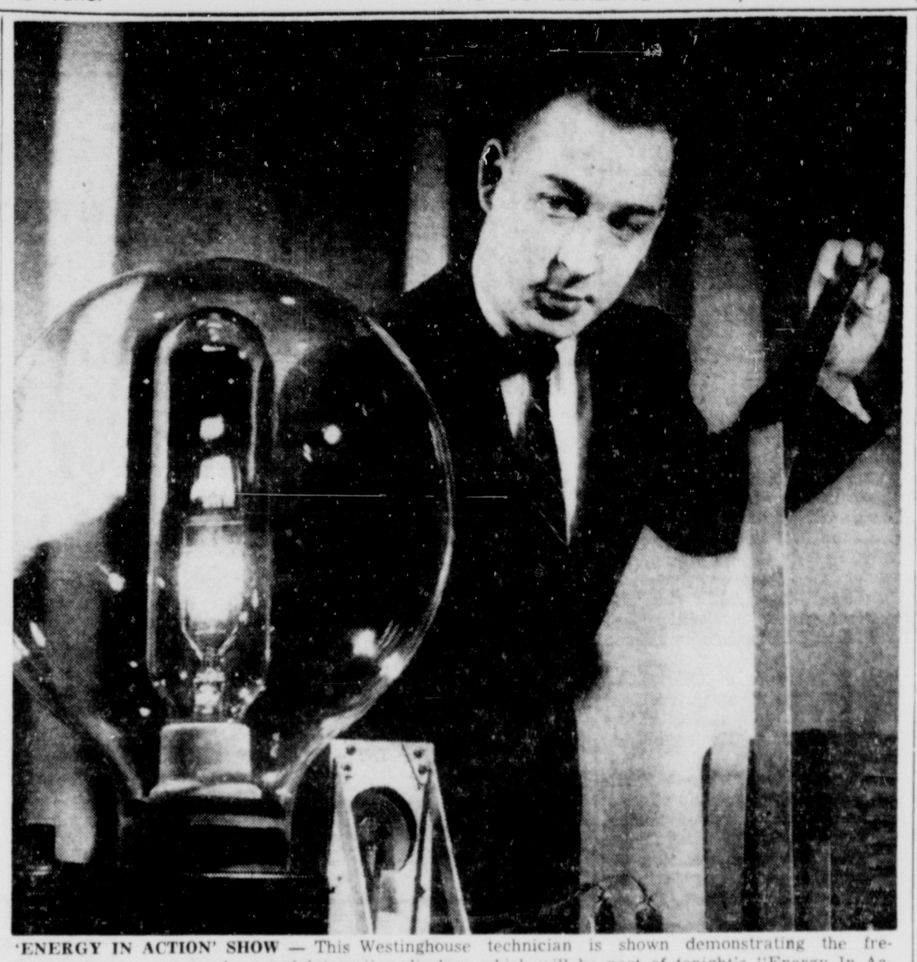

Smith reported the request to Roosevelt, who ordered him to give the papers to the President. T.R. then informed the Senate Judiciary Committee "what had been done, that he had the papers and the only way the Senate could get them was through his impeachment."

The precedents cited gave a variety of reasons why the Presidents would not let congress have confidential information it wanted.

Generally, they said no branch of the government could encroach on the power of another. More specifically they said: The executive should have discretion in deciding what would be harmful to the public interest: it would be wrong to release information obtained in confidence; preliminaries to treaty-making had to be kept secret, and in many cases the information involved would be misleading if spread on the record.

Jefferson put it this way in 1807 in refusing to release evidence on the Aaron Burr conspiracy:

"It is chiefly in the form of letters, often containing such a mixture of rumors, conjectures and suspicions as renders it difficult to sift out the real facts and unadvisable to hazard more than general outlines, strengthened by concurrent information or the particular credibility of the realtor. In this state of the evidence, delivered sometimes, too, under the restriction of private confidence, neither safety nor justice will permit the exposing (of) names, except that of the principal actor, whose guilt is placed beyond question."

Two, Including Detective, Shot In Manhunt

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—More than 200 policemen swarmed into a Negro section bordering the downtown district today, shooting one man and capturing another suspected of wounding a Negro detective who had arrested him.

Furrie Cousins Jr., 29-year-old policeman, was hit in the hip but was not critically wounded.

More seriously wounded in the stomach was James Broadus, 22-year-old Negro whose connection with the arrest and chase was not established immediately.

Object of the hunt was James Jasper Tiller, 24, who had been arrested by Cousins on a larceny charge.

Cousins said Tiller suddenly turned on him as they were walking along the street after the arrest and wrestled his service pistol from him. Tiller ran, Cousins chased him and was hit by one of the shots Tiller fired.

Policemen from all districts converged on the Negro area at Paca and Mulberry streets, intersection of the Washington-Baltimore Parkway and U. S. 40.

The Broadus shooting was in a backyard adjoining the area of the house where Tiller was captured.

Police Inspector William J. Forrest said Broadus attacked Sgt. Louis Rehak with a chisel. Broadus dived under a tarpaulin, Forrest related, and Rehak fired six shots.

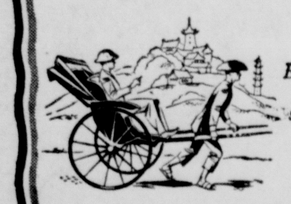

The sergeant and a fellow officer were treated for minor injuries received in the struggle with Broadus.

Grammer Files Clemency Plea With McKeldin

ANNAPOLIS, May 18 (AP)—George Edward Grammer has made his bid for the only chance he now has to escape hanging the week of June 6 for killing his wife and faking it as an auto accident.

His attorneys have filed a plea for executive clemency with Gov. McKeldin. The governor's office says a requested hearing will be granted soon.

Just what plea former Baltimore Judge Joseph Sherbow and Grammer's other attorneys will use before McKeldin was not disclosed, nor were the contents of Sherbow's letter.

The Supreme Bench of Baltimore and the Maryland Court of Appeals both upheld the trial and verdict and the U. S. Supreme Court refused to review the case.

Grammer's 33-year-old wife, and mother of their three children, was found dead in their wrecked automobile the night of Aug. 19, 1952. Police at first guessed the accident was responsible for her death.

Medical studies, however, showed she had been dead of bludgeoning before the accident and Grammer was arrested.

State De-Segregation Must Wait Until 1955

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins said today "nothing can be accomplished until next year" by Maryland in following a U. S. Supreme Court decision to eliminate segregation in public schools.

"How and when de-segregation takes place will be solved finally by the Supreme Court in supplemental rulings of the court in the late fall. Nothing can be accomplished until next year, following the court's final rulings," Rollins said.

He added, "When these questions and problems are finally resolved by the court, however, Maryland, under the leadership of Gov. McKeldin, will comply with the directives of the Supreme Court without equivocation."

Rollins called for "the application of tolerance and common sense" and said he hoped "we can use it and apply it to these problems and their solution to the satisfaction of all."

Three Baltimore Women Convicted In Bank Robbery

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Three young Baltimore women were convicted today of helping plan and then hiding with four gunmen who pulled off the $30,000 April Fool's Day robbery of a branch bank.

Judge S. Ralph Warnken found them guilty of conspiracy and being accessories before and after the robbery.

Three of the gunmen have pleaded guilty. A fourth faces trial.

One of the women testified today the men had sworn "they would never go down like John Dillinger did because of a girl."

Dillinger, notorious public enemy of the 1930's, was trapped in a Chicago theater after a girl friend tipped the FBI he was there.

Mrs. Beverly Cecilia Wilson, 18, told of the Dillinger statement when she was asked if she and the other women involved in the bank robbery had ever been threatened.

She is the wife of Charles A. Wilson, 20, one of those who has pleaded guilty to the stickup at the Provident Savings Bank in east Baltimore.

Convicted with her were Mrs. Doris Hale Cribley, 20, wife of another of the confessed holdup men, John H. Cribley, alias Craig, and Miss Beverly Ann Nestor, 16, who testified she had been living with Charles E. Harmon, 23, the third man to plead guilty.

New Hearings Slated On Battery Additive

A controversy that caused one government career employe to lose and then regain his job, and that involved the resignation of a sub-cabinet official, is about to make news again. The Federal Trade Commission has formally accused Jess Ritchie of Oakland, Calif., of using false and misleading advertising and has set a hearing for June 14. The accusation arises out of Ritchie's claim that his battery additive, AD-X2, can lengthen the life of storage batteries.

Dr. Allen V. Astin had been forced to resign as director of the National Bureau of Standards in March 1953, bceause of his disapproval of claims made for the battery additive. After many scientists protested and 400 scientists and technicians in the bureau threatened to quit, Dr. Astin on April 17 was temporarily reinstated. And on August 21 he was fully reinstated by Secretary of Commerce Weeks in the "best interests of the bureau and the public."

The resignation of Craig R. Scheaffer as assistant secretary of commerce for tiomestic affairs was announced on September 19. Scheaffer was generally believed to have been responsible for the original ouster of Dr. Astin.

Findings of the National Bureau of Standards on the battery additive were upheld on November 13 by a committee of scientists named by the National Academy of Sciences. The committee pronounced the additive worthless.

The 1953 controversy was touched off by a Post Office Department fraud order, first suspended and then revoked. The order would have prevented delivery to Ritchie of mail and money orders.

The new action against Ritchie precludes a Post Office order. A final "cease and desist" order by the FTC would be as effective as a Post Office fraud order, for Ritchie would have no way to claim capabilities for his battery additive.

Ritchie has filed a detailed denial of the FTC charges. A similar denial was made by Ritchie during a special investigation by the Senate Small Business Committee. The investigation led to the cancellation of the Post Office order.

The FTC now holds that the claims of Ritchie and Pioneers, Inc., which Ritchie heads, are "to the prejudice and the injury of the public and constitute unfair and deceptive practices in commerce within the intent and meaning of the Federal Trade Commission Act."

The Medical Colleges

Most of us worry about the unimportant things, the ephemeral, but many really important matters pass unnoticed. A most serious problem that faces the American people is the possibility that many of our medical schools may be forced to close down or to curtail their services. This can leave our country without adequate facilities to produce the next generation of physicians, surgeons, psychiatrists and other specialists in the field of medicine.

There are 79 medical schools in this country. They are practically all in serious financial straits. Tuition fees, it is reported, have been raised to the limit. The same report says that because of the reduction of the teaching staff and the impairment of teaching programs, teaching time has been cut by seven per cent since a decade ago. Several schools are now debating whether they can continue; some may be forced to close down or to become state institutions.

Each year the 79 medical schools of the country educate 27,000 students, graduating about 6,600 doctors. No matter how high the tuition fees may be, no medical school is able to pay its own way. In addition to these regular students, the medical schools provide refresher courses for 17,000 practicing physicians and train about 11,000 specialists in all fields.

Each medical school must have laboratories and research departments, which are very expensive. Sometimes private corporations support these research departments, but these costs are never quite covered as new discoveries require the purchase of expensive teaching aids. For instance, a modern electronic microscope costs $20,000; in the old days, a microscope would cost a few dollars. Many new instruments, each costing thousands of dollars, have to be acquired if a medical school is to be of real value, not only as a teaching but also as a research center.

A committee has been organized to appeal for funds to rescue the American medical schools from obsolescence and, in some cases, disappearance. This committee is headed by S. Sloan Colt and Colby M. Chester and it is devoting itself to the raising of $10,000,000 a year to feed these medical schools so that they can continue to function properly in their fields. The alternatives are that the government take over the medical schools as they go bankrupt or that as these schools fail, an increasing number of Americans go to Europe where they can get training in their field, often not up to the standards to which we have become accustomed in this country. During the past half century and up to the present period of distress, the American medical school rose to a very high estate, so that many believed that our medical schools were the best in the world.

The present appeal is being made to corporations which, under the tax laws, are permitted to contribute to such funds with income tax allowances. A broad, general appeal is not being undertaken now in the hope that the gifts from business concerns will be sufficient to meet these requirements. Because of the great number of other appeals being made directly to the American people, it was felt that this appeal would be limited to corporations for the present.

One would imagine that some of the huge foundations could provide this entire sum without the disadvantage of being investigated at some later date. When the current activities of some foundations are examined, the question does arise whether the judgments of those in charge are always sound in relation to the best interests of the United States. Of course, these people have the legal right to spend the money they control as they choose.

But when I met Colby Chester, who is no longer a young man, on a plane recently coming up from Memphis, Tenn., and he told me that he was chasing all over the country hunting dollars for this cause, I wondered why there was not an easier way to gather this comparatively small fund for so useful a purpose. It ought to be collectible in midtown New York where hundreds of millions of dollars go a begging to be expended for less useful purposes. Some foundations have difficulty finding worthy causes for their funds. This is a cause against which there cannot be a single objection.

Report By Senate Group On McCarthy Showed Unusual Financial Situation

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republican, made a speech on the Senate floor the other day which did not get too much attention in the press, but which did get a lot of attention among his colleagues. What he said was that when he viewed the McCarthy-Army hearings and certain Senate "investigative" tactics, "the public good might be served if the Senate could find a hole into which all its members could crawl."

It happens that Senator Hendrickson is in an excellent position to talk about the McCarthy investigation. Because for two years he sat on an investigating committee which patiently and painstakingly sifted evidence regarding McCarthy himself, his bank records, his concealed speculating activities, the money he received to fight communism, the way he used some of that money for his own personal gain.

In the end Hendrickson and colleagues wrote the most damning report ever produced on a fellow senator, only to have it gather dust in the files of Attorney General Brownell.

So it can be understood why Hendrickson feels like crawling into a hole when he now sees the kid-glove treatment, the careful and gracious courtesy given to this same senator he investigated.

Report Is Scarce

The McCarthy report which Senator Hendrickson helped write two years ago was not well publicized in the press at the time. And shortly after McCarthy's friend, Senator Jenner of Indiana, became new head of the Rules Committee with jurisdiction over the Government Printing Office, it became impossible to buy copies of the dynamite-laden report. They simply disappeared. The Government Printing Office will tell you they are out of stock, and a copy at a second-hand bookstore is worth a small fortune.

However, I happen to have one of the first copies printed, and from it are taken the following interesting highlights of Joseph R. McCarthy's strange financial tangle:

Prior to McCarthy's campaign against communism, he was in constant hot water with his bank, the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis. At one time in 1946 he owed the bank $170,029.03. Though this had been reduced by varying amounts, the Senate committee's investigation clearly showed that McCarthy's financial problems vanished after he started his campaign against communism.

The Senate committee also raised doubts as to whether money given him to fight communism was not used for the senator's own pocketbook interest instead.

The report showed, for instance, that McCarthy's bank deposits at the Riggs National Bank where he banked in Washington, together with the deposits of his assistant, Ray Kiermas, "increased contemporaneously with the advent of McCarthy's 'fight' to expose Communists."

Joe's Deposits Zoom

In four years, 1948-1952, the committee reported, McCarthy deposited $172,623.18 in the Riggs bank, while Assistant Ray Kiermas deposited $96,921.26. During this same period, McCarthy's Senate salary was only $50,000.

Of this $172,623.18, the Senate noted, $19,000 of McCarthy's deposits were in cash, while $59,592.52 were from "unidentified sources." During the same period, the cash deposits of Ray Kiermas totaled $29,230, most of which was in amounts over $300.

The Senate committee went to a lot of work to track down part of this money. It found that some of it came from people who said they didn't care how McCarthy spent it, but much came from people who definitely expected him to spend their money to fight communism.

Frank Porter, president of the Fain-Porter Drilling Company, of Oklahoma City, was one who told Senate investigators he placed "no strings" on the $500 he gave McCarthy.

On the other hand, Craig Sheaffer, president of Sheaffer Pens, who later served as Eisenhower's assistant secretary of commerce and resigned after the Dr. Austin-Bureau of Standards row, gave $1,000 because of McCarthy's "fight against communism." Various other givers attached the same strings, causing the Senate committee to comment: "The money should have been deposited as a trust fund."

But the contrary happened. Instead, the committee found, there was "no connection between many of the disbursements from this account and any possible anti-Communist campagn."

Specifically McCarthy used this fund given him by the public to pay $73.80 on his own income taxes; $1,300 to give Ray Kiermas when his bank account was low; another check for $200 when another bank account was overdrawn; and $500 to speculate on the soybean market.

Soybeans vs. Communism

The soybean speculation was one of the most brazen uses of anti-Communist funds cited by the Senate committee. The money used by McCarthy to attempt to enrich his own pocket included $500 taken from his "general" bank account into which anti-Communist money had been deposited, plus $7,000 and $3,000 loaned him by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bentley.

Mr. Bentley, now congressman from Michigan, badly wounded by a Puerto Rican, told committee investigators his money was advanced for the purpose of fighting communism, and he would be disappointed if McCarthy "had used it for gambling or to advance his personal financial condition."

However, what McCarthy actually did was to establish a $10,500 special account at the National Savings and Trust in Washington, using $10,000 from the Bentleys, plus $500 from his Riggs general account. Then he had his secretary (now Mrs. McCarthy) transfer $10,000 of the $10,500 to the Continental Illinois Trust in Chicago payable to McCarthy's old friend, Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools at Appleton, Wis.

Van Straten, in turn, endorsed McCarthy's check to Wayne, Hummer, and Company, McCarthy's brokers. They in turn bought 30,000 bushels of soybeans—on margin.

This was in October 1950. One month later, the soybeans were sold, and Van Straten, receiving a check from Wayne, Hummer, endorsed it to Joe McCarthy. Joe, in turn, deposited it in his own general account in the Riggs bank.

"Why was it," asked the Senate committee, referring to the $10,000, "deposited in Sen. McCarthy's general account?"

This is just part of the strange story of Senator McCarthy's finances given him in large part to combat communism. More of the McCarthy story will be told in an early column.

Allies' Confusion Makes Communists More Arrogant

By David Lawrence

GENEVA—When 175 persons sit down together here in what is known as a "plenary session" of the Geneva Conference, there isn't any chance for negotiation. And when the "restricted session" of 45 persons gets together, it isn't much more conducive to heart-to-heart talks or conciliatory processes. It's long-winded speech-making just the same.

The futility of all these methods is recognized here, but nevertheless the window dressing is important because behind the scenes, the five men who lead the delegations from the United States, Soviet Russia, Great Britain, France and Red China, respectively, can get together if they wish and make agreements or decide to disagree.

Reds Get More Arrogant

Up to now, a number of private meetings and informal discussions have been held, but they all add up to the fact that the Communists do not feel they have to give any ground whatsoever. As the Communists see it, they have an influential bloc in the French Parliament and they have the advantage of a close division in the British Parliament. Now, in addition, they have some new encouragement from within the United States because spokesmen for the Democratic party have just launched a general attack on the Eisenhower-Dulles policies.

The inside story here is that the terms the Soviets offer have been getting tougher and tougher. Every time there is a speech disparaging the Southeast Asia pact or some utterance, either in America or in Europe, from the Allied side saying there will be no military help given the French in Indochina, the Communists get more and more arrogant.

Here the game is plain to see. It doesn't look at all like it does to American eyes, judging from a reading of American newspapers.

Harriman Speech Confusing

Thus, the speech by Averell Harriman, former ambassador to London under the Truman-Acheson regime, accusing Secretary Dulles of trying to effect a united front in Indochina without first consulting Great Britain—which, of course, is not true—merely serves to muddy the waters here. Although several Democratic speakers are engaged in a campaign to discredit their own government in the eyes of the Alleis, the Allied governments know politics and really understand such things. The Communists, however, interpret it as a sign of weakness and as an indication that the American government will not be able to back up its assertions because of political opposition.

Actually, America's role in the world today is so difficult and so delicate that one wonders why the Democrats, who know what they themselves were up against with the Allied problems of the last several years, should now think the whole thing can be simplified.

What goes on behind the scenes today is a discouraging affair for American officials because the Allied governments outwardly protest against such things as hasty action on a Southeast Asia pact or military intervention when, in truth, there is privately every desire to see more speeches delivered like those of Senator Knowland, Republican leader, discussing American military aid in Indochina.

Time For Patience

Firmness nowadays by our diplomats is interpreted widely as belligerency by various elements unfriendly to America. Yet appeasement — so often advocated in Europe—can bring the very belligerency that everybody dreads.

But, despite the discouragements, this conference cannot be written off as a failure. For if face-to-face negotiation in a conference like this, with its opportunities for the principals to get together privately, ends without result, the chances of the Communists ever getting the West into more conferences — their chief vehicles for propaganda—become dim. It is a time for patience, and the American government is exhibiting it aplenty nowadays.

Anxiety About Heart Disease May Prove Troublesome

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Some individuals are more susceptible than others to suggestion. John was like this and his "heart trouble" dated back to the time when he consulted a physician because of a peculiar sensation over the left side of the chest. The medico, after listening to John's heart, looked puzzled and asked numerous questions about palpitation and shortness of breath. Finally the physician suggested consultation with a specialist as he was uncertain about the condition of the organ. As John left the office, he was breathing deeply and his heart was pounding harder than usual. By the time he arrived home, his fears had become exaggerated and he was positive his days were numbered.

The first specialist he went to see said John's heart was perfect; so did the second and third. But John remains unconvinced and has become a partial invalid because of the fear instilled ni his mind by the original physician.

The physician in question was honest and reasonable in his handling of the case but did not realize he was dealing with a personality predisposed to anxiety. This young man was born with an unstable nervous system that was fertile ground for the seeds of suggestion that his heart was abnormal. A less susceptible would have been satisfied with the expert opinion of the first specialist.

This is one of many ways to acquire a nervous heart. A frown on the physician's face as he listens with the stethoscope is taken to indicate heart irregularities, even though the patient is told the action of the structure is perfect. In other instances, symptoms are present that act as starters for a chain of events that grows to voluminous proportions. This inherent background leads the individual to interpret erroneously a mile of the heart.

During the war, many service men developed palpitation, shortness of breath, and dizziness while doing strenuous military maneuvers. The slightest suggestion from a buddy, corpsman, or medical officer would confirm their suspicion of heart disease. When unconvinced that the organ was normal, they would go to pieces if asked to undergo strenuous exercise or military training. At this stage, the fear of developing a heart attack is incapacitating. Additional symptoms arise, including headache, sighing, trembling, throbbing, insomnia, and dryness of the mouth.

These men are in need of advice and help that goes beyond the scope of the heart. Other problems in the practice of medicine are concerned wtih actual victims of heart disease who have developed symptoms unrelated to the cardiac condition.

TOMORROW: Take precautions with insecticides.

HYDROCHLORIC ACID

R. H. C. writes: Can a person who must take hydrochloric acid the rest of his life lead a normal existence?

REPLY

Yes, but this is a small price to pay for relief of symptoms stemming from lack of hydrochloric acid. You might be interested in knowing that one person in 10 lacks this acid but only a small percentage of this group develops symptoms or needs to take supplementary acid to remain comfortable.

ANATOMY

This area includes parts of the large and small intestines, the tip of the spleen and left kidney, left ovary, left adrenal gland, and tail of the pancreas. The large intestine is the most frequent site of trouble in this area.

TEMPORARY HELP

Cortisone is beneficial, but the effects are temporary.

Any rose colored rash.

NERVOUS FATIGUE

Yes. Among the highstrung this cause accounts for 30 to 50 percent of all fatigue.

VOCAL CORD GROWTH

REPLY

The voice usually returns to normal unless the operation was extensive.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An alert visitor can pick up several useful hints in the golden sunshine of California, where the flying movie producers play. For instance, there's one agent who opens every conversation with a client by saying bitterly, "I shouldn't even be talking to you, you so-and-so. I heard exactly what you said about me two days ago." This forestalls many a beef by a dissatisfied client. Chances are excellent he really did villify his agent somewhere along the line, and if he didn't, he thinks he did. He now definitely has lost the offensive, and is off balance for the rest of the meeting.

Ossie Ball writes there's a new girl up in Provincetown who's so ugly people are saying she came across the Bay on the Wallflower.

Russia And Top Scientists

By Bob Considine

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The administration is concerned by reports that it will not be many years before Russia will be developing more scientists of phd rating than the United States.

An extraordinary campaign of proselyting Russian boys in the 10-to-12 year age group and literally force-feeding them until graduation from special schools has paid off brilliantly, Washington hears. Only children with better than average marks in mathematics are tapped for this elite corps. They are not given the right to turn down the offer, nor are their parents permitted to do so in their name. But few would anyway. The Russian scientist has joined the Russian literary and musical figures and Kremlin officialdom in the new post-czarist aristocracy.

Washington's opinion of the Russian brain has made a 180 degree turn since 1949. The Soviet Union's canny development of the atomic and the hydogen bombs were deciding factors. Heavily contributing to the new-found respect for the enemy's know-how was his production of the agile MIG-15, good Russian tanks, outstanding mortars and—as May 1—positive assurances he has at least the prototype of an intercontinental jet bomber.

As far as the U. S. air force knows, the four-jet bomber that zipped over Moscow on May Day is the first serious gesture Russia has ever made in the bomber line. Its air power until now has been confined largely to fighters, which means it had committed itself to defense of Russian home targets rather than the prospect of waging an air war.

In the meanwhile, Washington learns on the best authority, Russia is not neglecting its friends. In North Korea, for instance, Russian engineers have constructed a new railroad and vehicular bridge across the Yalu in the central nothern section of the satellite. Extensive repairs and improvements have been made on North Korean air bases, and MIGs have been moved into them. MIGs fly by squadrons at night, their pilots training out of sight of U. N. observers.

State Department circles are sure Russia gave the word that resulted in the suicidal attacks on Dien Bien Phu, as well as supplied the weapons through the Red Chinese. As a bit of real estate in that far-flung and loosely-knit war, Dien Bien Phu was not important. What was important was that Red negotiators at Geneva needed a decisive victory in Indochina. They got it and with it they crushed John Foster Dulles' dream of immediate Anglo-French cooperation in his proposed "united stand" in Indochina.

Men charged with keeping tabs on what Russia is up to have burned a lot of midnight electricity in Washington since the murder of Beria. They keep Red leaders under a strong microscope. They'd much prefer an amenable Kremlin to an all-out military defeat of the U.S.S.R. by the United States and her allies. They are constantly on the alert for changes in the Kremlin climate.

It now seems agreed that Malenkov knocked off Beria only a few days before Beria would have done the same to him. Malenkov is not too secure in the saddle even with Beria liquidated. Apparently, Khrushchev is coming up fast. Pravda goes to the utmost precautions before it prints a picture of a group of top Russia nabobs. The one it selected to illustrate its May Day stories showed Malenkov looking away from the camera glumly and Khrushchev smiling from ear to ear and waving his hat to the crowd.

I haven't found any Australians in Washington who have lost sleep over Russia's indignant-sounding recall of its diplomats assigned down under. The feeling is that Russia pulled in its people only in fear there would be further defections. The epidemic nature of these defections is rated in Washington as more of a headache for the Kremlin than the U. S. bomb stockpile and the B-52.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Australia and Russia are no longer on speaking terms. That means politically, of course. Geographically the two nations never were within shouting distance of each other.

Four Yale profs have finished eight years' work on a 900-page book on engineering. That's quite a construction job.

U. S. population increased 2,746,000 over 1953. Now a seat on the bus will be harder than ever to find.

Europe, according to a cabled dispatch today, in contrast to the United States, is enjoying ideal "baseball" weather. The only hitch is that they don't play baseball over there.

GENEVA—When 175 persons sit down together here in what is known as a "plenary session" of the Geneva Conference, there isn't any chance for negotiation. And when the "restricted session" of 45 persons gets together, it isn't much more conducive to heart-to-heart talks or conciliatory processes. It's long-winded speech-making just the same.

The futility of all these methods is recognized here, but nevertheless the window dressing is important because behind the scenes, the five men who lead the delegations from the United States, Soviet Russia, Great Britain, France and Red China, respectively, can get together if they wish and make agreements or decide to disagree.

Reds Get More Arrogant

Up to now, a number of private meetings and informal discussions have been held, but they all add up to the fact that the Communists do not feel they have to give any ground whatsoever. As the Communists see it, they have an influential bloc in the French Parliament and they have the advantage of a close division in the British Parliament. Now, in addition, they have some new encouragement from within the United States because spokesmen for the Democratic party have just launched a general attack on the Eisenhower-Dulles policies.

The inside story here is that the terms the Soviets offer have been getting tougher and tougher. Every time there is a speech disparaging the Southeast Asia pact or some utterance, either in America or in Europe, from the Allied side saying there will be no military help given the French in Indochina, the Communists get more and more arrogant.

Here the game is plain to see. It doesn't look at all like it does to American eyes, judging from a reading of American newspapers.

Harriman Speech Confusing

Thus, the speech by Averell Harriman, former ambassador to London under the Truman-Acheson regime, accusing Secretary Dulles of trying to effect a united front in Indochina without first consulting Great Britain—which, of course, is not true—merely serves to muddy the waters here. Although several Democratic speakers are engaged in a campaign to discredit their own government in the eyes of the Alleis, the Allied governments know politics and really understand such things. The Communists, however, interpret it as a sign of weakness and as an indication that the American government will not be able to back up its assertions because of political opposition.

Actually, America's role in the world today is so difficult and so delicate that one wonders why the Democrats, who know what they themselves were up against with the Allied problems of the last several years, should now think the whole thing can be simplified.

What goes on behind the scenes today is a discouraging affair for American officials because the Allied governments outwardly protest against such things as hasty action on a Southeast Asia pact or military intervention when, in truth, there is privately every desire to see more speeches delivered like those of Senator Knowland, Republican leader, discussing American military aid in Indochina.

Time For Patience

Firmness nowadays by our diplomats is interpreted widely as belligerency by various elements unfriendly to America. Yet appeasement—so often advocated in Europe—can bring the very belligerency that everybody dreads.

But, despite the discouragements, this conference cannot be written off as a failure. For if face-to-face negotiation in a conference like this, with its opportunities for the principals to get together privately, ends without result, the chances of the Communists ever getting the West into more conferences — their chief vehicles for propaganda—become dim. It is a time for patience, and the American government is exhibiting it aplenty nowadays.

Report By Senate Group On McCarthy Showed Unusual Financial Situation

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republican, made a speech on the Senate floor the other day which did not get too much attention in the press, but which did get a lot of attention among his colleagues. What he said was that when he viewed the McCarthy-Army hearings and certain Senate "investigative" tactics, "the public good might be served if the Senate could find a hole into which all its members could crawl."

It happens that Senator Hendrickson is in an excellent position to talk about the McCarthy investigation. Because for two years he sat on an investigating committee which patiently and painstakingly sifted evidence regarding McCarthy himself, his bank records, his concealed speculating activities, the money he received to fight communism, the way he used some of that money for his own personal gain.

In the end Hendrickson and colleagues wrote the most damning report ever produced on a fellow senator, only to have it gather dust in the files of Attorney General Brownell.

So it can be understood why Hendrickson feels like crawling into a hole when he now sees the kid-glove treatment, the careful and gracious courtesy given to this same senator he investigated.

Report Is Scarce

The McCarthy report which Senator Hendrickson helped write two years ago was not well publicized in the press at the time. And shortly after McCarthy's friend, Senator Jenner of Indiana, became new head of the Rules Committee with jurisdiction over the Government Printing Office, it became impossible to buy copies of the dynamite-laden report. They simply disappeared. The Government Printing Office will tell you they are out of stock, and a copy at a second-hand bookstore is worth a small fortune.

However, I happen to have one of the first copies printed, and from it are taken the following interesting highlights of Joseph R. McCarthy's strange financial tangle:

Prior to McCarthy's campaign against communism, he was in constant hot water with his bank, the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis. At one time in 1946 he owed the bank $170,029.03. Though this had been reduced by varying amounts, the Senate committee's investigation clearly showed that McCarthy's financial problems vanished after he started his campaign against communism.

The Senate committee also raised doubts as to whether money given him to fight communism was not used for the senator's own pocketbook interest instead.

The report showed, for instance, that McCarthy's bank deposits at the Riggs National Bank where he banked in Washington, together with the deposits of his assistant, Ray Kiermas, "increased contemporaneously with the advent of McCarthy's 'fight' to expose Communists."

Joe's Deposits Zoom

In four years, 1948-1952, the committee reported, McCarthy deposited $172,623.18 in the Riggs bank, while Assistant Ray Kiermas deposited $96,921.26. During this same period, McCarthy's Senate salary was only $50,000.

Of this $172,623.18, the Senate noted, $19,000 of McCarthy's deposits were in cash, while $59,592.52 were from "unidentified sources." During the same period, the cash deposits of Ray Kiermas totaled $29,230. most of which was in amounts over $300.

The Senate committee went to a lot of work to track down part of this money. It found that some of it came from people who said they didn't care how McCarthy spent it, but much came from people who definitely expected him to spend their money to fight communism.

Frank Porter, president of the Fain-Porter Drilling Company, of Oklahoma City, was one who told Senate investigators he placed "no strings" on the $500 he gave McCarthy.

On the other hand, Craig Sheaffer, president of Sheaffer Pens, who later served as Eisenhower's assistant secretary of commerce and resigned after the Dr. Austin-Bureau of Standards row, gave $1,000 because of McCarthy's "fight against communism." Various other givers attached the same strings, causing the Senate committee to comment: "The money should have been deposited as a trust fund."

But the contrary happened. Instead, the committee found, there was "no connection between many of the disbursements from this account and any possible anti-Communist campagn."

Specifically McCarthy used this fund given him by the public to pay $73.80 on his own income taxes; $1,300 to give Ray Kiermas when his bank account was low; another check for $200 when another bank account was overdrawn; and $500 to speculate on the soybean market.

Soybeans vs. Communism

The soybean speculation was one of the most brazen uses of anti-Communist funds cited by the Senate committee. The money used by McCarthy to attempt to enrich his own pocket included $500 taken from his "general" bank account into which anti-Communist money had been deposited, plus $7,000 and $3,000 loaned him by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bentley.

Mr. Bentley, now congressman from Michigan, badly wounded by a Puerto Rican, told committee investigators his money was advanced for the purpose of fighting communism, and he would be disappointed if McCarthy "had used it for gambling or to advance his personal financial condition."

However, what McCarthy actually did was to establish a $10,500 special account at the National Savings and Trust in Washington, using $10,000 from the Bentleys, plus $500 from his Riggs general account. Then he had his secretary (now Mrs. McCarthy) transfer $10,000 of the $10,500 to the Continental Illinois Trust in Chicago payable to McCarthy's old friend, Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools at Appleton, Wis.

Van Straten, in turn, endorsed McCarthy's check to Wayne, Hummer, and Company, McCarthy's brokers. They in turn bought 30,000 bushels of soybeans—on margin.

This was in October 1950. One month later, the soybeans were sold, and Van Straten, receiving a check from Wayne, Hummer, endorsed it to Joe McCarthy. Joe, in turn, deposited it in his own general account in the Riggs bank.

"Why was it," asked the Senate committee, referring to the $10,000, "deposited in Sen. McCarthy's general account?"

This is just part of the strange story of Senator McCarthy's finances given him in large part to combat communism. More of the McCarthy story will be told in an early column.

Russia And Top Scientists

By Bob Considine

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The administration is concerned by reports that it will not be many years before Russia will be developing more scientists of phd rating than the United States.

An extraordinary campaign of proselyting Russian boys in the 10-to-12 year age group and literally force-feeding them until graduation from special schools has paid off brilliantly, Washington hears. Only children with better than average marks in mathematics are tapped for this elite corps. They are not given the right to turn down the offer, nor are their parents permitted to do so in their name. But few would anyway. The Russian scientist has joined the Russian literary and musical figures and Kremlin officialdom in the new post-czarist aristocracy.

Washington's opinion of the Russian brain has made a 180 degree turn since 1949. The Soviet Union's canny development of the atomic and the hydogen bombs were deciding factors. Heavily contributing to the new-found respect for the enemy's know-how was his production of the agile MIG-15, good Russian tanks, outstanding mortars and—as May 1—positive assurances he has at least the prototype of an intercontinental jet bomber.

As far as the U. S. air force knows, the four-jet bomber that zipped over Moscow on May Day is the first serious gesture Russia has ever made in the bomber line. Its air power until now has been confined largely to fighters, which means it had committed itself to defense of Russian home targets rather than the prospect of waging an air war.

In the meanwhile, Washington learns on the best authority, Russia is not neglecting its friends. In North Korea, for instance, Russian engineers have constructed a new railroad and vehicular bridge across the Yalu in the central nothern section of the satellite. Extensive repairs and improvements have been made on North Korean air bases, and MIGs have been moved into them. MIGs fly by squadrons at night, their pilots training out of sight of U. N. observers.

State Department circles are sure Russia gave the word that resulted in the suicidal attacks on Dien Bien Phu, as well as supplied the weapons through the Red Chinese. As a bit of real estate in that far-flung and loosely-knit war, Dien Bien Phu was not important. What was important was that Red negotiators at Geneva needed a decisive victory in Indochina. They got it and with it they crushed John Foster Dulles' dream of immediate Anglo-French cooperation in his proposed "united stand" in Indochina.

Men charged with keeping tabs on what Russia is up to have burned a lot of midnight electricity in Washington since the murder of Beria. They keep Red leaders under a strong microscope. They'd much prefer an amenable Kremlin to an all-out military defeat of the U.S.S.R. by the United States and her allies. They are constantly on the alert for changes in the Kremlin climate.

It now seems agreed that Malenkov knocked off Beria only a few days before Beria would have done the same to him. Malenkov is not too secure in the saddle even with Beria liquidated. Apparently, Khrushchev is coming up fast. Pravda goes to the utmost precautions before it prints a picture of a group of top Russia nabobs. The one it selected to illustrate its May Day stories showed Malenkov looking away from the camera glumly and Khrushchev smiling from ear to ear and waving his hat to the crowd.

I haven't found any Australians in Washington who have lost sleep over Russia's indignant-sounding recall of its diplomats assigned down under. The feeling is that Russia pulled in its people only in fear there would be further defections. The epidemic nature of these defections is rated in Washington as more of a headache for the Kremlin than the U. S. bomb stockpile and the B-52.

Anxiety About Heart Disease May Prove Troublesome

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Some individuals are more susceptible than others to suggestion. John was like this and his "heart trouble" dated back to the time when he consulted a physician because of a peculiar sensation over the left side of the chest. The medico, after listening to John's heart, looked puzzled and asked numerous questions about palpitation and shortness of breath. Finally the physician suggested consultation with a specialist as he was uncertain about the condition of the organ. As John left the office, he was breathing deeply and his heart was pounding harder than usual. By the time he arrived home, his fears had become exaggerated and he was positive his days were numbered.

The first specialist he went to see said John's heart was perfect; so did the second and third. But John remains unconvinced and has become a partial invalid because of the fear instilled ni his mind by the original physician.

The physician in question was honest and reasonable in his handling of the case but did not realize he was dealing with a personality predisposed to anxiety. This young man was born with an unstable nervous system that was fertile ground for the seeds of suggestion that his heart was abnormal. A less susceptible would have been satisfied with the expert opinion of the first specialist.

This is one of many ways to acquire a nervous heart. A frown on the physician's face as he listens with the stethoscope is taken to indicate heart irregularities, even though the patient is told the action of the structure is perfect. In other instances, symptoms are present that act as starters for a chain of events that grows to voluminous proportions. This inherent background leads the individual to interpret erroneously a mile of the heart.

During the war, many service men developed palpitation, shortness of breath, and dizziness while doing strenuous military maneuvers. The slightest suggestion from a buddy, corpsman, or medical officer would confirm their suspicion of heart disease. When unconvinced that the organ was normal, they would go to pieces if asked to undergo strenuous exercise or military training. At this stage, the fear of developing a heart attack is incapacitating. Additional symptoms arise, including headache, sighing, trembling, throbbing, insomnia, and dryness of the mouth.

These men are in need of advice and help that goes beyond the scope of the heart. Other problems in the practice of medicine are concerned wtih actual victims of heart disease who have developed symptoms unrelated to the cardiac condition.

TOMORROW: Take precautions with insecticides.

An alert visitor can pick up several useful hints in the golden sunshine of California, where the flying movie producers play. For instance, there's one agent who opens every conversation with a client by saying bitterly, "I shouldn't even be talking to you, you so-and-so. I heard exactly what you said about me two days ago." This forestalls many a beef by a dissatisfied client. Chances are excellent he really did villify his agent somewhere along the line, and if he didn't, he thinks he did. He now definitely has lost the offensive, and is off balance for the rest of the meeting.

Liquor Board Beer License Action Deferred In Court

The Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County deferred a decision in the remonstrance against issuance of a beer license to the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company following a hearing yesterday in the auxiliary court room at the Court House.

A group of residents of the Valley Road community, headed by Rev. Elva Brotemarkle, protested against the granting of a beer permit on the grounds that numerous disturbances have occurred at the Fire Hall during the past year despite the fact the company has been without a license.

Urcel S. McCullough, president of the company, testified that since he took office recently there have been only a few minor disturbances, and that they were quickly quelled.

McCullough stated that during the past year there have been only about eight occasions when the hall was rented for dinners by organizations, while during the previous year over 100 such dinners were held at the hall.

Loss Of Revenue

He stated the lack of beer for the patrons, who usually hold a dance following the meal, has caused a big loss of revenue.

The fire company is in dire financial straits and needs the beer license to help finance the fire protection work it is doing, he added.

In answer to a question by Rev. Brotemarkle, who acted as counsel for the remonstrants, he said a collection among residents of the community for operation of the fire company several weeks ago brought in only $66. He also pointed out that the Bowman's Addition Fire Company is one of three in the county with Fire Underwriters rating, that the unit is active in Civil Defense and as a standby company for several other volunteer companies and the East Side Fire Company in Cumberland when needed.

Insurance Rate Drops

McCullough also stated that since organization of the fire unit at Bowman's Addition the fire insurance rate has dropped from about $13 to $8. He said that if the permit for a beer license is granted it was his intention to employ a member of the Cumberland Police Department, while off duty, to enforce law and order during dances or similar activities at the Fire Hall.

The board also issued an order yesterday citing Edward Belfoure, operator of the Hi-Dee Club on North Mechanic Street, to appear June 1 at 10 a. m. to show cause why his beer, wine and liquor license should not be revoked or suspended.

The Hi-Dee Club management was convicted in Trial Magistrates' Court several weeks ago on a charge of selling intoxicants to a minor.

Sgt. W. S. Evans, Marine Hero, Dies In Japan

A local Marine, Master Sgt. William Seymour "Bull" Evans, 32, who achieved prominence during the Korean conflict when he was permitted to wear a full beard contrary to military regulations, died Sunday in Japan.

Word of the death was received Monday in a telegram to his mother, Mrs. Rosa B. Evans, 477 Lena Street. He had been wounded three times while fighting the Communists in Korea.

Relatives last heard from him several weeks ago when he told of preparing to re-enter a hospital for additional treatment. He was hit in the stomach, chest and arm by enemy fire.

Married Japanese Girl

A brother, Charles M. Evans, of Cresaptown, said the stomach wound required 60 stitches. While in the Far East, Sgt. Evans married a Japanese girl. They have two children.

The sergeant gained national attention in 1951 when he was allowed to keep his crop of whiskers "as a symbol of the honor of the Marine Corps."

Records show the fuss over beards began when Major Gen. John T. Selden, commanding officer of the First Marine Division, became annoyed at the "generally unkempt" appearance of his men and ordered them to shave. Members in one company petitioned their officers to permit Sgt. Evans to keep his "beautiful crop," and he was exempted from the order.

Officially, Sgt. Evans was the only Marine authorized to have a beard.

During World War II, enemy fire hit the much-decorated sergeant twice in the South Pacific. He was separated from his patrol at Bougainville and trapped behind Jap lines for 10 hours.

'One-Man Army'

Dispatches said he established a "one-man Army" reputation for himself and earned the nickname "Bull" by going on a rampage in the jungles, killing a great number of the enemy.

After the war, Sgt. Evans was sent to Japan with occupation troops. There he met his wife, Chiyoka. His Japanese name was Shinga.

Born in Cumberland, the sergeant attended Cresaptown Junior High School before he enlisted in the Marine Corps at the age of 17. Survivors include two other brothers, Arthur Evans, Rawlings, and Clarence Evans, Cleveland, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Skinner, city. His father was the late Felix Evans.

News of his death was contained in a telegram from Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., USMC, commandant of Marine Corps, who stated: "Please accept my most heartfelt sympathy in your bereavement." He stated that a letter with details would follow.

Shook Is Given Jail Sentence

A Cumberlander, Herman Arthur Shook, 52, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris Monday in Circuit Court on a charge of stealing a quantity of brass fittings from the American Iron and Metal Company in this city.

Shook, who was nabbed when he and two 18-year-old youths tried to dispose of the material at a junk yard in Johnstown, Pa., has been in jail 20 days and this time will be credited to him on the six-month term.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty prosecuted the case on criminal information, and Clarence Shutter represented Shook.

Labor Temple Group Will Meet Friday

The Allegany Cooperative Labor Temple Association will have a stockholders' meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall to further plans for a labor temple.

Charles F. Bramble, chairman of the temple committee, said a vote will be taken on the disposition of the Trades Council Hall on Frederick Street.

Bramble said that at a special meeting last week all but one union reported favorably on their pledges to the new building. The sole union was not represented as nearly all of its members are working out of town, but Bramble indicated it would make its pledge.

The temple committee will put before stockholder member unions, all AFL locals, the proposition of selling the Trades Council Hall and then purchasing a larger home that will be used as a central labor union headquarters.

Original plans called for the razing of Trades Council Hall and constructing a new building on the lot.

Mrs. Buckley Given School Board Post

Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, has been reappointed to a five-year term as a member of the Allegany County Board of Education by Gov. McKeldin.

As set up by law the board is comprised of five members, three from the majority party and two from the minor party with two of the five members women.

With the Republicans being the majority party at present the board has three representatives of the GOP. Mrs. Buckley is a Republican.

Each year the term of one member of the board ends unless reappointed.

Mrs. Buckley has long been active in Parent-Teacher and school matters. She was supported for reappointment by the Allegany County Council of Parents and Teachers, and the organization was notified yesterday of the appointment by State Senator Robert B. Kimble.

He said that if the permit for a beer license is granted it was his intention to employ a member of the Cumberland Police Department, while off duty, to enforce law and order during dances or similar activities at the Fire Hall.

The board also issued an order yesterday citing Edward Belfoure, operator of the Hi-Dee Club on North Mechanic Street, to appear June 1 at 10 a. m. to show cause why his beer, wine and liquor license should not be revoked or suspended.

The Hi-Dee Club management was convicted in Trial Magistrates' Court several weeks ago on a charge of selling intoxicants to a minor.

Sgt. W. S. Evans, Marine Hero, Dies In Japan

A local Marine, Master Sgt. William Seymour "Bull" Evans, 32, who achieved prominence during the Korean conflict when he was permitted to wear a full beard contrary to military regulations, died Sunday in Japan.

Word of the death was received Monday in a telegram to his mother, Mrs. Rosa B. Evans, 477 Lena Street. He had been wounded three times while fighting the Communists in Korea.

Relatives last heard from him several weeks ago when he told of preparing to re-enter a hospital for additional treatment. He was hit in the stomach, chest and arm by enemy fire.

Married Japanese Girl

A brother, Charles M. Evans, of Cresaptown, said the stomach wound required 60 stitches. While in the Far East, Sgt. Evans married a Japanese girl. They have two children.

The sergeant gained national attention in 1951 when he was allowed to keep his crop of whiskers "as a symbol of the honor of the Marine Corps."

Records show the fuss over beards began when Major Gen. John T. Selden, commanding officer of the First Marine Division, became annoyed at the "generally unkempt" appearance of his men and ordered them to shave. Members in one company petitioned their officers to permit Sgt. Evans to keep his "beautiful crop," and he was exempted from the order.

Officially, Sgt. Evans was the only Marine authorized to have a beard.

During World War II, enemy fire hit the much-decorated sergeant twice in the South Pacific. He was separated from his patrol at Bougainville and trapped behind Jap lines for 10 hours.

'One-Man Army'

Dispatches said he established a "one-man Army" reputation for himself and earned the nickname "Bull" by going on a rampage in the jungles, killing a great number of the enemy.

After the war, Sgt. Evans was sent to Japan with occupation troops. There he met his wife, Chiyoka. His Japanese name was Shinga.

Born in Cumberland, the sergeant attended Cresaptown Junior High School before he enlisted in the Marine Corps at the age of 17. Survivors include two other brothers, Arthur Evans, Rawlings, and Clarence Evans, Cleveland, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Skinner, city. His father was the late Felix Evans.

News of his death was contained in a telegram from Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., USMC, commandant of Marine Corps, who stated: "Please accept my most heartfelt sympathy in your bereavement." He stated that a letter with details would follow.

WINS CONTEST—Leo C. Boyd, chief clerk to the storekeeper at the B&O Bolt and Forge Shops here, has won top honors in a nation-wide essay contest conducted by the Stores Division of the Association of American Railroads.

Thompson Improving

Magistrate Albin C. Thompson of Juvenile Court was reported improving yesterday at Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg, Pa., where he was admitted last Wednesday. He had gone to Pittsburgh to visit a daughter, Mrs. Samuel Craig.

Shook Is Given Jail Sentence

A Cumberlander, Herman Arthur Shook, 52, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris Monday in Circuit Court on a charge of stealing a quantity of brass fittings from the American Iron and Metal Company in this city.

Shook, who was nabbed when he and two 18-year-old youths tried to dispose of the material at a junk yard in Johnstown, Pa., has been in jail 20 days and this time will be credited to him on the six-month term.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty prosecuted the case on criminal information, and Clarence Shutter represented Shook.

Labor Temple Group Will Meet Friday

The Allegany Cooperative Labor Temple Association will have a stockholders' meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall to further plans for a labor temple.

Charles F. Bramble, chairman of the temple committee, said a vote will be taken on the disposition of the Trades Council Hall on Frederick Street.

Bramble said that at a special meeting last week all but one union reported favorably on their pledges to the new building. The sole union was not represented as nearly all of its members are working out of town, but Bramble indicated it would make its pledge.

The temple committee will put before stockholder member unions, all AFL locals, the proposition of selling the Trades Council Hall and then purchasing a larger home that will be used as a central labor union headquarters.

Original plans called for the razing of Trades Council Hall and constructing a new building on the lot.

Mrs. Buckley Given School Board Post

Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, has been reappointed to a five-year term as a member of the Allegany County Board of Education by Gov. McKeldin.

As set up by law the board is comprised of five members, three from the majority party and two from the minor party with two of the five members women.

With the Republicans being the majority party at present the board has three representatives of the GOP. Mrs. Buckley is a Republican.

Each year the term of one member of the board ends unless reappointed.

Mrs. Buckley has long been active in Parent-Teacher and school matters. She was supported for reappointment by the Allegany County Council of Parents and Teachers, and the organization was notified yesterday of the appointment by State Senator Robert B. Kimble.

Activities for the graduating class of LaSalle High School got underway Monday with a memorial mass in honor of the feast day of the founder of the Christian Brothers.

The mass for students and alumni of LaSalle was celebrated in St. Patrick's Church by The Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, and rural dean of Western Maryland.

Today, Thursday and Friday the 43 seniors will attend a spiritual retreat at Alverna, Pa., the summer home of the capuchin Order.

The retreat master will be Rev. Edward Stoehr, OFM, Cap. The event is intended to serve as part of the spiritual training of the students of LaSalle and a preparation for the moral life of the boys after graduation, according to Brother Daniel Hilary, FSC, principal.

The date of graduation Sunday, June 6, will begin with a mass for the graduates at 8:30 a. m. in St. Patrick's Church.

Commencement exercises will be held at 7 p. m. that day in Carroll Hall with Father Kilkenny presiding.

The speaker will be Brother Daniel Henry of the Philadelphia school system of the Christian Brothers.

The orchestra of St. Mary's High School, under the direction of Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor at St. Mary's Church, will supply the musical portion of the program.

Two Railroad Officials Hurt

Two officials of the Western Maryland Railway, both from Cumberland, were injured when the car in which they were riding towards Hagerstown Monday crashed into an abutment near Clear Spring.

According to Western Maryland Railway officials in Hagerstown, Barnes was driving the auto in which the two were traveling to the Hub City.

He attempted to pass an Army truck about one-half mile west of Clear Spring on Route 40 and crashed into a concrete abutment. The car was badly damaged.

Both men are traveling auditors for the railroad.

Lakes Note Gain

The city's water supply continues to show a slight improvement. The water level at Lake Gordon is five feet seven inches below the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon five feet below, according to a report filed with the Mayor and Council this week. Water use last week was 87,250,000 gallons compared to 81,310,000 the same period a year ago.

City Will Aid Ridgeley In Water Line Job

Cumberland has assured Ridgeley it will "lend" the West Virginia municipality enough money for a water line across the new interstate bridge providing the funds are repaid at a monthly rate, plus about 2½ per cent interest on the diminishing balance.

The Mayor and Council agreed to the action Monday at a pre-council session with Ridgeley Mayor William D. Bidinger, Commissioner Harry Kelso and J. H. Simmons, chairman of the flood control advisory committee for Ridgeley.

No amount was set although Simmons said work will probably cost $5,000. Cumberland would supply pipe and labor in conjunction with construction of the new bridge at Johnson Street.

Simmons said the amount involved could be repaid at a monthly rate.

To Seek Rate Increase

He added Ridgeley has to go before the Public Service Commission of West Virginia to get an increase in water rates to meet the improvement cost, as well as approval of a sewage assessment.

The sewage assessment, he explained later, is the result of an order from the West Virginia Board of Pollution that Ridgeley, along with other towns in the area, institute a program of sewage treatment. The assessment would pay for cost of preliminary surveys on a sewage treatment facility, and will cost approximately $1,200 to $1,500, Simmons added.

Assessment Temporary

This assessment will be dropped when the required amount is realized, but should Ridgeley later construct a sewage treatment facility, a permanent assessment to meet the cost would be necessary it was said.

Plans for the water line are being prepared by the PSC together with estimates by J. Paul Blundon, Keyser engineer, Simmons stated.

The water line will go across the new bridge. City Auditor Arthur B Gibson said the plan, in effect, is borrowing money and asked if Ridgeley would be willing to pay interest which is about 2½ per cent on the diminishing balance.

Simmons said he believed that plan all right. He explained to city officials council approval of the water line proposal today would help Ridgeley in its case before the West Virginia PSC.

Crank Letters Aired By Draft Board

Anonymous letters, bearing snide insinuations without cause, continue to plague Selective Service headquarters here.

"We are being hounded again as to why certain registrants are not in the service," P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator of draft boards in the Union Street County Building, said yesterday.

Fahey pointed out that the letters are "unnecessary due to the fact the public may visit this office at any time and find out why a registrant has been deferred because no classification is secret or permanent."

"In reference to college deferments, a registrant may be deferred as long as he meets the criteria set down by SS law, and may continue until he receives his degree which normally requires four years," he added.

"After the deferred student receives his degree, he may continue for his graduate or masters degree providing he meets the criteria to study for the degree. The requirements — he must have made a score of 75 or more on his college qualification test or be in the upper half bracket of his class in his graduation year.

"Also, after a student has received his degree from college, he may continue in college by studying for a law degree which requires three more years. Those studying for a law degree may be deferred for a period of seven years whereas a registrant trying for a graduate degree may be deferred for six years.

"The law is set up to permit a registrant to study for a doctor's degree which requires four additional years or a period of 10 years. However, none of the local boards have permitted a registrant to be deferred to study for a doctor's degree pertaining only to education."

Registrants who have had no active duty in the armed forces are liable for military training until they attain their thirty-fifth birthday.

Piedmont Orders New Crackdown On Speeding

Certain Streets Will Be Stressed

PIEDMONT — The Mayor and City Councilmen issued instructions at the meeting Monday evening to Chief Police Harrison and Officer Saville to spend as much time as possible in patroling East and West Hampshire Streets, West Fairview, Childs Avenue and Ashfield Street to stop the speeding and running through stop signs.

The police were notified to give a warning to all those stopped for speeding the first time, take the license number, leave a copy of the license numbers with the city clerk and to keep an accurate account of all speedsters. The police will issue a tag to appear before the Mayor for the second offense.

Applications for positions at the Piedmont Swimming Pool for the summer months were read and studied. The appointments were made as follows: Gerald Harrison, Manager and life guard; Robert Thomas McGoye, assistant life guard; Miss Olive Louise Metcalf, ticket seller; David McNemar, basket boy.

Uranium Deposit Found On Grant County Farm

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—Uranium has been found on the farm of Trace J. Burgess of Arthur in Grant County but the percentage found so far is slightly below commercial usage as now being mined elsewhere.

The finding of the uranium deposit near here has special value for two reasons. In the first place, probably the best part of the deposit has not been sampled. Secondly, the manner in which the formation was made might aid in locating, at some future time, other deposits of the same mineral in other parts of West Virginia.

Several surveys already have been made in the Grant County area. One was by representatives from the Geological Division of the State of West Virginia. The other was conducted by the U. S. Department of the Interior for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Other valuable minerals have been located close to the uranium. Similar results have been obtained from the numerous surveys and tests. The best authorities now say the radio-activity of the deposit to be far above any other known deposit in the Mountain State.

One of the rarest findings of minerals was near by. This mineral was mica. This particular mineral, in the state that it was found, was the first o such findings in West Virginia, according to a very recent authority. Certainly this will be of unusual interest to geologists in West Virginia and will get very special attention in the near future.

Since the uranium is found in combination with other sulphide minerals, many other minerals have been located in the same vicinity. The percentage of many of the other minerals is of commercial. Some of the best known are copper, lead, molybdenum, iron, titanium and nickel. Many other less important minerals have been found associated with the the above named minerals.

Plans are now well under way to begin core drilling. This probably will begin in the early summer. A reputable mining concern has quite recently made contacts with Burgess. According to a very recent report the final tests will be run following the core drilling.

Pool Necessities At Keyser Will Cost $7,500

Council Hears Problem Discussed

KEYSER—The cost of equipping the Keyser swimming pool with the necessities required by the State Health laws, was estimated yesterday by the consulting engineers at $7,500.

This amount is expected to provide the items that are absolutely necessary but will not provide for as much as was wanted.

The matter was discussed at the meeting of City Council with a representative of the engineers and a delegation of the City Recreation Board. Mayor John C. Freeland and members of council as well as the recreation board members have been hearing rumors about the high costs for the bare necessities to permit opening that they decided to get an engineer's estimate so that the wild rumors of cost can be stopped.

Much of the actual work will be done by city employes which will eliminate some of the heavy costs.

The Recreation Board asked the Council at the meeting to suggest names of members to succeed present members whose terms expire on June 30. Those whose terms expire this year are Edgell Grayson, Charles E. Kiser and Mrs. R. A. Stoutameyer. The Mayor and Council renamed the retiring members, but Grayson said he could not accept an appointment because of pressing business that he must attend to. When he insisted on having his name removed, the council body named Harland Ridder as one of the appointees subject to the action of the board. The three are named to serve until 1957.

Others on the board are George Spotts, William Stafford and Dana G. Lough, who terms expire in 1956; Jacob Shear, Gorman Mosser and Ward Daugherty, whose terms will expire in 1955.

The council endorsed John R. Shelton to be swimming pool manager and life guard at the new pool, on a suggestion from the Rec Board.

A letter from the Keyser Woman's Club asking that a bond issue be floated to raise funds to meet costs for completion of the swimming pool was read and filed.

Area Maple Sugar Industry Gain Cited

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The maple sugar industry in Western Maryland did somewhat better this spring than in recent years, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported today.

The statisticians estimated 29,000 trees were tapped between Feb. 18 and April 5, about 2,000 more than in the spring of 1953 and only 2,000 fewer than the 10-year average.

The marketing service said the increase resulted from the reopening of several sugar camps which had been closed for a year or more.

Boiling down the sap produced 21,000 gallons of sirup, about 6,000 gallons more than last year and 9,000 more than the 10-year average. Less of the sap was carried down to the sugar stage, however, with the year's production only 2,000 pounds, as compared with 3,000 pounds in 1953 and a 6,000 average for the previous ten years.

Area Maple Sugar Industry Gain Cited

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The maple sugar industry in Western Maryland did somewhat better this spring than in recent years, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported today.

The statisticians estimated 29,000 trees were tapped between Feb. 18 and April 5, about 2,000 more than in the spring of 1953 and only 2,000 fewer than the 10-year average.

The marketing service said the increase resulted from the reopening of several sugar camps which had been closed for a year or more.

Boiling down the sap produced 21,000 gallons of sirup, about 6,000 gallons more than last year and 9,000 more than the 10-year average. Less of the sap was carried down to the sugar stage, however, with the year's production only 2,000 pounds, as compared with 3,000 pounds in 1953 and a 6,000 average for the previous ten years.

A previous meeting of this group was held here January 29, at which time reimbursement for unusual expenses incurred by the town during the construction of the dam was tentatively agreed. Final disposition of Westernport's claim that the quality of its water has been impaired, was postponed until after June 8, 1954 when the testing program of the State Board of Health would be concluded.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 18 (INS) — "Sleep It Off" will follow "No Business Like Show Business" and "Seven Year Itch" for Marilyn Monroe. So it looks as if "The Lady and the Lumberjack" with Clark Gable will be postponed for sometime.

The idea back of "Sleep It Off," an original by Lyford Moore and Harlan Thompson, is very amusing. Marilyn plays a show girl who goes to college and disrupts the whole school. Can't you see her with that cute walk!

Nunnally Johnson, who will produce it, is already working on the script. This makes three lined up for 20th's most popular actress.

One of the most intriguing stories of the last war is the one about Eddie Chapman, British safecracker who turned patriot. A deal is all but closed for Alfred Hitchcock to make it with Cary Grant for Paramount.

Eddie's picture was on one of the national magazine covers, and his whole story written up.

When the Nazis bombed London, Eddie pretended to be on the side of the Germans and got invaluable information for the Allies. He did it without the knowledge of the British government, and so the former criminal became a real hero. It's a great story, and should make a fine motion picture.

Considering that I gave Helene Stanton her name for her career (she was Eleanor Stansbury) at the time the redheaded singer joined Jimmy McHugh's nightclub act, I'm interested to hear she's been signed for her first important screen role.

Helene plays the high priestess opposite Johnny Weismuller in "Jungle Jim and the Moon Man" at Columbia. The producer, Sam Katzman, tells me that Helene looks like a million in the test she made. She's tall and redheaded, not unlike Rita Hayworth, if Columbia will pardon the comparison.

Helene has a beautiful soprano voice — but she won't warble in the "Jungle" opus.

If his ex-wife, Liz, now Mrs. Hudson McGuire, does not agree to an amicable adjustment of the custody of their son — Dan Dailey will go into court to protest the boy's leaving California to make his home with his mother and new stepfather in Kansas.

Says Dan, "I don't want to go to court. But I can't stand by and see my 6-year-old son taken so far away that I cannot see him except for the one month during the summer agreed upon at the time of our divorce.

"I don't believe this is to the best interests of young Dan — and I know it isn't to my own best interests."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The babies were baptized by Monsignor Patrick J. Concannon at the Church of the Good Shepherd, and this was a reception in their honor.

It was so nice to see Mrs. Giannini, Sr., and to reminisce about old times when Dr. Giannini was so much a part of our industry. He financed so many of our pioneer producers.

Comedian Lou Costello is as proud as punch. His 6-year-old daughter Christine has the inside track for the role of Baby Snooks on TV next fall. Surprising that they're considering a child, since this is the late Fannie Brice's famous character.

Teenagers held Montgomery Clift up for 45 minutes, making him late for the opening of his play, "The Seagull." He had to do the first act sans make up.

No wonder Louise and Hal Wallis are proud. Their son, Brent, graduates from Occidental next month a Phi Beta Kappa.

They're all doing it. Now it's Kirk Douglas who will wax two songs for Decca, with an option for 12 more.

Before Peter Lawford married Pat Kennedy he was working on an act with Judy Holliday. Now Judy has decided to do a solo in Las Vegas.

The real reason Kurt Kaszner asked for his MGM release is that he didn't get the Romberg role in "Deep in My Heart," which he so wanted.

Joan Weldon and Byron Palmer will do a 26 TV series in which they'll sing light opera. It's being sponsored by the telephone company, and top musical arranger Nelson Riddle will direct the music.

Cubby Broccoli flew in Saturday to visit his wife and newly adopted son.

Kathryn Grayson's sister, Actress Frances Raeburn, expects her fourth baby in the fall. This will make Kathryn an aunt for the 17th time!

Grace Kelly telephoned Clark Gable to read him a clipping from a New York newspaper which said he had given her a $20,000 diamond bracelet. Grace has the bracelet all right, but Clark didn't give it to her — her parents did.

Ethel Merman's daughter, Ethel Jr., is being confirmed the 26th of May. Ethel can't be with her so she sent her mother, Mrs. Agnes Zinnerman of New York, a plane ticket to Denver to be with the little girl.

Producer Bob Welch expects to get back to work in about a month. He's taken off 57 pounds.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

There are two ways of saying things you don't mean; if you are guilty of either, resolve to mind your manners!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You'll surely wind up in hot water if you repeatedly say things you don't mean. That statement applies both to the promise you've no intention of keeping, and to the lightly tossed statement that is received seriously.

Maybe you've never suffered the consequences of either type of mis-statement. But you can't always depend on the easy out. It's better to be sincere and serious than to be flippant.

Say it and mean it, or don't say it at all! If you are affirmative in your words and promises, you'll be recognized as an individual who is dependable — a definite plus value when it comes to friendship or to business.

An Example

You recall the old story about the boy who cried wolf? Well, there's a parallel in the person who says "I'll do it!"—but doesn't follow through. The time will arrive when you particularly wish to take on an assignment that won't be offered because of your past record of inadequacies. Perhaps the assignment will be a better job or a club presidency, and when the question of your capability arises it will be too late to atone for previous short-comings.

An example of the casual remark wrongly taken is a little incident my secretary described. A woman in an elevator exclaimed bluntly to her companion, "That's the silliest hat you're wearing!"

Commented my secretary, "You could tell the woman intended her remark as an offhand compliment, but her friend was obviously insulted."

Think Twice

In your own mind the airy phrase may be just that, airy and intended to be taken with a laugh. Even if you state it with a laugh, it may not be greeted as laughable. So, think twice before you voice a thought that might conceivably be cutting.

A charming woman tempers her remarks as she tempers her voice, so as to be appealing to her audience of one or one hundred. When she makes a promise, she keeps it; when she makes a statement, she means it. She's friendly, sincere... and popular.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow—Luncheon suggestions.

Congress Is Told Of Md. Classroom Space Shortage

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — Maryland is forced to teach 76,109 of its 409,570 public school pupils in makeshift classrooms such as converted garages, Congress was told yesterday.

This problem of classroom space shortages in Maryland is getting progressively worse, testified Milson C. Raver, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Assn.

He told a Senate Education subcommittee "we in Maryland must build new schools fast enough to provide almost 1,000 additional classrooms each year until 1960."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), is considering legislation to authorize federal aid for school construction.

Maryland's counties and Baltimore, said Raver, simply cannot afford to finance "the lion's share" of school construction costs, because of money spent on "tremendous building projects" since World War II.

"During the past decade of crowded classrooms, double shifts and teacher shifts, the enrollment of Maryland public schools has shown an increase of 140,000," he said.

"Another jump of 130,000 pupils is anticipated the next six years."

The worst school crowding problems in his state, he said, are in Baltimore and the area near Washington.

Secretary To Three First Ladies Horrified By Secret Service Probe

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary to three first ladies, once found herself investigated by the Secret Service — to the amusement of the late President Roosevelt.

Edith Benham Helm tells about it in her book "The Captains and the Kings", released today. It relates her experiences in the Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman administrations.

Her memoirs and memory go back to being kissed as a child of four by ex-President Grant and objecting to his beard and tobacco odor.

There is a chuckle on nearly every page, many of them at her own expense. But that business of being investigated horrified her 20 years ago.

Mrs. Helm relates that since there was no provision for the social secretary's salary, she was a "loan" to the White House and was paid by whatever government agency might have some financial margin.

"Finally I landed with a very sensitive agency, which investigated its employes carefully," she says.

That summer she went to Grayville, Ill., where her late husband, Rear Adm. James M. Helm, had acquired 900 acres of rich farmland. N. B. Seil, publisher of the Mercury Independent, told her in a shocked voice that a Secret Service man had been down there investigating her.

She hoped her friends in the little town didn't know about it. But in due course she found it was only a routine check-up and that the Secret Service agent reported she was "a very nice lady".

Then Mrs. Roosevelt heard about the check-up and told her husband. And one night at a dinner at which one of the guests was Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau, whose department has jurisdiction over the Secret Service, Roosevelt fixed Mrs. Helm "with a glassy eye and said: 'Edith, what have you been up to in Illinois?' "

She quaked out an explanation. Roosevelt turned to Morganthau "and started to tease him; said the investigation of a member of his household had vexed him deeply. The Cabinet officer squirmed. The President in this mood could be great fun." But Mrs. Helm adds seriously:

"Little did I think that I would ever live to see the day when no man, however, impeccable in personal life and brilliant in public record, could take over an appointive office in government without first having been thoroughly investigated, not only for his honesty and reputation, but even for his loyalty to the country he is to serve."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 18 (INS) — "Sleep It Off" will follow "No Business Like Show Business" and "Seven Year Itch" for Marilyn Monroe. So it looks as if "The Lady and the Lumberjack" with Clark Gable will be postponed for sometime.

The idea back of "Sleep It Off," an original by Lyford Moore and Harlan Thompson, is very amusing. Marilyn plays a show girl who goes to college and disrupts the whole school. Can't you see her with that cute walk!

Nunnally Johnson, who will produce it, is already working on the script. This makes three lined up for 20th's most popular actress.

One of the most intriguing stories of the last war is the one about Eddie Chapman, British safecracker who turned patriot. A deal is all but closed for Alfred Hitchcock to make it with Cary Grant for Paramount.

Eddie's picture was on one of the national magazine covers, and his whole story written up.

When the Nazis bombed London, Eddie pretended to be on the side of the Germans and got invaluable information for the Allies. He did it without the knowledge of the British government, and so the former criminal became a real hero. It's a great story, and should make a fine motion picture.

Considering that I gave Helene Stanton her name for her career (she was Eleanor Stansbury) at the time the redheaded singer joined Jimmy McHugh's nightclub act, I'm interested to hear she's been signed for her first important screen role.

Helene plays the high priestess opposite Johnny Weismuller in "Jungle Jim and the Moon Man" at Columbia. The producer, Sam Katzman, tells me that Helene looks like a million in the test she made. She's tall and redheaded, not unlike Rita Hayworth, if Columbia will pardon the comparison.

Helene has a beautiful soprano voice — but she won't warble in the "Jungle" opus.

If his ex-wife, Liz, now Mrs. Hudson McGuire, does not agree to an amicable adjustment of the custody of their son — Dan Dailey will go into court to protest the boy's leaving California to make his home with his mother and new stepfather in Kansas.

Says Dan, "I don't want to go to court. But I can't stand by and see my 6-year-old son taken so far away that I cannot see him except for the one month during the summer agreed upon at the time of our divorce.

"I don't believe this is to the best interests of young Dan — and I know it isn't to my own best interests."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The babies were baptized by Monsignor Patrick J. Concannon at the Church of the Good Shepherd, and this was a reception in their honor.

It was so nice to see Mrs. Giannini, Sr., and to reminisce about old times when Dr. Giannini was so much a part of our industry. He financed so many of our pioneer producers.

Comedian Lou Costello is as proud as punch. His 6-year-old daughter Christine has the inside track for the role of Baby Snooks on TV next fall. Surprising that they're considering a child, since this is the late Fannie Brice's famous character.

Teenagers held Montgomery Clift up for 45 minutes, making him late for the opening of his play, "The Seagull." He had to do the first act sans make up.

No wonder Louise and Hal Wallis are proud. Their son, Brent, graduates from Occidental next month a Phi Beta Kappa.

They're all doing it. Now it's Kirk Douglas who will wax two songs for Decca, with an option for 12 more.

Before Peter Lawford married Pat Kennedy he was working on an act with Judy Holliday. Now Judy has decided to do a solo in Las Vegas.

The real reason Kurt Kaszner asked for his MGM release is that he didn't get the Romberg role in "Deep in My Heart," which he so wanted.

Joan Weldon and Byron Palmer will do a 26 TV series in which they'll sing light opera. It's being sponsored by the telephone company, and top musical arranger Nelson Riddle will direct the music.

Cubby Broccoli flew in Saturday to visit his wife and newly adopted son.

Kathryn Grayson's sister, Actress Frances Raeburn, expects her fourth baby in the fall. This will make Kathryn an aunt for the 17th time!

Grace Kelly telephoned Clark Gable to read him a clipping from a New York newspaper which said he had given her a $20,000 diamond bracelet. Grace has the bracelet all right, but Clark didn't give it to her — her parents did.

Ethel Merman's daughter, Ethel Jr., is being confirmed the 26th of May. Ethel can't be with her so she sent her mother, Mrs. Agnes Zinnerman of New York, a plane ticket to Denver to be with the little girl.

Producer Bob Welch expects to get back to work in about a month. He's taken off 57 pounds.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

There are two ways of saying things you don't mean; if you are guilty of either, resolve to mind your manners!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You'll surely wind up in hot water if you repeatedly say things you don't mean. That statement applies both to the promise you've no intention of keeping, and to the lightly tossed statement that is received seriously.

Maybe you've never suffered the consequences of either type of mis-statement. But you can't always depend on the easy out. It's better to be sincere and serious than to be flippant.

Say it and mean it, or don't say it at all! If you are affirmative in your words and promises, you'll be recognized as an individual who is dependable — a definite plus value when it comes to friendship or to business.

An Example

You recall the old story about the boy who cried wolf? Well, there's a parallel in the person who says "I'll do it!"—but doesn't follow through. The time will arrive when you particularly wish to take on an assignment that won't be offered because of your past record of inadequacies. Perhaps the assignment will be a better job or a club presidency, and when the question of your capability arises it will be too late to atone for previous short-comings.

An example of the casual remark wrongly taken is a little incident my secretary described. A woman in an elevator exclaimed bluntly to her companion, "That's the silliest hat you're wearing!"

Commented my secretary, "You could tell the woman intended her remark as an offhand compliment, but her friend was obviously insulted."

Think Twice

In your own mind the airy phrase may be just that, airy and intended to be taken with a laugh. Even if you state it with a laugh, it may not be greeted as laughable. So, think twice before you voice a thought that might conceivably be cutting.

A charming woman tempers her remarks as she tempers her voice, so as to be appealing to her audience of one or one hundred. When she makes a promise, she keeps it; when she makes a statement, she means it. She's friendly, sincere... and popular.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Congress Is Told Of Md. Classroom Space Shortage

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — Maryland is forced to teach 76,109 of its 409,570 public school pupils in makeshift classrooms such as converted garages, Congress was told yesterday.

This problem of classroom space shortages in Maryland is getting progressively worse, testified Milson C. Raver, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Assn.

He told a Senate Education subcommittee "we in Maryland must build new schools fast enough to provide almost 1,000 additional classrooms each year until 1960."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), is considering legislation to authorize federal aid for school construction.

Maryland's counties and Baltimore, said Raver, simply cannot afford to finance "the lion's share" of school construction costs, because of money spent on "tremendous building projects" since World War II.

"During the past decade of crowded classrooms, double shifts and teacher shifts, the enrollment of Maryland public schools has shown an increase of 140,000," he said.

"Another jump of 130,000 pupils is anticipated the next six years."

The worst school crowding problems in his state, he said, are in Baltimore and the area near Washington.

Secretary To Three First Ladies Horrified By Secret Service Probe

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary to three first ladies, once found herself investigated by the Secret Service — to the amusement of the late President Roosevelt.

Edith Benham Helm tells about it in her book "The Captains and the Kings", released today. It relates her experiences in the Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman administrations.

Her memoirs and memory go back to being kissed as a child of four by ex-President Grant and objecting to his beard and tobacco odor.

There is a chuckle on nearly every page, many of them at her own expense. But that business of being investigated horrified her 20 years ago.

Mrs. Helm relates that since there was no provision for the social secretary's salary, she was a "loan" to the White House and was paid by whatever government agency might have some financial margin.

"Finally I landed with a very sensitive agency, which investigated its employes carefully," she says.

That summer she went to Grayville, Ill., where her late husband, Rear Adm. James M. Helm, had acquired 900 acres of rich farmland. N. B. Seil, publisher of the Mercury Independent, told her in a shocked voice that a Secret Service man had been down there investigating her.

She hoped her friends in the little town didn't know about it. But in due course she found it was only a routine check-up and that the Secret Service agent reported she was "a very nice lady".

Then Mrs. Roosevelt heard about the check-up and told her husband. And one night at a dinner at which one of the guests was Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau, whose department has jurisdiction over the Secret Service, Roosevelt fixed Mrs. Helm "with a glassy eye and said: 'Edith, what have you been up to in Illinois?' "

She quaked out an explanation. Roosevelt turned to Morganthau "and started to tease him; said the investigation of a member of his household had vexed him deeply. The Cabinet officer squirmed. The President in this mood could be great fun." But Mrs. Helm adds seriously:

"Little did I think that I would ever live to see the day when no man, however, impeccable in personal life and brilliant in public record, could take over an appointive office in government without first having been thoroughly investigated, not only for his honesty and reputation, but even for his loyalty to the country he is to serve."

Lefty Bill Roberts Hurls LaSalle To 7-0 Win Over Bruce

Explorers Post Fifth Shutout Win Of Season

Boost Bi-State Lead To Full Game; Hand Wilkinson 1st Loss

LaSalle High School's front-running Explorers took a full game lead over Allegany High in the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference baseball race yesterday by defeating Bruce High School of Westernport to the tune of 7-0 at Penn Avenue Field.

Lefty Bill Roberts turned back the Bulldogs with four singles, struck out seven, failed to issue a pass and gained the decision over Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce's freshman pitching ace, who suffered his first loss of the campaign after four winning starts. Roberts posted his second win of the season against no losses. He blanked Hyndman on May 3 by the score of 1-0.

The shutout was the 13th registered in the schoolboy circuit this season. LaSalle pitchers are credited with five of the whitewashings against Allegany 7-0, Flintstone 12-0, Hyndman 1-0, Valley 8-0 and Bruce 8-0.

The triumph was the fourth in a row for Coach George Geatz's Explorers who have yielded only two runs during their current victory string.

Rickey Harris and Arch Lennox accounted for four of the six hits credited to LaSalle. Bruce's four hits were made by Broadwater, Nofsinger, Clem and Cangianelli.

LaSalle now heads the nine-school circuit with an 8-2 record. Allegany occupies the runner-up spot with six wins and two defeats.

Two Bi-State games are on tap for today. Beall plays at Hyndman at 3:30 and Mt. Savage plays host to the Campers of Allegany.

Steve Gromek Racks Up 7th Win Of Year

Detroit Star Defeats Slump-Ridden A's, 8-3

DETROIT, May 18 (AP)—Detroit's Steve Gromek matched his entire 1953 victory total and became the major league's first seven-game winner today, breezing to an 8-3 victory over the slump-ridden Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising 33-year-old right-hander, who has lost only once this season, spaced six hits in sending the A's down to their fifth straight defeat and 11th in their last 12 games.

The Tigers backed Gromek with a 14-hit attack including rookie Frank Bolling's two-run homer.

Detroit catcher Frank House collected a single and double to extend his hitting streak to 13 games, and Ray Boone connected for three singles.

This hitting raised House's batting average to .371 and Boone's to .355. House was hitting a feeble .192 before the hitting streak and it was rumored that the $75,000 bonus catcher would be farmed to the minors. Left hander Morrie Martin, hammered for six runs and nine hits in four innings, dropped his third game against one victory. Art Ditmer pitched the last four innings for the A's.

Jim Finigan and Bill Renna slugged Gromek for home runs but both blows came at the start of an inning and proved nothing more than an annoyance to the veteran hurler.

After scoring once in the second inning, the Tigers tallied three times in the third and twice in the fourth to take a commanding 6-1 lead.

Paul Secrist, 51, Dies Hurled M. A. No-Hitter

Letter From Martin He Likes Evangeline

By C. V. BURNS

DEATH of Paul Secrist, 51, in Philadelphia last week, revived memories of the days when the young southpaw curve ball artist, was the leading pitcher of the Cumberland Colts in the Middle Atlantic League.

Secrist pitched for the Colts in 1925 and 1926, the first two years of the Middle Atlantic League and won 22 and lost 8 games for the local club.

In 1925 when Tommy Ray and Jimmy McGuire managed the Dobbins, the stylish young left-hander who possessed a dazzling assortment of curves, won 10 and lost one. He appeared in 15 games, pitched 101⅓ innings and fanned 63 batsmen. He was known as a "hitting pitcher" and larruped the horsehide at a .400 clip by collecting 20 bingles in 50 times at bat in 23 games.

Other pitchers with the Colts that season and their records were: "Shovel" Hodge 5-2, Frank "Dutch" Haber 10-5, Ted Musante 5-4 and Harold Egbert 11-9. Johnny Byrnes led the team in hitting with 127 hits in 507 trips in 100 games for an average of .312.

Secrist is the only Cumberland pitcher to hurl a nine-inning no-run, no-hit game in the eight years the local club was in the Mid-Atlantic circuit.

Paul tossed his no-hitter on Labor Day (Sept. 1, 1925) in the afternoon game with Scottdale at Mid-City Park on the final day of the season. The score was 8-0. Kruger, Morgan and Gatchel were the Scottdale pitchers and Joe Brehany, former resident of Nikep, this county, now of Aliquippa, Pa., and present scout for the Detroit Tigers, was shortstop and manager of the Milltown Yankees. Lefty Bishop beat Egbert in the morning game, 6-2.

Henry Pfister who now lives in Mt. Savage worked behind the plate the day Secrist tossed the no-hitter and struck out eight. Neil Dougherty, "Babe" Fisher and "Dutch" Haber played the outfield and the infield was composed of Byrnes, 1b.; Eddie Conley, 2b.; John "Shine" Cortazzo, ss., and Harry McEnroe, 3b.

Secrist and "Rags" Rangnow, Colts' first string receiver, had a trial with the Cinncinati Reds in the spring of 1926 but both players came back to the M. A.

In 1926 when the Colts were managed by Pat Ragan, former major league pitcher, Secrist won 12 and lost 7. He worked in 31 games and 162 innings and whiffed 112 to lead the staff for the second straight season. Warren Rambo won 13, lost 9; Broadway Jones posted an 11-9 record and Dopson had eight wins, 11 losses.

Paul wound up his career with the Colts on Labor Day in 1926 by beating the Jeannette Jays, 6-3, gaining the decision over "Big Bill" Saller.

Among Secrist's teammates with the 1926 club were Denny Sothern, the M. A. batting champion, who graduated to the majors; Dan Rooney, now Father Silas, director of athletics at St. Bonaventure College; August "Gus" Thompson, Byrnes, Cortazzo, Conley, "Red" Nelson and Joe Buskey.

Final rites for Secrist were held Saturday in Martinsburg.

AL MARTIN, the Cumberland lad who made good in his intitial year as an umpire in the Kitty League in 1953, likes the setup in the Evangeline League where he is now officiating, according to an interesting letter he sends us from New Iberia, La.

AL MARTIN

"I never dreamed there would be so much difference in the calibre of ball," Martin writes. "This Class C League is a lot faster than I assumed.

"Jake Michaels and I are partners and with about 25 games under our belts, we're still hanging in there. Don't mean to say that the remainder of the umpiring staff is not doing a good job but we've had at least three of the eight clubs say we were tops. Of course, the winning team will congratulate us every night, I know, but when the losing club, especially the manager makes a special trip out of his way to inform you of your good work it really makes you feel good.

"Out headquarters are in New Iberia. The league is made up of the folliwng eight clubs: New Iberia, Lafayette, Crowley, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge and Alexandria in Louisiana and Port Arthur and Texas City, Texas. All have beautiful fields except Texas City, which also is the only team not drawing well at home. The latter team has three negro players, who after a great deal of confusion and disagreement, have succeeded in making an appearance in every place except Baton Rouge. Their biggest hurdle was New Iberia and we are anticipating further trouble at Baton Rouge. Texas City is in progress of building a $60,000 park in hopes of drawing better and yet is talking about moving the franchise to Opelousas, La.

"Our league president, Edward Deramee, is everything that "Sparky" Chisholm said about him. He is an attorney and the kind of gentleman I enjoy working for.

"The thing that makes this class of ball so good is that the clubs have a couple of "old-timers" to teach the rookies and setting an example of the calibre of ball expected from them I've never seen so many "base hits" caught in all my life. Seldom have I seen the infielders boot the "big one"— the D. P. ball. This along with good control pitching are the reasons for game time being an average 1:50 instead of the usual 2:15 plus in D Class ball.

"I received a letter from Joker Boyle and he sent clippings of LaSalle's first five games and the results pleased me. I'd like to see George Geatz have a winner. Tell the boys I'm pulling for them ever harder than my Yankees. (Note: Martin coached LaSalle last year.)

"Does me good to see all the former Hot Stove Leaguers playing bangup ball for their respective high schools. This is truly the best thing that happened in Cumberland since they underpassed all the railroads—ha, ha. If they keep supporting the Little Leaguers they'll have a good calibre of ball there in a few short years.

"There are many loyal baseball fans in Cumberland but truthfully a guy can't expect a fan to be generous with the calibre of ball they are used to witnessing. A good example of this would be the 21-20 game the Moose won from the Black Sox during the 1952 Interstate League season. Now with the boys coming up the class of ball should improve along with the fans generosity which may lead to organized ball in Cumberland.

"Should you see "Sparky" be sure and tell him you heard from me and that "Jake" and I said hello. The people still remember Chisholm as a good umpire down here."

"Chick" Cubbage's single to center, scoring "Butch" Johnson in the fourth inning, netted the run that gave the Cumberland Outdoor Club a 4-3 victory over the Fraternal Order of Eagles in a Rocking Chair Softball League game yesterday at Allegany Field.

Johnson singled to open the inning advanced to second on Pollack's sacrifice and scored the run that broke a 3-3 deadlock on Cubbage's bingle.

Vernon Penner of ODC slammed his fourth homer of the season in as many games and also rapped a double and single. His circuit wallop, a tremendous drive to centerfield, came in the first ining after Ted Durbin had singled. Sam Brady also slammed a four-bagger for the winners. Kienhofer garnered two singles and Minnicks banged a two-bagger for the Eagles.

Durbin was the fielding star with two perfect throws from the outfield that nailed runners. In the fifth he cut down Aman at the plate with a fine throw from centerfield and in the sixth inning he nipped Schoufer who attempted to go from first to third on Twigg's single.

Boost Bi-State Lead To Full Game; Hand Wilkinson 1st Loss

LaSalle High School's front-running Explorers took a full game lead over Allegany High in the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference baseball race yesterday by defeating Bruce High School of Westernport to the tune of 7-0 at Penn Avenue Field.

Lefty Bill Roberts turned back the Bulldogs with four singles, struck out seven, failed to issue a pass and gained the decision over Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce's freshman pitching ace, who suffered his first loss of the campaign after four winning starts. Roberts posted his second win of the season against no losses. He blanked Hyndman on May 3 by the score of 1-0.

The shutout was the 13th registered in the schoolboy circuit this season. LaSalle pitchers are credited with five of the whitewashings against Allegany 7-0, Flintstone 12-0, Hyndman 1-0, Valley 8-0 and Bruce 8-0.

Rickey Harris and Arch Lennox accounted for four of the six hits credited to LaSalle. Bruce's four hits were made by Broadwater, Nofsinger, Clem and Cangianelli.

LaSalle now heads the nine-school circuit with an 8-2 record. Allegany occupies the runner-up spot with six wins and two defeats.

Steve Gromek Racks Up 7th Win Of Year

Detroit Star Defeats Slump-Ridden A's, 8-3

DETROIT, May 18 (AP)—Detroit's Steve Gromek matched his entire 1953 victory total and became the major league's first seven-game winner today, breezing to an 8-3 victory over the slump-ridden Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising 33-year-old right-hander, who has lost only once this season, spaced six hits in sending the A's down to their fifth straight defeat and 11th in their last 12 games.

This hitting raised House's batting average to .371 and Boone's to .355. House was hitting a feeble .192 before the hitting streak and it was rumored that the $75,000 bonus catcher would be farmed to the minors. Left hander Morrie Martin, hammered for six runs and nine hits in four innings, dropped his third game against one victory. Art Ditmer pitched the last four innings for the A's.

Jim Finigan and Bill Renna slugged Gromek for home runs but both blows came at the start of an inning and proved nothing more than an annoyance to the veteran hurler.

After scoring once in the second inning, the Tigers tallied three times in the third and twice in the fourth to take a commanding 6-1 lead.

Among Secrist's teammates with the 1926 club were Denny Sothern, the M. A. batting champion, who graduated to the majors; Dan Rooney, now Father Silas, director of athletics at St. Bonaventure College; August "Gus" Thompson, Byrnes, Cortazzo, Conley, "Red" Nelson and Joe Buskey.

AL MARTIN, the Cumberland lad who made good in his intitial year as an umpire in the Kitty League in 1953, likes the setup in the Evangeline League where he is now officiating, according to an interesting letter he sends us from New Iberia, La.

AL MARTIN

"I never dreamed there would be so much difference in the calibre of ball," Martin writes. "This Class C League is a lot faster than I assumed.

"Jake Michaels and I are partners and with about 25 games under our belts, we're still hanging in there. Don't mean to say that the remainder of the umpiring staff is not doing a good job but we've had at least three of the eight clubs say we were tops. Of course, the winning team will congratulate us every night, I know, but when the losing club, especially the manager makes a special trip out of his way to inform you of your good work it really makes you feel good.

"Out headquarters are in New Iberia. The league is made up of the folliwng eight clubs: New Iberia, Lafayette, Crowley, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge and Alexandria in Louisiana and Port Arthur and Texas City, Texas. All have beautiful fields except Texas City, which also is the only team not drawing well at home. The latter team has three negro players, who after a great deal of confusion and disagreement, have succeeded in making an appearance in every place except Baton Rouge. Their biggest hurdle was New Iberia and we are anticipating further trouble at Baton Rouge. Texas City is in progress of building a $60,000 park in hopes of drawing better and yet is talking about moving the franchise to Opelousas, La.

"Our league president, Edward Deramee, is everything that "Sparky" Chisholm said about him. He is an attorney and the kind of gentleman I enjoy working for.

"The thing that makes this class of ball so good is that the clubs have a couple of "old-timers" to teach the rookies and setting an example of the calibre of ball expected from them I've never seen so many "base hits" caught in all my life. Seldom have I seen the infielders boot the "big one"— the D. P. ball. This along with good control pitching are the reasons for game time being an average 1:50 instead of the usual 2:15 plus in D Class ball.

"I received a letter from Joker Boyle and he sent clippings of LaSalle's first five games and the results pleased me. I'd like to see George Geatz have a winner. Tell the boys I'm pulling for them ever harder than my Yankees. (Note: Martin coached LaSalle last year.)

"Does me good to see all the former Hot Stove Leaguers playing bangup ball for their respective high schools. This is truly the best thing that happened in Cumberland since they underpassed all the railroads—ha, ha. If they keep supporting the Little Leaguers they'll have a good calibre of ball there in a few short years.

"There are many loyal baseball fans in Cumberland but truthfully a guy can't expect a fan to be generous with the calibre of ball they are used to witnessing. A good example of this would be the 21-20 game the Moose won from the Black Sox during the 1952 Interstate League season. Now with the boys coming up the class of ball should improve along with the fans generosity which may lead to organized ball in Cumberland.

"Should you see "Sparky" be sure and tell him you heard from me and that "Jake" and I said hello. The people still remember Chisholm as a good umpire down here."

"Chick" Cubbage's single to center, scoring "Butch" Johnson in the fourth inning, netted the run that gave the Cumberland Outdoor Club a 4-3 victory over the Fraternal Order of Eagles in a Rocking Chair Softball League game yesterday at Allegany Field.

Johnson singled to open the inning advanced to second on Pollack's sacrifice and scored the run that broke a 3-3 deadlock on Cubbage's bingle.

Vernon Penner of ODC slammed his fourth homer of the season in as many games and also rapped a double and single. His circuit wallop, a tremendous drive to centerfield, came in the first inning after Ted Durbin had singled. Sam Brady also slammed a four-bagger for the winners. Kienhofer garnered two singles and Minnicks banged a two-bagger for the Eagles.

Durbin was the fielding star with two perfect throws from the outfield that nailed runners. In the fifth he cut down Aman at the plate with a fine throw from centerfield and in the sixth inning he nipped Schoufer who attempted to go from first to third on Twigg's single.

The Elks defeated the K. of C., 6-1, but the game was not reported. Score:

Cards Trip Giants

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals moved within four percentage points of first place in the National League tonight by overpowering the New York Giants, 9-3 after scoring six runs in the first two innings.

The Cards shelled Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn from the mound before Johnny McCall checked the opening rush after five runs had poured across in the second inning.

The Braves profited by Gran Hamner's sixth inning error and ran away with the game from then on. Simmons still held a 1-0 lead until Hamner booted Andy Pafko's ground ball. Simmons had fanned six and given up three hits until then.

Davis-Elkins Tops Potomac

Eight Errors Pave Way To 8-1 Defeat

KEYSER, May 18 — Potomac State College lowered the curtain on its 1954 baseball campaign today by dropping an 8 to 1 decision to Davis & Elkins College in a game in which none of the runs were earned.

Each team collected six hits. Centerfielder Gallopo of D. & E. and Egan and Beck of Potomac State collected two hits each.

Fort Hill Girls To Defend State Volley Ball Title

15 Named For Trip To College Park

Coach Henrietta Snyder's Fort Hill High School girls volley ball team will defend the state title it won last year when it competes in the state tournament at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Saturday.

This year's tournament will be an open event with all state Class A, B and C schools vying for a single title. It will be conducted on a round robin basis in place of the double elimination plan which prevailed in 1953.

Those making the trpi in addition to the coach are Jeannette Hicks, Regina Hinds, Sarah Stewart, Annabelle Leatherman, captain, Joann Dickel, Pat Thompson, Ruth Ann Hardinger, Pat Grim, Margie Hafer, Judy Snyder, Martha Catlett, Barbara Largent, Carol Kline, Manager Charleine Hornbrook. Cards Trip Giants

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals moved within four percentage points of first place in the National League tonight by overpowering the New York Giants, 9-3 after scoring six runs in the first two innings.

The Cards shelled Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn from the mound before Johnny McCall checked the opening rush after five runs had poured across in the second inning.

The Braves profited by Gran Hamner's sixth inning error and ran away with the game from then on. Simmons still held a 1-0 lead until Hamner booted Andy Pafko's ground ball. Simmons had fanned six and given up three hits until then.

Davis-Elkins Tops Potomac

Eight Errors Pave Way To 8-1 Defeat

KEYSER, May 18 — Potomac State College lowered the curtain on its 1954 baseball campaign today by dropping an 8 to 1 decision to Davis & Elkins College in a game in which none of the runs were earned.

Potomac State committed eight fielding bobbles while two were charged against the Elkins aggregation.

The setback gave the Catamounts an 8-9 record for the campaign.

Each team collected six hits. Centerfielder Gallopo of D. & E. and Egan and Beck of Potomac State collected two hits each.

Fort Hill Girls To Defend State Volley Ball Title

15 Named For Trip To College Park

Coach Henrietta Snyder's Fort Hill High School girls volley ball team will defend the state title it won last year when it competes in the state tournament at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Saturday.

Fort Hill's team swept through to state honors in Class "A" last year by disposing of Pol Air, Annapolis, Towson and Glen Burnie. The Hilltoppers also won the state crown in 1951 and finished as runner-up in 1952.

This year's tournament will be an open event with all state Class A, B and C schools vying for a single title. It will be conducted on a round robin basis in place of the double elimination plan which prevailed in 1953.

Coach Snyder and her squad of 15 will leave for Washington, D. C., Friday morning and will stay overnight at the Harrington Hotel. The tournament is scheduled to get under way Saturday at 10 a. m.

Charles Feltner, Leading Horse Trainer, Dies

Virginia Native Raced At Fairgo Many Times

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — Charles M. Feltner, 68, trainer who handled horses raced by Gustave Ring of Washington and Henry Hecht of Baltimore, died yesterday after suffering a stroke a week ago.

Feltner, native of Berryville, Va., took his first big racing job when he became superintendent of the Charles Town W. Va. track at its opening in 1933.

He later operated training stables at Charles Town, Hagerstown, Bel Air and Cumberland before he began racing on the big time.

Charles M. Feltner, who died yesterday in Washington, D. C., will be remembered as a trainer of topnotch thoroughbreds at Fairgo in the days when five-day meets were held here prior to 1935. He also raced at the local half miler in the early days of the 10-day meets. The Feltners, Charles M., and his son, Claude M., were noted for the large strings of thoroughbreds they handled on the half milers. Claude was the leading winning trainer at Fairgo in 1939, 1942 and 1943.

Arcaro To Miss Preakness As Result Of Suspension

Set Down For Careless Ride On Dead Duck

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden more Preakness winners than any other jockey, was suspended today by Belmont Park stewards and will be unable to try for No. 5 in the Maryland 3-year-old classic at Pimlico Saturday.

The 38-year-old saddle star was scheduled to ride the Woodvale Farm's Goyamo in the $100,000-added Preakness at Baltimore. Arcaro, also the leading Kentucky Derby winner with five to his credit, finished fourth aboard Goyamo in this year's derby.

Belmont stewards suspended Arcaro for 10 days—until May 29—for a "careless ride" on Dead Duck in the seventh race yesterday. Jockey Charley O'Brien aboard South Point, who finished fourth, protested Dead Duck crossed over and interfered wih him on the final turn.

Chicago Blasts Brooklyn, 7-1

Hacker Beats Dodgers By Pitching 4-Hitter

BROOKLYN, May 18 (AP)—Warren Hacker spun a neat four-hitter tonight as the Chicago Cubs blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-1. The victory was Hacker's second of the year and his performance was marred only by Duke Snider's home run in the seventh for the Brooks' only run.

All the Cubs needed was their run production of the first inning when four Bruins crossed the plate. But they added three more in the eighth to make Hacker's task that much easier.

Erv Palica, who took over for Lees at the start of the seventh, looked like a world beater for one inning, setting the cubs down in order. But they caught up with him in the eighth and he needed help from Clem Labine and Bob Milliken.

Hacker didn't give the Brooks a hit until the fourth when Jackie Robinson clubbed a double down the third base line. Then he held them in check until Snider hit his fifth homer of the season over the right field scoreboard.

Billy Cox hit a single through the box to open the eighth and Junior Gilliam, who had gone 0 for 27, snapped out of his hitless skein in the ninth with a single. That represented the entire Brook offensive for the night.

Hodges Nearing Rogers Hornsby's Grand Slam Mark

Gil Trailing, 12-10; Gehrig Walloped 23

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—If Gil Hodges maintains his grand slam pace of the past five years, he appears a cinch to break the National League record for most home runs with the bases filled and may even threaten the major league mark.

The Brooklyn first baseman smashed his 10th grand slammer Sunday to move within two of the league record of 12 established by Rogers Hornsby 20 years ago and equalled by Ralph Kiner last season. Lou Gehrig holds the major league mark of 23.

It took Hornsby 20 years to accumulate his dozen grand slams. Kiner, the only active National Leaguer with more four-run blows than Hodges, needed only eight years to collect his dozen.

Hodges' hurry-up pace is making Kiner's seem slow by comparison. Gil hit his first grand slammer on May 14, 1949, his second full season in the majors. Five years and two days later, he collected his 10th. Only 30 years old, the Indiana strong boy figures to have at least five or six more seasons.

Only 10 players have hit more home runs with the bases full than Hodges. Gehrig's 23 outdistances all the others by a wide margin. The closest to Lou's totals are the 16 by Babe Ruth from 1919 through 1934 and by Jimmy Foxx from 1930 through 1945.

Hornsby, Kiner, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York are tied for fourth with 12 each.

Wallard Quits Auto Racing

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18 (AP) — Lee Wallard, winner of the 1951 500-mile race here, retired from racing today after practicing for this year's run of the 500 on May 31. The 43-year-old Altamont, N.Y. driver said he had to report Monday in a new job as field service representative in the aircraft engine division of the Ford Motor Co.

Free public schools were established in New Haven, Conn., in 1642.

Fiore Is Favorite To Defeat Black

DETROIT, May 18 (AP)—Carmine Fiore, a punishing left hooker from Brooklyn, is an 8 to 5 favorite to hand hard-working Jed Black of Janesville, Wis., his first loss in 20 months tomorrow night.

Charles Feltner, Leading Horse Trainer, Dies

Virginia Native Raced At Fairgo Many Times

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — Charles M. Feltner, 68, trainer who handled horses raced by Gustave Ring of Washington and Henry Hecht of Baltimore, died yesterday after suffering a stroke a week ago.

Feltner, native of Berryville, Va., took his first big racing job when he became superintendent of the Charles Town W. Va. track at its opening in 1933.

He later operated training stables at Charles Town, Hagerstown, Bel Air and Cumberland before he began racing on the big time.

In 1950 and 1951 he was the leading trainer at Hialeah.

Charles M. Feltner, who died yesterday in Washington, D. C., will be remembered as a trainer of topnotch thoroughbreds at Fairgo in the days when five-day meets were held here prior to 1935. He also raced at the local half miler in the early days of the 10-day meets. The Feltners, Charles M., and his son, Claude M., were noted for the large strings of thoroughbreds they handled on the half milers. Claude was the leading winning trainer at Fairgo in 1939, 1942 and 1943.

Arcaro To Miss Preakness As Result Of Suspension

Set Down For Careless Ride On Dead Duck

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden more Preakness winners than any other jockey, was suspended today by Belmont Park stewards and will be unable to try for No. 5 in the Maryland 3-year-old classic at Pimlico Saturday.

The 38-year-old saddle star was scheduled to ride the Woodvale Farm's Goyamo in the $100,000-added Preakness at Baltimore. Arcaro, also the leading Kentucky Derby winner with five to his credit, finished fourth aboard Goyamo in this year's derby.

Belmont stewards suspended Arcaro for 10 days—until May 29—for a "careless ride" on Dead Duck in the seventh race yesterday. Jockey Charley O'Brien aboard South Point, who finished fourth, protested Dead Duck crossed over and interfered wih him on the final turn.

Chicago Blasts Brooklyn, 7-1

Hacker Beats Dodgers By Pitching 4-Hitter

BROOKLYN, May 18 (AP)—Warren Hacker spun a neat four-hitter tonight as the Chicago Cubs blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-1. The victory was Hacker's second of the year and his performance was marred only by Duke Snider's home run in the seventh for the Brooks' only run.

All the Cubs needed was their run production of the first inning when four Bruins crossed the plate. But they added three more in the eighth to make Hacker's task that much easier.

Erv Palica, who took over for Lees at the start of the seventh, looked like a world beater for one inning, setting the cubs down in order. But they caught up with him in the eighth and he needed help from Clem Labine and Bob Milliken.

Hacker didn't give the Brooks a hit until the fourth when Jackie Robinson clubbed a double down the third base line. Then he held them in check until Snider hit his fifth homer of the season over the right field scoreboard.

Billy Cox hit a single through the box to open the eighth and Junior Gilliam, who had gone 0 for 27, snapped out of his hitless skein in the ninth with a single. That represented the entire Brook offensive for the night.

Hodges Nearing Rogers Hornsby's Grand Slam Mark

Gil Trailing, 12-10; Gehrig Walloped 23

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—If Gil Hodges maintains his grand slam pace of the past five years, he appears a cinch to break the National League record for most home runs with the bases filled and may even threaten the major league mark.

The Brooklyn first baseman smashed his 10th grand slammer Sunday to move within two of the league record of 12 established by Rogers Hornsby 20 years ago and equalled by Ralph Kiner last season. Lou Gehrig holds the major league mark of 23.

It took Hornsby 20 years to accumulate his dozen grand slams. Kiner, the only active National Leaguer with more four-run blows than Hodges, needed only eight years to collect his dozen.

Hodges' hurry-up pace is making Kiner's seem slow by comparison. Gil hit his first grand slammer on May 14, 1949, his second full season in the majors. Five years and two days later, he collected his 10th. Only 30 years old, the Indiana strong boy figures to have at least five or six more seasons.

Only 10 players have hit more home runs with the bases full than Hodges. Gehrig's 23 outdistances all the others by a wide margin. The closest to Lou's totals are the 16 by Babe Ruth from 1919 through 1934 and by Jimmy Foxx from 1930 through 1945.

Hornsby, Kiner, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York are tied for fourth with 12 each.

Wallard Quits Auto Racing

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18 (AP)—Lee Wallard, winner of the 1951 500-mile race here, retired from racing today after practicing for this year's run of the 500 on May 31. The 43-year-old Altamont, N.Y. driver said he had to report Monday in a new job as field service representative in the aircraft engine division of the Ford Motor Co.

Free public schools were established in New Haven, Conn., in 1642.

Fiore Is Favorite To Defeat Black

DETROIT, May 18 (AP)—Carmine Fiore, a punishing left hooker from Brooklyn, is an 8 to 5 favorite to hand hard-working Jed Black of Janesville, Wis., his first loss in 20 months tomorrow night.

These unranked, but promising 24-year-old welterweights clash in a nationally televised 10-rounder in Olympia Stadium starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Fiore's record, at least on paper, isn't nearly as impressive—25-15-5. But the scowling Brooklyn belter has won seven straight with one of the meanest left hooks in the game.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"The world ablaze with controversy . . . and you have to make an issue out of a wedding anniversary! . . ."

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

The Absence Of Good

"No parent reported any imitation by children of desirable traits depicted by TV characters." That lone sentence, pregnant with alarming implications, is easily the most significant in the long and terribly windy report recently released by the National Council of Churches of Christ on the effect of television on our young.

On the other hand practically every parent reported the imitation of a great many undesirable traits picked up from television by the small fry. One specially exasperated parent summed up what most every parent in the land must feel with the words: "He drives the family crazy with the bang-bang. Bang-bang from early Sunday morning to late Saturday night." All parents have been through the bang bang and, while it is annoying, I've never thought it was terribly harmful. As one psychologist put it, a child knows playing from the real thing. He will play dead all day long with great relish, fully realizing that the real thing is probably no fun at all.

However, the idea that television, along with its bang bang habits, never spreads any good ones is pretty sobering. And it sounds, I'm afraid, like a very sound observation. Every so often, your own (or somebody else's) children will surprise you with some evidence of sense or knowledge of manners. And when you track down the source of these welcome traits, you find they came from school or church or just possibly from yourself but I very much doubt that you find any of them sprang out of television. At least, I can't recall any good influence TV has exerted on my young or anyone else's. The kids are stimulated to bang bang and to loading the house down with breakfast foods, dentifrices and shooting irons — and that's about it.

This is a serious indictment. Too much attention, it seems to me, is paid to how much harm TV does to children, too little to how little good it does. The absence of positive good is neglected in favor of emphasis on bang bang.

Mrs. Alice Goddard, director of children's work of the National Council of Churches, commenting on the report, asks: "Educators know the importance of adventure in a child's media, but are children being provided through TV with the kind of adventure that leads to the most worthwhile life aspirations? There are great resources in the exciting adventures of fictional or real persons who have performed daring acts for the well-being of mankind.

"The study does not mention any television programs that might influence a child's concept of inter-group or world relationship. What types or stereotypes does a child become acquainted with in TV programs? How do these relate to the concepts the child has when he meets people of other races, other cultures, nationalities, as the citizen of tomorrow's world inevitably will?"

Not much, I'm afraid. Yet, as Mrs. Goddard points out, children like to learn. There is no argument at all in the complaint that children won't look at educational programs which are within their intellectual grasp because they will. When "Mr. Wizard," one of the few good educational children's programs, was dropped for awhile, I got a deluge of letters from kids which proved not only how many children looked at it but how deeply they loved it. The letters were a revelation.

The big point in children's programming is not what the broadcaster puts on the air, but what he doesn't. Here, I don't think we can look for any help at all from the sponsor. No cereal company is going to pay for intellectual stimulation when his sole interest is salivary stimulation. Good children's programs, like many of the good adult ones, should be treated as a public service, something the broadcaster ought to contribute out of his own pocket to recompense the child for the bang bang.

And let's not have any malarkey that the child won't look. He'll look, all right. It's just the peanut butter manufacturer who won't look. He's the one who's been calling the turn on the children all along.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my loving daughter, Mrs. Julia M. Rankin, who passed away one year ago today, May 19, 1953.
Precious daughter, she has left us,
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
Lonely the house and sad the hours
Since our dear one has gone
But oh, a brighter home than ours
In heaven is now her own.
Sadly missed by her mother
Mrs. M. L. Zollner

Yes, all except our competitors who want hundreds of $$$ more. Every car plainly marked. Would you buy from a Super Market that didn't price their goods? We are not ashamed of our prices. We don't want to get rich. (No chance at these prices)

Minoso Sued For $250,000

Waitress Alleges Breach Of Promise

CHICAGO, May 18 (INS)—Outfielder Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of the Chicago White Sox was sued for $250,000 damages today by Miss Barbara Swader, 22-year-old waitress. She alleges breach of promise and charges he is the father of her one-year-old daughter, Lynette.

Minoso could not be reached for comment.

The suit, filed in Circuit Court by Attorney Sarah Rogers, asserts that Minoso promised on July 29, 1952, to marry Miss Swader. The bill further charges that last May 3 Minoso told Miss Swader he could not keep his promise because he had a girl friend in Cuba, his home.

Miss Swader also charges that Minoso paid her hospital and doctor bills in connection with the birth of the baby and gave her $110 a month for three months.

New York Giants Buy Hoot Evers

NEW YORK, May 18 (INS)—The New York Giants today purchased veteran outfielder Hoot Evers from the Boston Red Sox.

The Giants, seeking outfield and pinch-hitting assistance, admitted they paid "more than the waiver price" of $10,000 for the 33-year-old flychaser.

To make room for Evers, the Giants optioned infielder Ronnie Samford to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

Evers, who is in his tenth major league season, broke in with the Detroit Tigers in 1946. He was traded to the Red Sox in mid 1952. Evers has a lifetime batting average of .284.

"I didn't take a firm grip or try to swing hard," the Brooklyn catcher said. "But there was no pain. It just felt a little numb. I'll give it a little more each day."

Buchholtz Files As Candidate For Council

William H. Buchholtz, 713 Fayette Street, a former city commissioner, announced yesterday he will be a candidate for City Council in the June 1 primary.

For Buchholtz it will be his fourth venture into city politics. He served as finance commissioner for two terms, 1948-1952, but was defeated in the 1952 general election by 519 votes when the ran for mayor.

Formerly manager of National Discount Corporation, Buchholtz said he declined a transfer with the firm when it discontinued an office here in order to stay in his hometown. Since that time he has become owner of a gas appliance business, Tri-State Bottled Gas Company, at 144 North Mechanic Street.

Buchholtz said his experience as a city official has given him a general knowledge of the operation and inner workings of all departments of municipal government, and that during his two terms he streamlined the Finance Department, installed new and modern filing systems, better control over accounts were established and the office itself was the first to be modernized and refurnished in many years.

Buchholtz said he is the instigator of the industrial promotion fund and was instrumental in having the Industrial Promotion Commission supported by the city. He said he still favors cooperation with industrial promotion groups and added that it appears his hopes will be realized as there has been indication the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company may locate here. No effort should be spared to attract not only Pittsburgh Plate, but other industries as well, Buchholtz added.

"In order to help develop a program in respect to sewage disposal and probable additions to water facilities, I feel my four years as a councilman can help bring these things into reality. I have faith in the future of Cumberland and many things can be done without too much cost to the taxpayer to make this a better place in which to live.

"I am 100 per cent behind the flood control program and am convinced the C&O canal parkway project should be the No. 1 interest. This project means more to Cumberland than many of us realize at the moment," Buchholtz continued.

Buchholtz stated he has always been an advocate of recreation and served as the first president of the City Playground Association which was instrumental in getting the present recreation program started.

"I am in favor," he said, "of some kind of sick, accident and health fund for city employes to give them more security as many are in hazardous occupations."

Buchholtz added: "There has been a lot of debate concerning construction of an overhead bridge here. I think that bridge will serve no useful purpose and only tend to increase the burden on taxpayers.

"I am especially opposed to the bridge in view of many other and more important problems pressing at present including central parking areas and better traffic facilities in the downtown area.

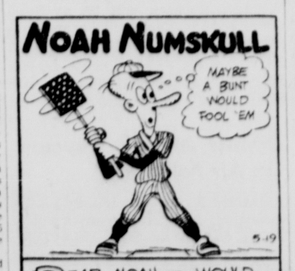

"I am also wholeheartedly in favor of a better roads program for U. S. Route 40 and 220, which, I believe will be helpful not only to Cumberland but nearby areas as well."

Lastly, the commissioner candidate said: "I believe as a sincere citizen of Cumberland that the city has a great future, and if we all work together in harmony can solve the problems facing us."

Woodling, Crosetti Are Fined $25 Each

CHICAGO, May 18 (INS) — New York Yankee Outfielder Gene Woodling and Coach Frank Crosetti disclosed today that they have each been ordered by the American League office to pay $25 fines for run-ins with umpires.

Woodling was assessed for raising an over-vehement point of order with Umpire Ed Runge at Cleveland on May 11, and Crosetti drew his fine for his disagreement with Umpire Hank Soar at Baltimore last Sunday.

Stock Market Makes Little Headway But Going Rough

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The Stock Market made a little progress today, but the going was rough.

Steels and aircrafts were the mainstay of the market throughout most of the session, but they finally faded away to minor gains and losses. Railroads did rather well until the home stretch and then fell away to the losing side of the market on average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added 10 cents at a new high for the year of $124.30. It was up 20 cents yesterday. The average now stands at the highest level of the last 24 years, a record level that has been touched a number of times in the past few weeks.

The industrial component gained 20 cents at a new high of $169.40, utilities were up 10 cents at a new high of $60.00, while the railroads declined 10 cents.

The market was the second broadest of the year with 1,226 individual issues traded. There were 534 issues advancing and 398 declining with 124 new highs and 9 new lows for the year reached. Volume expanded to 2,250,000 shares.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my loving daughter, Mrs. Julia M. Rankin, who passed away one year ago today, May 19, 1953.
Precious daughter, she has left us,
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
Lonely the house and sad the hours
Since our dear one has gone
But oh, a brighter home than ours
In heaven is now her own.
Sadly missed by her mother
Mrs. M. L. Zollner

Murder Charge Placed Against Mrs. Rephann

Woman Confined In State Hospital

An indictment charging Mrs. Shirley Alice Rephann, 23-year-old Bowman's Addition woman, with the murder of her four-month-old daughter was placed on the open docket yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Rephann's trial has been set for 9:15 a. m. Friday, May 28.

Arrested In February

The Bowman's Addition woman had been in custody ever since February 11. When William L. Wilson, who with Edward J. Ryan is serving as Mrs. Rephann's attorney, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus February 20, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered her committed to Spring Grove State Hospital at Catonsville and she has been there ever since.

At that time Wilson said that because of her mental condition she could not stand a trial then.

Psychiatrist Summoned

Four witnesses are to be summoned to be in Court May 28. They are State Police Cpl. William F. Baker, Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner; Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who performed an autopsy after the child's death, and Dr. Manfred Guttmacher, court psychiatrist in Baltimore who examined the woman.

Ryan indicated last night that the hearing May 28 will be little more than a formality to clear the record. The defense attorneys expect to move that Mrs. Rephann is not guilty by reason of insanity and should be recommitted.

Mrs. Rephann was indicted April 7 but the true bill was not placed on the open docket until yesterday.

Cub Pack Receives Charter

Thompson Gets $3,103 Verdict In Damage Suit

A $3,103.55 verdict for B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, was returned by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon which heard three damage suits wrapped into a single case for trial.

The suits grew out of a two-car collision on Route 40 at Little Savage River in Garrett County last June 28.

Thompson was driving west on the National Pike when the crash occurred during a Sunday afternoon rain. The other motorist, Howard Catley of Shaker Heights, Ohio, was driving east and reportedly skidded on the wet surface at the bridge.

The Elder Street man had sued Catley and William Gann of Mentor, Ohio, for $10,000. Gann was the owner of the automobile Catley was driving. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered a directed verdict in the case in favor of Gann, who was not present when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Mary I. Catley, wife of the Ohio man, in turn sued Thompson for $25,000 for her injuries in the June accident. She still walks with the aid of crutches. Her husband sued Thompson for $10,000.

The jury, on which James W. Morris served as foreman, found in favor of Thompson in those two suits by ruling that he was not guilty of contributory negligence. The jury decided, on the other hand, that Catley was guilty of contributory negligence.

In determining the amount of the verdict the jury took into consideration his damages by reason of personal injuries, as a result of hospital and medical expenses, as a result of damages to his automobile and loss of earnings.

Five attorneys figured in the cross-suits. Thompson was represented by Edward J. Ryan, W. Earle Cobey and Leslie J. Clark. The Ohioans were represented by William H. Geppert and William J. Gunter.

City Bonds Will Be Delivered Soon

Three bond issues sold recently have been delivered to the City of Cumberland and will be turned over to their purchaser soon.

The bonds include a $350,000 Urban Development issue, for the Frederick Street paving job and related traffic projects; a $150,000 Recreation issue and $150,000 of Water Bonds.

Mayor Roy W. Eves has signed the recreation bonds and is expected to complete other issues soon. The bonds will be turned over to the Chase National Bank, New York, for the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, of Winston Salem, N. C., which purchased all three issues.

Permit Is Referred To Zoning Board

An occupancy permit sought Monday by William E. Smith, 514 Warren Street, has been referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The application to use Lot 74 on Frederick Street as the site for a 50 by 28 foot brick dwelling was referred by the Building Engineer for lack of sufficient side yards.

Girl Scouts Plan Activities For Chest 'Thank You' Day

A program of outdoor activities demonstrations and exhibits has been arranged by the Girl Scouts of Cumberland for their part in the Cumberland Community Chest's "Thank You Day," which will be observed Friday.

If weather permits, the outdoor demonstration at the Girl Scout House, 72 Greene Street, will be conducted from 4 to 5:30 p. m. Friday by intermediate girls from Troop 13 of which Mrs. Robert K. Poling is leader. They will cook a meal on the outdoor fire place and perform other troop activities, according to Miss Oliver M. Hurlburt, Girl Scout executive director.

The "Thank You Day" is being arranged to give the many contributors to the Cumberland Community Chest an opportunity to see how their money is spent. Six different agencies are planning "open house" Friday.

An evening program will be conducted in the Girl Scout House from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Members of Troop 1, Ridgeley, Miss Fay Conley leader, and Troop 19, Gephart School, Mrs. Betty Chaney leader, and Mrs. A. J. Cioni, assistant leader, will compete in a baseball quiz game.

Films from the Girl Scout camps conducted last summer will be shown and members of other troops will display examples of their handicraft. During the afternoon hours members of Troop 22, Mrs. Ray C. Weimer leader, will act as hostesses for the guests. During the evening the hostesses will come from Troop 18, Mrs. Bernard G. Renz leader.

In another "Thank You Day" activity, the Keating Memorial Day Nursery at 212 Baltimore Avenue will welcome visitors during an "open house" from 9 a. m. until noon Friday.

No special program is planned at the nursery because it is believed the unpredictable antics of the children will provide plenty of amusement and enlightenment. The youngsters will be observed at play indoors and outdoors and participating in a story hour.

Porter To Face Grand Jury On Escape Charge

A Corriganville man picked up by Maryland State Police Monday night will be charged with escape and held for action of the October grand jury, the State's Attorney's Office reported yesterday.

The man, identified as Bobbie Porter, walked away from the LaVale barracks April 23 while working there as a "trusty" during a 90-day term in the County Jail.

Porter was recaptured Monday night by Trooper C. H. DeWitt at Corriganville. He faces an additional charge of driving without a license.

Early in January, Porter received a six-month suspended sentence to the House of Correction on a charge of assaulting his wife.

Early in April, a similar charge was preferred and he was sentenced to 90 days in County Jail.

Several weeks later, he was given "trusty" status and was sent to the barracks and assigned to mowing the grass. He worked at the task a short time and then walked off.

Officials said the man had been spending the past few weeks hiding in West Virginia.

The Weather

The weatherman gave another one of those cool days yesterday as the mercury reached an official high of 67 degrees at Constitution Park. The forecast for today is partly cloudy and cool. The low temperature yesterday was 44 and at 9:45 p. m. it registered 54 degrees. Humidity was 69 per cent at 6 o'clock.

Brotemarkle Bids Low On Mt. Savage School Road Job

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP) — The S. T. Brotemarkle Co. of Cumberland submitted the apparent low bid of $260,694 today for a major overhaul of Mt. Savage School road in Allegany County.

The Cumberland Contracting Co. was the only other bidder at $278,693.

The project will run for about a mile and most of it will provide a completely new location for the route. It starts at the intersection of Maryland 36 with the Mt. Savage-Dutch Hollow road in Mt. Savage and runs northwest to the school.

C. H. Lawson of Williamsburg, Va., was apparently the low bidder at $117,619 and $136,763 on two projects near the intersection of Mayhew Road and Suitland Parkway in the Prince Georges County suburbs of Washington.

The work is on Mayhew Road.

The Contee Sand and Gravel Co. of Laurel was the apparent low bidder at $127,971 on the resurfacing of U.S. 1, Washington-Baltimore Boulevard, on a five-mile stretch from Elkridge to Waterloo in Howard County.

Kenneth Malcolm Renamed Head Of School Board

Kenneth R. Malcolm, Westernport banker, yesterday was named to a fourth one-year term as president of the Allegany County Board of Education.

Traditionally, the school reorganizes at its May meeting each year.

Malcolm has been president of the board ever since he was first appointed to the board by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in 1951.

Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg was named vice president, succeeding Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, who has served the past year. Mrs. Buckley, whose term is expiring, has been named to a new five-year term by Governor McKeldin.

Reappointed by the board yesterday were Z. M. Hewitt, auditor, and William J. Gunter, attorney.

The board yesterday tentatively approved an agreement with the LaVale Sanitary Commission to get an eight-inch water line extended from National Highway to Parkside Boulevard to serve the new LaVale school. Final approval will await an opinion by the board's attorney.

Assignments for the awarding of diplomas next month also were made yesterday. Malcolm will be at Bruce High in Westernport June 3 and at Allegany High June 4. Edward J. Ryan will be at Mt. Savage June 3. W. Earle Cobey will be at Carver June 3 and at Valley June 4. Mrs. Buckley will be at Beall June 4. Mrs. Cook will be at Flintstone June 5 and at Cresaptown Junior High June 10. No assignment has yet been made for Oldtown June 4.

The annual encampment of the Third District of the Department of Maryland, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held at Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, Union Street, this weekend.

Commander Verner J. Winner of the local post said open house will prevail Friday, Saturday and Sunday, during the three days of the convention.

District Commander Thomas Preston, a member of John R. Fairgrieve Post of Frostburg will preside at all sessions. Registration will be held Friday, committees will meet and caucuses will be held Saturday. Sunday at 2 p. m. the final business will be concluded.

At Sunday afternoon's session, officers of the district will be elected and plans will be made for the district's delegation to attend the State encampment at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore, June 25, 26 and 27.

At least one contest looms in the district election. George Speis, immediate past commander of Henry Hart Post, has indicated he will be a candidate for district commander to succeed Preston. Speis is now senior vice commander of the Third District. Commander Winner said his post had been informed that Speis will be challenged in a run-off election by a delegate from the McCoole post.

Friday night the delegates will be guests of the Queen City Brewery at its pump room, after which the District Cooties, the fun-making organization of the VFW, will hold a "scratch" at the post home.

On Saturday night a dance is planned at the post home from 9 p. m. until midnight.

The Third District includes VFW posts at Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, McCoole, Oldtown and Friendsville.

Voters Sign Up In South End

The registration of new voters at the Russler-Chadwick Company, 432 Virginia Avenue, is only for the state and county election June 28 and not for the city election earlier in the month.

Registrars said that about five persons who came to the South End store yesterday thought they could register for the city election. The deadline for city registration was May 11.

In two days at the Russler-Chadwick store registrars have signed up 30 prospective new voters, 13 Democrats, 16 Republicans and one who declined political affiliation. The substitute registrars, Mrs. Zena J. Davis and John R. Kelly, will sit at the Virginia Avenue store again today and tomorrow from 1 until 4 p. m. and again from 6 until 9 p. m.

Only seven registered yesterday at the Board of Election Supervisors' office in the Court House basement. Four were Democrats and three Republicans.

Optimists Will Meet

Ellis Batdorf will be in charge of the program at tonight's meeting of the Optimist Club of Cumberland at 6:15 at Central YMCA.

The last official board meeting of the present officers will be held Tuesday, June 1, at 8 p. m. at the home of Charles Warnick, Weber Street.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold a prenatal clinic today from 9 a. m. to noon and a hearing clinic from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Both are to be held in City Hall.

Two CD Runs Answered By Firemen

B&O Shops, Midland Are Target Areas

Firemen from a local station and seven area volunteer companies last night responded to two Civil Defense runs in Cumberland and Midland.

Alvey Poole, assistant chief at Central Station and liaison officer for the Fire Branch of the Allegany County CD setup, said the two raids came off at 7 p. m.

Cumberland's target was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Shops off Virginia Avenue. Arriving at the scene minutes after the alarm was sounded were firemen of a local station, and members of District 16, Ridgeley and Wiley Ford volunteer companies.

Joseph Wenrich, of the Cresaptown Fire Department, and official observer for the Fire Branch, took in the local operation which was termed as successful.

Midland was the target of operations in the Georges Creek section of the county. Four companies went to that community and dispersed to various sections.

Taking part in that phase under direction of Dave Powell, assistant chief at Frosburg, were volunteers from Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Clarysville and Borden Shaft companies.

Firemen in that section responded within a short while. Last night's run was the first of the current season, Poole pointed out, and similar runs to other industrial plants and county areas will be staged at later dates.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock a meeting of the Fire Branch will be held at City Hall auditorium. Poole said that Civil Defense will be discussed and various matters which may arise will be ironed out for smoother operations in the future.

All volunteer companies are asked to send representatives to the Friday meeting.

Warrants Issued In Movie Case

Warrants charging violations of a state movie censorship law have been issued by the State's Attorney's Office for three Washington men representing the owner and distributors of a film shown here last year.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, said the warrants were forwarded to Washington after the men failed to appear for a hearing scheduled Monday in Trial Magistrates Court.

He added extradition proceedings may be necessary if the men do not agree to come here for a hearing.

The men, John Rose, trader, and R. E. Binns and J. Obert, distributors of copy of a film which had not been submitted to the Maryland State Board of Censors for approval and licensing.

Waitress Alleges Breach Of Promise

CHICAGO, May 18 (INS)—Outfielder Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of the Chicago White Sox was sued for $250,000 damages today by Miss Barbara Swader, 22-year-old waitress. She alleges breach of promise and charges he is the father of her one-year-old daughter, Lynette.

Minoso could not be reached for comment.

The suit, filed in Circuit Court by Attorney Sarah Rogers, asserts that Minoso promised on July 29, 1952, to marry Miss Swader. The bill further charges that last May 3 Minoso told Miss Swader he could not keep his promise because he had a girl friend in Cuba, his home.

Miss Swader also charges that Minoso paid her hospital and doctor bills in connection with the birth of the baby and gave her $110 a month for three months.

Buchholtz Files As Candidate For Council

William H. Buchholtz, 713 Fayette Street, a former city commissioner, announced yesterday he will be a candidate for City Council in the June 1 primary.

For Buchholtz it will be his fourth venture into city politics. He served as finance commissioner for two terms, 1948-1952, but was defeated in the 1952 general election by 519 votes when the ran for mayor.

Formerly manager of National Discount Corporation, Buchholtz said he declined a transfer with the firm when it discontinued an office here in order to stay in his hometown. Since that time he has become owner of a gas appliance business, Tri-State Bottled Gas Company, at 144 North Mechanic Street.

Buchholtz said his experience as a city official has given him a general knowledge of the operation and inner workings of all departments of municipal government, and that during his two terms he streamlined the Finance Department, installed new and modern filing systems, better control over accounts were established and the office itself was the first to be modernized and refurnished in many years.

Buchholtz said he is the instigator of the industrial promotion fund and was instrumental in having the Industrial Promotion Commission supported by the city. He said he still favors cooperation with industrial promotion groups and added that it appears his hopes will be realized as there has been indication the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company may locate here. No effort should be spared to attract not only Pittsburgh Plate, but other industries as well, Buchholtz added.

"In order to help develop a program in respect to sewage disposal and probable additions to water facilities, I feel my four years as a councilman can help bring these things into reality. I have faith in the future of Cumberland and many things can be done without too much cost to the taxpayer to make this a better place in which to live.

"I believe relief from high taxation can be brought about by a study of the operation of all departments.

"I am 100 per cent behind the flood control program and am convinced the C&O canal parkway project should be the No. 1 interest. This project means more to Cumberland than many of us realize at the moment," Buchholtz continued.

Buchholtz stated he has always been an advocate of recreation and served as the first president of the City Playground Association which was instrumental in getting the present recreation program started.

"I am in favor," he said, "of some kind of sick, accident and health fund for city employes to give them more security as many are in hazardous occupations."

Buchholtz added: "There has been a lot of debate concerning construction of an overhead bridge here. I think that bridge will serve no useful purpose and only tend to increase the burden on taxpayers.

"I am especially opposed to the bridge in view of many other and more important problems pressing at present including central parking areas and better traffic facilities in the downtown area.

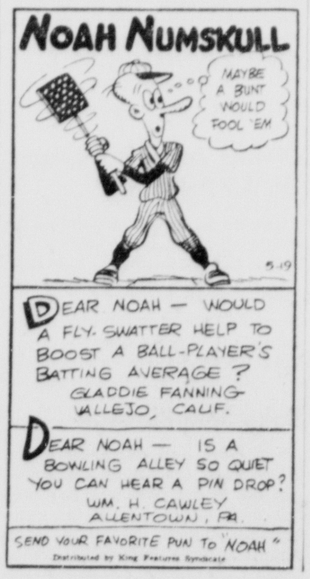

"I am also wholeheartedly in favor of a better roads program for U. S. Route 40 and 220, which, I believe will be helpful not only to Cumberland but nearby areas as well."

Lastly, the commissioner candidate said: "I believe as a sincere citizen of Cumberland that the city has a great future, and if we all work together in harmony can solve the problems facing us."

Stock Market Makes Little Headway But Going Rough

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — The Stock Market made a little progress today, but the going was rough.

Steels and aircrafts were the mainstay of the market throughout most of the session, but they finally faded away to minor gains and losses. Railroads did rather well until the home stretch and then fell away to the losing side of the market on average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added 10 cents at a new high for the year of $124.30. It was up 20 cents yesterday. The average now stands at the highest level of the last 24 years, a record level that has been touched a number of times in the past few weeks.

The industrial component gained 20 cents at a new high of $169.40, utilities were up 10 cents at a new high of $60.00, while the railroads declined 10 cents.

The market was the second broadest of the year with 1,226 individual issues traded. There were 534 issues advancing and 398 declining with 124 new highs and 9 new lows for the year reached. Volume expanded to 2,250,000 shares.

Murder Charge Placed Against Mrs. Rephann

Woman Confined In State Hospital

An indictment charging Mrs. Shirley Alice Rephann, 23-year-old Bowman's Addition woman, with the murder of her four-month-old daughter was placed on the open docket yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The child, Karen Gail Rephann, was found drowned in a partially filled bathtub at her home on the morning of February 11.

Mrs. Rephann's trial has been set for 9:15 a. m. Friday, May 28.

Arrested In February

The Bowman's Addition woman had been in custody ever since February 11. When William L. Wilson, who with Edward J. Ryan is serving as Mrs. Rephann's attorney, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus February 20, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered her committed to Spring Grove State Hospital at Catonsville and she has been there ever since.

At that time Wilson said that because of her mental condition she could not stand a trial then.

Psychiatrist Summoned

Four witnesses are to be summoned to be in Court May 28. They are State Police Cpl. William F. Baker, Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner; Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who performed an autopsy after the child's death, and Dr. Manfred Guttmacher, court psychiatrist in Baltimore who examined the woman.

Ryan indicated last night that the hearing May 28 will be little more than a formality to clear the record. The defense attorneys expect to move that Mrs. Rephann is not guilty by reason of insanity and should be recommitted.

Mrs. Rephann was indicted April 7 but the true bill was not placed on the open docket until yesterday.

Cub Pack Receives Charter

Mrs. Jesse Baker, president of Columbia Street Parent-Teachers Association, receives the charter of Cub Pack 1, sponsored by the PTA, from Miles G. Bell, members of the district organization and extension committee, Walter Maxey, Cubmaster of the pack, and Wallace Keller, neighborhood commissioner. The annual re-presentation ceremony was held at the school.

Two CD Runs Answered By Firemen

B&O Shops, Midland Are Target Areas

Firemen from a looal station and seven area volunteer companies last night responded to two Civil Defense runs in Cumberland and Midland.

Alvey Poole, assistant chief at Central Station and liaison officer for the Fire Branch of the Allegany County CD setup, said the two raids came off at 7 p. m.

Cumberland's target was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Shops off Virginia Avenue. Arriving at the scene minutes after the alarm was sounded were firemen of a local station, and members of District 16, Ridgeley and Wiley Ford volunteer companies.

Joseph Wenrich, of the Cresaptown Fire Department, and official observer for the Fire Branch, took in the local operation which was termed as successful.

Midland was the target of operations in the Georges Creek section of the county. Four companies went to that community and dispersed to various sections.

Taking part in that phase under direction of Dave Powell, assistant chief at Frosburg, were volunteers from Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Clarysville and Borden Shaft companies.

Firemen in that section responded within a short while. Last night's run was the first of the current season, Poole pointed out, and similar runs to other industrial plants and county areas will be staged at later dates.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock a meeting of the Fire Branch will be held at City Hall auditorium. Poole said that Civil Defense will be discussed and various matters which may arise will be ironed out for smoother operations in the future.

All volunteer companies are asked to send representatives to the Friday meeting.

Thompson Gets $3,103 Verdict In Damage Suit

A $3,103.55 verdict for B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, was returned by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon which heard three damage suits wrapped into a single case for trial.

The suits grew out of a two-car collision on Route 40 at Little Savage River in Garrett County last June 28.

Thompson was driving west on the National Pike when the crash occurred during a Sunday afternoon rain. The other motorist, Howard Catley of Shaker Heights, Ohio, was driving east and reportedly skidded on the wet surface at the bridge.

The Elder Street man had sued Catley and William Gann of Mentor, Ohio, for $10,000. Gann was the owner of the automobile Catley was driving. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered a directed verdict in the case in favor of Gann, who was not present when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Mary I. Catley, wife of the Ohio man, in turn sued Thompson for $25,000 for her injuries in the June accident. She still walks with the aid of crutches. Her husband sued Thompson for $10,000.

The jury, on which James W. Morris served as foreman, found in favor of Thompson in those two suits by ruling that he was not guilty of contributory negligence. The jury decided, on the other hand, that Catley was guilty of contributory negligence.

In determining the amount of the verdict the jury took into consideration his damages by reason of personal injuries, as a result of hospital and medical expenses, as a result of damages to his automobile and loss of earnings.

Five attorneys figured in the cross-suits. Thompson was represented by Edward J. Ryan, W. Earle Cobey and Leslie J. Clark. The Ohioans were represented by William H. Geppert and William J. Gunter.
